

WHIZ AND WHIR IN HIGH COURT CHAMBER

Electrical Apparatus Shows Miniature Mining Plant in Operation

Washington, Nov. 1.—Dramas, motors and other electrical apparatus whizzed today in the chamber at the capitol where the miniature mining plant in full operation. The demonstration, unique in the court history, was held to give the justices an actual view of a mining plant in operation, one used in a case recently reargued.

Heavy machinery was shifted to the chamber and the concentrating ores by the known as oil "no" worked out. Mining engineers had charge of the demonstration. The miniature plant was shown. Electrical power to operate the machinery, which included rough kind of tables, search light and numerous tin of the capitol's plant. who lost their lives were drowned as the life boats were launched.

According to his information a submarine which emerged after the second torpedo was fired, was seen plainly by Americans on the Marina, but did not communicate with the steamship or offer assistance to the small boats which were in deadly peril from the rough seas.

The names of George Sedbury and House have not been given before as among the Americans who lost their lives. Last night's report from London said six Americans had been drowned, two men named Brown, two named Thomas, one named Middleton and one Robertson.

AMERICANS GIVE DETAILS.

Survivors Tell of Experiences When Marina Was Torpedoed.

Cork, Nov. 1.—Fifteen Americans who reached Cork Tuesday night with the other members of the crew of the Marina after the steamer had been sunk by a submarine are today under the care of the American consul. "I saw two torpedoes," said Robert Preston, one of the crew, "while I was getting into the boat of Mr. Smith (the only surviving officer). The second explosion came after we were clear of the ship. The first torpedo had given the vessel a tremendous list. The second 'go' and it shook it from stem to stern and broke it up so that it sank immediately.

"I saw three of the crew running up the stern as the vessel gave its last tumble. Capt. Browne was the coolest man on board. During the launching of the boats he saw that every man visible was in the boat, then jumped for a boat himself but missed it in the rough sea and was drowned before our eyes.

Questioned further in regard to the presence of two submarines Preston said: "There were two plainly visible from the bridge. The first one attacked us on the starboard while the other lay off some distance to port doing observation duty.

"The ship was struck squarely in the bunkers," said Robert Hay, a member of the engine room staff. "The bunkers fell in and the engines were dismantled. Two men were killed in the stokehole and several others were scalded.

"Three boats got away; a fourth was smashed. Orders were given to see particularly that all Americans among passengers or crew were saved. The wireless station tried to summon aid, but his gear was dismantled by the first torpedo.

F. F. Smith, the only one of the Marina's officers now alive, said: "The explosion of the first torpedo threw me from a settee. I rushed up to where the boats already were being launched. We got 26 men into my boat. There were seven in the second boat.

"When we pulled away I saw Second Mate Robertson crushed to death by the explosion of the ship and the listing ship. We saw several bodies in the water. After leaving the ship we had a terrible experience. The sea was rough and the weather extremely bitter. Every man, although well-nigh perishing with cold, shock and exhaustion, took turns at the oars until 8:30 o'clock the next morning when we were picked up."

ATTEMPTED TO ESCAPE.

But London Says Rowanmore Was Attacked After Stopping.

London, Tuesday, Oct. 31 (delayed).—The British steamer Rowanmore, from Baltimore for Liverpool, sunk last week by a submarine, attempted to escape from the attacking undersea boat, but the latter continued to shell the ship after she stopped, according to affidavits from members of the crew procured by the American consul at Liverpool. The principal details of the sinking extracted from a number of affidavits are as follows: On Oct. 26 at 8:45 a. m. the steamer was 130 miles from Fastnet when shells began to burst about her. A moment later the lookout saw the submarine's helm put hard astern, bringing the attacking craft directly astern. Early in the chase two shells struck the bridge.

The pursuit continued until 9:30 o'clock, five or six shells in the meantime striking the steamer. The captain of the Rowanmore stopped his engine and hoisted signals that he intended to abandon the ship, but the submarine continued to shell her as the boats were being lowered and when they were in the water the occupants were drenched by spray from falling shells. The submarine then headed for the lifeboats, while one of its officers shouted, "Get out of our way or we'll run you down," but swerved when near the boats, passed them and then turned back, the commander calling out: "I am sorry for you, but you are very foolish. You will probably all drown."

The captain of the Rowanmore was ordered on board the submarine, but declined to obey, although the command was thrice given, until a revolver was pointed at his head. After the captain had been taken on board, the submarine fired a torpedo at the Rowanmore, which sank. The submarine then submerged and was not seen again. About three hours later the crew was picked up.

Two white Americans were on board. They were George Murphy, of Brooklyn, and Albert Sessler, of Boston. Five Filipinos on board gave Liverpool addresses. The affidavits of Murphy and Sessler agree in stating that they saw no shells fired at the lifeboats after they were clear of the ship. The attack occurred at a time when the sea was very rough. In the documentary evidence the belief finds expression that the shelling of the ship after she had stopped was due to resentment at the failure to abandon her.

With Paul Hiken, an official of the Eastern Forwarding company, Captain Koenig motored to the customs house at noon and officially entered the arrival of his craft with James L. McGovern, collector of customs. A crowd near the customs house gave the captain a rousing cheer, which he acknowledged by dodging his hat. Many persons grasped his hand with congratulatory words. Later, with Mr. McGovern, he posed for photographers. After his visit to the customs house he returned to the Wall-had for dinner. Within a few days he expected the Deutschland to arrive.

cially enter her cargo. The value of the cargo is said to be $2,000,000.

When She Entered Harbor.

The German submarine entered the lower harbor shortly after midnight, coming in by the race at the entrance to Long Island sound. For several weeks the Eastern Forwarding company, agents for her owners, had tug each night of Montauk point, ready to meet the Bremen, but the tug was withdrawn some time ago. It was evident that the forwarding company had some warning of the Deutschland's arrival, however, for a tug was engaged and Captain F. Hinch, of the company, accompanied by the health officer, steamed out to meet the submarine. The North German Lloyd steamer, Willehad, which had been at her dock here for a number of weeks awaiting the arrival of a German submarine freighter, let her searchlight play on the water, marking the path by which the Deutschland traveled to her wharf.

Boat Was Delayed.

Captain Koenig said that he had expected to leave Bremen on Oct. 1st, but that his boat was injured in a collision and forced to put back for repairs, which delayed her sailing for ten days. The captain and crew of twenty-five men were in excellent health and high spirits over the success of their second venture. The Deutschland carried clearance papers for "Baltimore or any Atlantic port." The boat was no sooner moored than she was screened from sight by a pontoon carrying a high fence. Her crew went on board the Willehad, where quarters were awaiting them.

A score of negro stevedores were sent aboard the Willehad in readiness to begin unloading the cargo of the submarine at daylight or as soon as James McGovern, of Bridgeport, collector of customs for the Connecticut district, had given the necessary permission.

Captain Hinch said that later in the day Captain Koenig probably would give out a statement regarding his trip across the Atlantic.

Captain Koenig said that except for unusually rough weather the trip across had been uneventful. The Deutschland's cargo is said to consist mainly of chemicals and medicines.

Arrival a Surprise.

While New London has been expecting the arrival of a German submarine for some months, the Deutschland's appearance was a surprise except to officials of the Eastern Forwarding company, the agents here of the submarine.

Following rumors many days old, oft repeated, the Deutschland made its first appearance in American waters at 1:45 in the morning of July 9, when, etched by the vivid flashes of an electrical storm, the strange looking craft was sighted by a pilot boat as she slipped into Chesapeake bay, after running the gauntlet of cruisers standing guard off the Virginia Capes. Her voyage of approximately 4,100 miles, made without a stop at any port, established a record for craft of the kind. The Deutschland was soon picked up by the tug Timmons which had been at the Capes several days awaiting her arrival and conveyed up the bay to Baltimore, where she dropped anchor that night. On the first trip she brought a cargo of dyestuffs, the value of which was estimated at from $500,000 to $1,000,000.

The arrival of the Deutschland at Baltimore created a new diplomatic problem. Was the ship, owing to its submarine characteristics, to be classed as a warship or as a peaceful merchantman? The American government at once sent naval experts to Baltimore to investigate. Capt. Koenig afforded the government officials every facility and they made a thorough inspection of the craft. The investigation resulted in the verdict that the Deutschland was a peaceful and unarmed merchant ship, incapable of conversion for warlike purposes without extensive structural changes.

After remaining in the United States territorial waters about three weeks, the Deutschland, heavily laden with a cargo of rubber and nickel, drew away from her pier August 1 and under her own power sailed from Baltimore on her homeward journey. American warships maneuvered outside the Virginia Capes to guard against any possible violation of American neutrality. The Capes were reached the following night with only the faithful tug Timmons and a newspaper boat in the vicinity. The vessel arrived at the mouth of the Weser river on the afternoon of August 23. There was great rejoicing through out Germany and Capt. Koenig was ordered to Berlin to make a personal report of his trip to the emperor. While no definite announcement of the Deutschland's leaving Bremen on a second trip was made, reports persisted during the

PROSECUTION

TO ASK DEATH

she came back to live with him again, he tells.

Did Not Return This Time.

Finally she went away for good. She told him she was through with him and took the unfinished wedding gown with her, First says. Later he saw her wearing the garment, he tells. Incident after incident of her unfaithfulness were brought to his attention. He came to Fort Wayne and saw the woman he loved madly in company with other men. For a month he has brooded.

Monday morning he went to Rosanoke. He returned home at noon. During the afternoon he mended stalls in his horse barn. "When the children came home from school," he quit work, he says. While he had been hammering away at the mending in the barn he had been worrying. When he quit his work he had settled his mind on one thing, "If Mrs. Keller would not stay with him, she should not belong to anybody."

First went to the house and took down his shot gun from a row of nails in a closet. He put the gun in a large grain sack. Then he walked down the road a mile to Miller's station, a cross roads interurban stop. He boarded a car for Fort Wayne.

Shades of darkness settled down about the farmer as he made his way from the interurban station to the home of Edward and Homer Pierson, where Mrs. Keller had been staying for several weeks. He carried the shot gun in the big sack. When near the house First stopped and removing the weapon from its container, he slipped up to the little white dwelling. Through a side window he watched Mrs. Keller and her small son, Ernest, and Homer Pierson, 19, at supper.

Waited Only a Minute.

First had but a minute to wait. Mrs. Keller arose from the table. She took a dish pan from the little kitchen table and opened the back door. Out upon the small back porch she walked and emptied the dish pan.

First stepped to the corner of the house. Mrs. Keller turned about towards the door again and First leveled his weapon. There was the sharp report. The dish pan clattered to the porch. Mrs. Keller, dying staggered to the doorway to fall in the arms of Homer Pierson.

First walked quietly away. He had done what he came to town to carry out. He did not flee as detectives had been led to believe at the beginning. He walked to Taylor street and then down the L. E. & W. tracks towards the Rolling mills.

He threw away the shot gun because he did not want it to be found at his home, he said. He boarded an interurban car at the Rolling mills at 8:15. He was home in bed at nine o'clock.

Junk Signs Affidavit.

Detective Sergeant Junk, who was called on the case, went for First at one o'clock Tuesday morning. He brought the man to the station. First could not tell who he had seen from four o'clock until nine o'clock. Junk reported to Chief Lenz that First was probably the murderer. It was Junk who signed the affidavit which charges First with first degree murder.

First sat in the office at the police station until noon, Tuesday. After he had eaten lunch Lieutenant Grimme asked him, "Have you anything to say before we lock you up?"

"Yes, I killed the woman," First said quietly. "I want you to be easy with me because of the children."

First has six children, one girl and five boys. The oldest boy is sixteen years old. He is in charge of the farm while his father is held in jail charged with the murder. First's former wife has been dead for three years.

Pierson is Released.

Edward Pierson, 30, employed by the Brown Trucking company, with whom Mrs. Keller was staying and who has been held on a charge of the murder was released Tuesday night after First had confessed. Homer, the brother held as a witness under $1,000 bond, was released Wednesday morning.

"It is a relief to me all right, to get out of this," said Edward Pierson, Wednesday. He recalls now, he told Police Chief Lenz, Wednesday, that he met First on Brooklyn avenue as the farmer was coming away from the scene of the murder Monday evening. First had the shot gun concealed under his long coat, Pierson says. His hat was drawn over his eyes. He seemed in no hurry.

The former husband of Mrs. Keller, who deserted the woman and her small son, three years ago, has been located, police say. He is employed in a munitions factory in Piqua, O., it is said.

Mrs. Keller's Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Bessie Keller will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of the mother, Mrs. Anthony Miller, 1313 Polk street. Rev. C. W. Shoemaker will officiate. Interment will be made at Lindenwood.

Whitley County Farmer Caught Under Falling Shed.

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 1.—August Lickey, one of the best-known farmers of Washington township, was caught under a falling bent of a tool and machine shed which was being erected on his farm Monday about noon, and was so badly injured that death resulted Tuesday morning at 6 o'clock.

According to the version of the affair given by Daniel Stallsmith, the carpenter who was putting up the building, Mr. Lickey became confused in some manner and when the bent began to fall he ran in the wrong direction, going right under it instead of away from it. The shed for which they were erecting the frame work was to be 25x30 feet in size. Mr. Stallsmith, Mr. Lickey and his two sons, Irvin and Otto, were raising the first bent. They had it well up and Mr. Stallsmith told the men to hold it till he went to the other end to straighten it up a little. His back was turned on Mr. Lickey at that time, but he heard Irvin say "There she goes."

NEW COMPANY ORGANIZED.

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 1.—Announcement has just been made of the organization of the Ohio Sugar company, with F. H. Hubbard, of this city, as secretary and general manager. The company has a capital of $400,000 and it has purchased the big sugar plant of the Ottawa Sugar company at Ottawa, O. The Ottawa plant has been closed for two seasons and Mr. Hubbard, realizing the opportunities, organized the company to take over the plant and operate it. The organization was completed Oct. 17 at a meeting held at Holland, Mich., and the men back of the new company represent combined personal capital of more than two million dollars, nearly all of them being interested in the Holland-St. Louis company, which now operates sugar plants at Holland and St. Louis, Mich., and in this city.

INSTITUTE AT MARKLE.

Markle, Ind., Nov. 1.—Markle is already making preparations for the farmers' institute, which will be held there Jan. 26 and 27. A corn and poultry show embracing Rock Creek and Union townships of both Huntington and Wells counties will be held in connection with the institute. The members of the executive committee from Huntington county are Roy Strouse and Jacob Vollmar and William Lee, of Union township. All farmers of the above townships are eligible as contestants in the shows. Every farmer is urged by the committee to select corn and show at Markle.

CRUELTY IS ALLEGED.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 1.—Alleging cruel and inhuman treatment Mrs. Ida M. Hill has filed suit in circuit court for a divorce from Levi Hill. The complaint says the couple were married Oct. 26, 1904, and lived together until July 4, 1915. Three children—James L., 15; Levi H., 12, and Edna B., 10—were born to the union. The complaint alleges the defendant has treated the plaintiff in a cruel and inhuman manner, that he failed to provide for the family and that he became intoxicated and abusive. Mrs. Hill asks the custody of the children.

EDITOR'S DAUGHTER DEAD.

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 1.—A heavy toll of sorrow was thrown over the home of Editor Harry S. Loring and wife, the former publisher of the Tribune in South Whitley, when their little daughter, aged 4 years 10 months and 2 days, passed away quietly Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock after an illness of three months from pericarditis and tonsillitis, and the sympathy of the hundreds of residents of Columbia City and South Whitley and vicinity is extended to the grief-stricken family in this sad hour of death.

NO MAINTENANCE EXPENSE FOR HARRISON HILL

One of the details of the plans for Harrison Hill, the new addition located in the angle formed by Calhoun street and Rudisill boulevard, which is worthy of consideration from all promoters of new additions is the provision for five years' maintenance of the property. This provision not only includes clearing of snow from the walks in the winter time, but the cutting of weeds from the lots in the summer, and many prospective purchasers of lots for immediate building have been attracted to Harrison Hill through their appreciation of this feature.

Despite the fact that this feature as well as the scores of others which are unique to this addition, Harrison Hill lots are not sold at prices that could be considered high. Other details concerning this tract may be secured from Hilgemann & Schaefer, North American building.—Advertisement.

PASTORS STOP MASQUE BALL.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 1.—As a result of action taken by the ministers of the city the masked ball planned as a part of the Halloween festivities here was not a success. The ministers in a statement issued earlier in the day declared that dancing "en masque" afforded cover for the innocent and the chaste. The statement says further: "The danger needs only to be stated to be appreciated. With the presence of promiscuous characters who cannot be excluded from so general an occasion we feel sure our people will show discrimination with reference to the round dance en masque. This statement is not to be regarded as a protest against a joyous spirit at this season, but rather as an effort to protect it."

OHIO ELECTRIC AGENT DEAD.

Delphos, Ohio, Nov. 1.—George Cooper, who is well known to many Delphos people, died at his home in Middle Point Saturday. Mr. Cooper was employed for some time as an operator of the sub-station for the Ohio Electric at Middle Point, and was widely known throughout this section. Mr. Cooper was about fifty years old and is survived by his wife and three children. The funeral of Mr. Cooper was held at Middle Point on Monday afternoon and burial in a cemetery at that place. Mr. Cooper was a member of the Ohio Electric Beneficial association and was popular among the employees of the road.

PRINT 19,000 BALLOTS.

Auburn, Ind., Nov. 1.—Nineteen thousand county ballots are being printed for the use of the voters in DeKalb county next Tuesday. The registration records show that there are 9,176 voters in the county and the law requires that twice that many ballots be printed as there are voters. The county ballots will be printed on white paper and the state ballots are on colored stock. When the voter enters the voting booth he will be given two sheets, one having the state ticket and the other the candidates on the county ticket.

PASSES FRAUDULENT CHECK.

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 1.—Lynn Shemmaker, a young man who has spent several years as a resident of Decatur, was arrested by the police at Indianapolis Monday evening and has been brought back to Decatur to answer to a charge of passing a fraudulent check. The check in the sum of $5 was cashed by George Tester, a business man of the city, he at the time supposing it to be good, but when it was taken to the bank for deposit payment was refused as Shemmaker had no funds on deposit to meet it.

NO CHANGE IN EPIDEMIC.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 1.—There was no change today in the epidemic of typhoid fever in and about Bluffton. A number of new cases are being reported and a number of patients who have been under observation for several days are having their maladies finally diagnosed today. In a great many cases the fever is comparatively mild, although there are a few cases which are developing considerable severity. It is probable, health authorities say, that more cases will be reported each day for a week yet.

REFUSES TO PROSECUTE.

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 1.—The pleading guilty of Robert Mann to assault and battery and his fining of $25 resulted in the dismissal of the charge of murder intent which was preferred against him by his brother, John Mann. This will probably end the trouble between the two brothers, as Robert declines to prefer charges against John, who it is alleged assaulted him some time prior with a surveyor's instrument.

FIRE AT LAGRANGE.

Lagrange, Ind., Nov. 1.—As the result of a blaze which had started in the woodshed to the rear of the property owned by Mrs. Del Hoard, the volunteer fire department was called out early yesterday morning. As no one had been living in the property for several months the origin of the fire cannot be explained unless it might have been set on fire by tramps.

How It Helps Coughs and Colds

Buy one bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar now, and quickly stop the coughs and colds of your family.

Early fall brings croup, bronchitis, asthmatic breathing, troublesome night coughs, whooping cough, and tickling, irritable throat.

It aggravates the distressing cough of weak lungs, and the chronic coughs of elderly people.

It gives "cure" to infants and children and provides adeoloids and sore inflamed throats.

Give Foley's Honey and Tar freely. It is soothing and curative, relieves hoarseness and puts a healing coating on the inflamed mucous lining of the throat. It stops coughing easily and quickly and relieves croup before this dreaded thing has a chance to really take the children or scare the parents. The last dose is just as good as the first, and a less amount is needed than of any other cough syrup.

So get that you get only the original FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR, for it is the only genuine, and contains no opiates.

These records are "spirit" photographs, made while you wait, are selling like hot cakes to patrons of the "occult" who believe all they hear and fear more than they see in the darkened studios.

"Frank," a shade who haunts this city, is the first to have had his "voice" preserved on the disk. I was at the seance.

The room was pitch dark. An ordinary phonograph was set in motion, revolving a blank record. The medium, a woman, "went under," and presently "Frank" and the inevitable "Little Sunshine" breezed in.

"Frank" seemed panic stricken. He shied at the phonograph idea, but finally consented to "do the best he could."

Little "Sunshine" kept hitting in, sort of kidding her fellow "spirit" along until the latter got so flustered he couldn't recall the set speech he had decided to make—through the medium.

"He" could only mutter, "So beautiful—too beautiful for words!" the stock reply of all controls to queries concerning the nature of the beyond.

Things got muddled. It was hard for even the "spirit" to manipulate the phonograph in the darkness.

I was awful sorry for poor "Frank." I fairly perspired in sympathy with him, or rather with the medium, for it was a trying ordeal.

During one of the delays "Sunshine," the little mixer, asked me why I hadn't brought my girl along. I told her "my wife wouldn't let me," which so startled the poor young creature that she choked and the medium's tin megaphone fell to the floor with a clatter.

It was a tough night for ghosts. They earned their money all right! But the record was finally completed—launching a new "best seller" for those who claim monopoly on "spirit" confidences.

The picture business is good, too, though it is almost being ruined by buntlers.

You saw anything from two bits to $2 a sitting. The picture invariably shows a group of vague portraits surrounding that of the sitter. In them he usually fancies he sees resemblances to a relative or friend who has "passed out."

But the bunglers are using pictures clipped from magazines to make the double and triple exposures by which the ghostly effects are secured. Some of these "spirits" are not even dead, and will be surprised to learn that they can sit about so spookishly.

Recently John Drew and Sothorn, the actors, appeared as among the shades present at a picture seance—Drew with his mustache carefully barbered.

Several of Broadway's brightest twinklers have given their squabish "presence" to the spirit photo circles. "Parian" modes seem to be all the rage in "the beyond" while jewelry and ur-

DAILY BIBLE READINGS FOR THE HOME

JOHN 10:1-14.

1. Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that entereth not by the door into the sheepfold, but climbeth up some other way, the same is a thief and a robber.
2. But he that entereth in by the door is the shepherd of the sheep.
3. To him the porter openeth; and the sheep hear his voice: and he calleth his own sheep by name, and leadeth them out.
4. And when he putteth forth his own sheep, he goeth before them, and the sheep follow him: for they know his voice.
5. And a stranger will they not follow, but will flee from him; for they know not the voice of strangers.
6. This parable spake Jesus unto them; but they understood not what things they were which he spake unto them.
7. Then said Jesus unto them again, Verily, verily, I say unto you, I am the door of the sheep.
8. All that ever came before me are thieves and robbers: but the sheep did not hear them.
9. I am the door: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall go in and out, and find pasture.
10. The thief cometh not, but for to steal, and to kill, and to destroy: I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly.
11. I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep.
12. But he that is a hireling, and not the shepherd, whose own the sheep are not, seeth the wolf coming, and leaveth the sheep, and fleeth; and the wolf catcheth them, and scattereth the sheep.
13. The hireling fleeth, because he is a hireling, and careth not for the sheep.
14. I am the good shepherd, and know my sheep, and am known of mine.

Who Wants Wilson--and Why.

You ought to have a purpose above partisanship and a reason more convincing than mere party label for casting your ballot this way or that next Tuesday. It is not enough in these important days in American history that the candidate chances to be aligned with the political crowd in which you have been training. He should have met in conscientious performance of duty as he saw it, and duty as it affected you and yours, most nearly your conception of right and wrought real achievement in the common good, or he should present most convincing evidence, without resort to subterfuge or evasion, that he intends to do so. And performance is infinitely better than promise. Let us look for a moment into the question of who wants Wilson--and why?

The worker? Yes; because Wilson has understood and sympathized with the ideals of labor--concretely expressing his sympathy and understanding in the eight-hour law, the child labor law, the Clayton act, and the seaman's act.

The business man? Yes; because Wilson has not speciously persecuted business for political purposes while secretly shaping governmental policies and administrative activities to accord with Wall Street's wishes. It is but a few days ago that the president of the Chicago board of trade declared that "Wilson is the only president in the course of my experience who has not harmed business." He has denounced the abuses of business and commerce only to remove them and give honest business a free field in which to operate, and his achievements are seen in the federal reserve act, the federal trade commission act and the tariff commission act.

The farmer? Yes; because Wilson has done more than any other president to bring permanent prosperity to the farmer--writing his understanding into the nation's statutes in six great constructive measures--the farm loan act, the good roads act, the agricultural extension act, the cotton futures act, the grain standards act and the warehouse act.

The woman? Yes; because Wilson has put into practice those ideals for the expression of which American women demand and should have the ballot--peace with honor and humanity before dollars. He has taken the position that America prefers work to war, peace to conflict and security rather than sacrifice.

Who wants Wilson? We think pretty nearly every voter will be able to find himself in these classifications--and to find therein, too, convincing reasons for voting for President Wilson next Tuesday.

It took the German merchant submarine Deutschland some little time to dispose of the multiplicity of rumors that she had been lost or captured, but the fact that she has reached America safely on her second trip makes it clear that she has disposed of them. And shortly we shall be ready to start all over again with practically the same set of rumors.

Candidate Hughes has not the slightest intention of stopping the shipment of American war munitions to the allies in the event he becomes president. He declared himself on this issue in the course of his speech at Columbus, Tuesday with a frankness that he had never vouchsafed in answering previous queries as to what he intends to do if he gets the chance.

The confessed leader of the automobile bandits who robbed the Burroughs company of $32,000 in Detroit early in August now complains bitterly that he was "double-crossed" by his associates in the crime, and he makes it very clear that for outrageous injustice his suffering in that regard totally eclipses what he did to the Burroughs company. It seems to be all in the viewpoint.

Whenever hope begins to droop a bit, the western republican headquarters at Chicago calmly moves a few more states over into the Hughes' column without waiting to see what the voters may have to say about it. Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, and the two Dakotas were "carried" for Mr. Hughes last night.

Sentiment in favor of the municipal convention hall in Fort Wayne is so nearly unanimous that there may be danger of over-confidence and a resultant failure to vote for it because you suspect pretty nearly everybody else is going to do so, anyway. Do not fail to register your approval on the voting machine next Tuesday by pulling down the little lever over the label "FOR Coliseum Resolution No. 1."

Despite the fact that a divorce suit just filed at Muncie is the fourth action of that sort for the woman who is her husband's fifth wife, there is nothing in the evidence to indicate that the confidence of either in the matrimonial state has been even slightly shaken.

Sketches from Life By Temple

AUTUMN, 1916, IN AMERICA.

The fall is here. The keen air nips shrewdly. The frost is often on the pumpkin and the persimmon. The main work of the year is done. The bountiful crops of corn and wheat and oats have been harvested. They have either been stored in the barns or sent to the markets where they are bringing top prices. The young men are busy about their farms, repairing fences, oiling machines, looking after their stock.

Everywhere there are peace and prosperity and happiness. Men are leading their normal lives, and the women, whose happiness is bound up with theirs, likewise are leading their normal lives.

It might have been very different. A little slip at Washington, a little giving way to anger or emotion, and--

The countryside would present a different story. Many of the broad fat acres would be untilled. On others, the crops would be rotting in the fields, unless the old men and the crippled, and the women and children, made effort to harvest them. No sound of rifle shots and no boom of cannon would be heard on the man-depleted lands, but the war feeling would be there just the same.

For the young men, the young, strong, industrious men, who are the pride and the hope of the farming counties of the state, would be far away. Maybe in the deserts of sun-stricken Mexico. Maybe in the sodden ditches of wet Flanders. Some of them would be rotting where they fell, pierced by an enemy bullet. Some of them would have faces torn out of all resemblance to those of human beings. Some would be armless and legless, and some would be suffering the eternal night of the blind.

And everywhere in this land there would be gray-haired men silently mourning for their sons, and wives weeping for their husbands, and little boys and girls pitifully inquiring why Daddy did not come back home.

So you see war isn't such a glorious thing when you imagine it brought home to you. It is a terrible thing; a blasting thing; an accursed thing.

The issue in the present national campaign, stripped of all outside matters, is rapidly getting down to this simple question: Shall we continue to have peace and prosperity with Wilson, or shall we take a chance on war and sorrow and want with Hughes? Shall we stick to Wilson, whom we know, or turn to Hughes, the great enigma?

We believe the answer from the farms as well as from the shops and the factories will be: "We want Wilson, and peace!"

Why I'm in Favor of President Wilson

BY MRS. FELIX ADLER.
(Wife of the Famous Lecturer, Writer, and Founder of the Society for Ethical Culture.)

I am for Woodrow Wilson because he has kept the nation out of war with honor, because he has shown forbearance and generosity toward a weaker state, and because he has saved our young men from a barbarous war with backward foe, because he has carried out in spite of powerful opposition the most progressive legislation that any of our presidents has accomplished, the freeing of our workmen from wage slavery and the freeing from economic slavery of the nation's children. He has put laws on the statute books that are an honor to the nation--in spite of the pressure of special privilege.

BY MRS. JOSEPH FELS.
(Widow of the Famous Millionaire Manufacturer and Single Tax Advocate.)
Mr. Wilson understands the present social and political situation of America, knows how it came about, and has vision for the future. I have a deep conviction that the hope of democracy lies in him, and if we fail to re-elect him we have everything to fear.

He is not to be judged by particular measures, neither by the things he is said to have done nor by those he has so far left undone. I see them all as parts of the striving of a great man, in a situation of incomparable difficulty, to do what is right, to achieve what may prove best for the country he is trying to serve.

In this situation and through this endeavor, he is growing rapidly into the man who would prove the people's friend and save them from disaster in the difficult days that lie ahead.

Letters from The Sentinel Readers

THE AUTOMOBILE DEPARTMENT.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 31, 1916.--To the Editor of The Sentinel:--My Dear Sir: During this campaign certain republican "spellers" have been stating that the management of the affairs of the automobile department in the office of the secretary of state has cost 20 percent to 25 percent of the gross receipts. The facts are that during the first half of this year the entire receipts were $731,498.96 and the entire expenses were $48,590.54. This includes the cost of 145,000 plates. This means that the department has been run with 6 percent of the gross receipts. Last year the entire receipts were $508,115.87; the entire expenses were $51,640.10. This means that this department was run for 8 percent plus of the gross receipts.

By contracting for automobile plates in 1915 for the year 1916-1917 I saved $5,000 on plates for the year 1916 and $15,000 for plates for 1917. If I had waited until 1916 to contract for plates for 1917 this $15,000 would not have been saved.

I have also run the affairs of the office of the secretary of state with one less clerk than was used by the last republican secretary of state and have done almost four times as much business as he did.

PAROLED TO FACE NEW CHARGE.

Penal Farm Prisoner Sent From Fort Wayne, Taken to Philadelphia.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 1.--Thomas McCluska, of Fort Wayne, was paroled from the penal farm yesterday by Governor Ralston to authorities of the eastern penitentiary, Philadelphia, where he is wanted for violating a parole. He was serving a term of sixty days, having been convicted of a petit larceny charge.

Herbert Whittington, of Lawrence county, received a remittance of a fine of $150 assessed when he was sentenced for operating a blind tiger. He is said to be needed at home to care for a wife and two children.

He was playing with several boys about his own age, when he came across several dynamite cartridges used for blasting purposes and with a boyish instinct to investigate he proceeded to dissect the explosive. The cartridge went off in his left hand with terrible results. The hand was fearfully shattered, three of the fingers hanging by mere shreds of flesh. The right hand, also, was badly injured.

MANY WOMEN IN THE CONTEST AT POLLS

Two Running for Congress and Two Score for Various State Offices.

New York, Nov. 1.--Official lists of candidates of recognized parties for the congressional and state elections coincident with the presidential voting on November 7 show that there will be at least two women running for congress and more than two score women in the contest for state offices, ranging from governor down.

In Montana Jeannette Rankin is the regular republican nominee for congress, and in Colorado Hattie K. Howard is running on a progressive ticket.

The Associated Press has just compiled all of the state tickets from every state in the union and it appears from these lists that there are exactly forty-six women candidates for various state offices. This figure may be slightly reduced or increased by the fact that some names which almost certainly seem to be those of women are in rare cases also names of men, and it is possible that some women have escaped identification by the use of initials instead of their full name, but the figures given, if not precise, are interesting, since they develop the following facts:

Of the forty-six women seeking state offices the majority (twenty-four) are nominees of the socialist party.

Idaho is the only state in the United States where a woman is candidate for governor, Annie E. Tripp being the socialist nominee for chief executive there.

There are thirteen other states throughout the country where women are seeking state offices, namely, Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Utah, Washington, Illinois and Kansas.

In Washington there are two women candidates, prohibitionist and socialist, for the office of lieutenant governor, and two women of the same parties for state treasurer.

In Connecticut, Rhode Island, Arizona, Colorado and Kansas there are women candidates for secretary of state. Various other offices, principally as trustees of state universities or superintendents of public instruction, are those for which women have been named. In only one or two rare instances does it appear that the women candidates are now holding the office for which they seek election.

FORMER RAILROADER ANNOUNCES BIG GAIN

L. J. Panches, Elkhart, Feels 100 Per Cent Better, Since Taking Tanlac.

Elkhart, Ind., Nov. 1.--Of the many statements regarding the merits of Tanlac, the celebrated new medicine, given by residents of this city and vicinity, none is more convincing than that given on October 9 by L. J. Panches, well-known retired railroad conductor who lives at 1135 South Main street.

"I have suffered from kidney trouble for years," he said. "Although I tried many different kinds of medicine I was never able to gain relief."

"I heard so many people praising Tanlac that I decided to give the new medicine a trial. I've gained seven pounds in weight and feel 100 per cent better since taking Tanlac. This medicine has done for me what no other remedy has ever done and I highly recommend it."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and the like.

Tanlac is now being specially introduced and explained in Fort Wayne at the four Meyer drug stores--Wayne and Calhoun, Calhoun and Columbia, 1420 Calhoun and Broadway and Taylor streets.--Advertisement.

HALLOWE'EN ROWDYISM WAS NOT NOTICEABLE

Night of Strange Happenings Passes in a Quiet and Orderly Manner.

The Halloween which was characterized by rowdiness of some sort in which property suffered seems to be a thing of the past as the one which was celebrated Tuesday night passed in a very orderly and quiet manner. No reports were made at police station that there had been any serious damage to property.

The streets were crowded from early in the evening until late at night and the number of masks was larger by far than on any other previous Halloween night. Masquerade dances, parties and other social gatherings were the main attractions of the evening. At one popular dance hall the crowd was estimated at 750.

The show windows of the business houses down town as well as in the outskirts and windows of residences which stood near the street were the victims of the little boys' and little girls' candies and soap. Front porches were covered with corn. Confetti throwing seemed to be a favorite mirth-making scheme. The sidewalks in the downtown district were literally covered with it, despite the fact that the price of paper has and is still advancing.

STOPS ANY COLD IN A FEW HOURS

"Pape's Cold Compound" Opens Clogged Nose and Head and Ends Grippe.

Relief comes instantly. A dose taken every two hours until three doses are taken will end grippe misery and break up a severe cold either in the head, chest, body or limbs.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages in the head, stops nasty discharge or nose running, relieves sick headache, dizziness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stuff-up! Quit blowing and snuffing! Ease your throbbing head! Nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, causes no inconvenience. Be sure you get the genuine.--Advertisement.

WEDS PROMINENT FORT WAYNE YOUNG MAN, WEDNESDAY EVENING.

MISS LORETTA MELCHING.

The wedding of Miss Loretta Melching, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E.
Melching, to Mr. Ralph J. Thieme, only son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Thieme, will take place this evening at half-past 6 o'clock at the home of the bride in East Wayne families, and both ar-young people whose many excellencies of character have won for each many devoted friends.

Miss Clara Melching, and by her niece and nephew, Margaret and Albert Melching, as flower child and ring-bearer.
Mr. Robert Thieme, a cousin to the groom, will act as best man. Both groom and groom come from prominent Fort Wayne families, and both ar-
young people whose many excellencies
of character have won for each many devoted friends.

Mrs. F. S. Hunting, Misses Elizabeth
Porter, Helen R. Harper and Phyllis Randall.

Among the Fort Wayne club women attending the convention of the Indiana State federation in Indianapolis this week whose names have not been mentioned here are Mrs. Guy Mahurin and Mrs. Clyde Driesbach, who represent the College club.

Miss Betty McLain, of Wilkesburg, Pa., who is visiting Miss Esther Hofer, was the honor guest at a party which Miss Hofer gave on Tuesday evening.
The pleasant time was enjoyed by the Misses Beulah McCrea, Margaret Essig, Irene Fair, Matilda Stolte, and Messrs. Lee Washington, Jack Scott,
Wright Worden, James Webb, Roscoe DeWitt and Andrew Dahlstrom.

Miss Helen Rogers, of Holton avenue, gave a Halloween party on Tuesday evening to a few friends who passed the happiest kind of a time enjoying the pleasure and suitable decorations the hostess had put up and having a lot of fun over the riddle telling of a real witch by name, Miss Grace Philley, in disguise of an excellent luncheon which Miss Rogers had ready for them. The company were attired in masks and fancy dress and that added to the fun.
Those who were present were Helen More, Anna Lee Osborn, Ruth Shriver, Vera Miller, Zella Bowser, Grace Brower, Mae Belle Tomlinson, Venita Likens and Georgia Fell.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Allison gave a pretty Halloween party on Tuesday evening for their daughter Louise and fourteen of her young friends attended it. The children wore masquerade costumes and the Allison home also wore a masquerade suit with yellow and black trimmings and jack-o-lantern ornaments. Dinner was served at 6 o'clock and following that the real sports and fun of the evening began, including fortune telling by a witch whose name is withheld. The children who were guests at this jolly party were Gwendolyn Phillips, Alice Cooper, Florence Blosser, Helene Faulkerson,
Mary Louise Voorhees, Virginia Ropa, Mary Meek, Mary Katherine Twining, Margaret Metzner, Cosette Garwood, Jeannette Dennis, Richard Wiener, Maurice Israel and Dean Metzner.

Elizabeth and Janet Muir enjoyed themselves hugely on Tuesday afternoon at a merry making their mother, Mrs. John J. Muir, arranged for them as a celebration of Halloween day. This wonderful little party came off in the afternoon with a number of games and a fine supper. Among the games was the stabbing of apples in a pan of water with a fork. When the grown-ups do that stunt on Halloween evening they try to bite the apples as they bob in the water, and one gets her face very wet, so Mrs. Muir arranged for using forks, which was just as much fun for small folks. The children also fished for nuts in a spoon, which is not so difficult as to carry some on a knife blade across the room and see them roll off one by one as you walk. But getting them up on a spoon was just as much fun and so was being blindfolded and then trying to blow out a candle flame. It was funnier than pinning the tail on the donkey. There was a plenty of a good supper and baskets of candy, papier mache lanterns and paper caps to take home. The guests were Alice,
Muir, Greta and John Astrom, Lucy Pulliam, Leona Quinn, Katherine and Marjorie Homsher, Bonnie Bowser and Margery Ray.

The H. G. L. girls were hosts for a progressive supper party on Halloween evening beginning at the home of Miss Esther Korn. Appropriate colors and symbols of the night decorated the home of Miss Korn and after the first course was served games were played.
Miss Wilma Brandt and Edwin Scherer won prizes in a contest. A little later the company went to the home of Miss Ruth Hanson, where the next course of the supper was eaten with as much relish as the first one. Prizes in a contest there were taken by Miss Mildred Haffner and Dan Costello. The decorations were equally pleasing and effective, too. The third course was enjoyed at the home of Miss Evelyn Buchman, 2810 Smith street, but considerable excitement preceded the ushering into the diningroom for a ghost and a witch stood guard at the entrance to this house, and they were no make-believes either. The supper table was very pretty with orange and black streamers, a big pumpkin lantern in the center, and favors of cats, witches, etc., at the end of each individual ribbon. Funo was one game and there were contests of the evening that afforded much fun.

Yellow candles helped to light the table and there was a genuine fortune teller on hand who had a busy time. Miss Lois Koppenhofer and Fred Fiegel won prizes. Others present were Misses Bessie Bunch, Ruth Hanson, Emma Vogelgesang, Esther Fink, Mildred Hoffer, Vera and Evelyn Buchman and Messrs.
Ed Scherer, Dan Costello, Tony Back, Will Neek, Al Troutman, Leighton Boverers, Merritt Pettit, Ross Buchman and Willard Ropa.

Keller-Riehl.

Miss Martha Riehl, of 1521 Taylor street, and Mr. Andrew Keller, a farmer, were married on Tuesday afternoon at the West Creighton Avenue Church of Christ by Rev. M. L. Buckley at 4 o'clock. The bride was attended by her sisters, Misses Helen and Ruth Riehl and the groom by his brother, Mr. Fred Keller. Both bride and groom are young people who are prominent in the work of the church in which they were

Reed-Miller.

Fort Wayne friends and relatives have received word of the marriage early in October of Mrs. Clara Weirer Miller to Mr. Oscar O. Reed, a Chicago real estate business man. Mr. and Mrs. Reed are to spend the winter in Dalhart, Texas. Mrs. Reed will be remembered here both by her maiden name and as the widow of Dr. J. E. Miller, a well known physician here, whose demise occurred some years ago.

A Country Party.

One of the merriest of Halloween parties of the season was the one that Miss Florence Moore gave on Monday evening at her home in Wallen. Jacko-lanterns lighted the entire house so that when the guests arrived they were greeted by the grinning faces, while the pretty rooms decked in autumn foliage and cornstalks silently spelled Halloween. A game of progressive bunco was played and the prize winners were Miss Bertha Rodenbeck and Ervin Moore. The prizes were hidden and the winners had a lot of fun, as did the rest who were looking on hunting the prizes. Music and a seasonable luncheon were other things that gave pleasure to Mary Till, Bertha Rodenbeck, Anna Ueber, Cecile and Edith Miller, Viola Griswald, Nellie Miller, Florence Swain, Helen Moore, Irma Drewett and Michael and Leo Till, Ray Pfaffner, Gottlieb Kennert, William Kinsley, Carrie Rennecker, Ervin
Moore, Walter Fritz, Harry Hirt, Ray and Herald Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Fulkerson and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Scott.

FREE TALK TO MOTHERS.

Kindergarten Association Presents
Miss Brown, of Columbia University.

Every mother in the city who wishes to familiarize herself with reasons why and methods of kindergarten work is cordially invited to the Jefferson school next Friday afternoon to hear Miss Brown, of Columbia university, talk about kindergarten and primary methods in school work at 3:30 o'clock.
The Fort Wayne Kindergarten and Primary School association is bringing Miss Brown here and will welcome teachers and mothers to the lecture, Miss Brown is, of course, informed on all points of advanced methods in teaching as she comes from the university that stands for the most advanced thought in every department of education. It will be an inspiration to hear the talk and it will be illustrated by lantern slides.

AT THE MAJESTIC

"The Bird of Paradise" is a Regular Money-Getter.

One of the most valuable pieces of theatrical property now on the road is "The Bird of Paradise," which comes to the Majestic Saturday. This Hawaiian drama is now in its sixth season.
It will live at least a dozen years more.
It has not traversed more than a third of the theatrical territory of America.
It has been played by only one company since it was produced.

In that last fact probably lies the secret of its success. There is never any fear of a No. 2 or a No. 6 company coming along in the piece. People will not stand for second-rate companies playing popular hits. Manager Giroux can string off for your edification a list as long as your arm of broken box office records made by "The Bird." All due to the fact that it's always the original company. Principals may change, but there's only one troupe out in it.

"Within the Law" was played to death by about ten companies in two years. "Peg o' My Heart" suffered the same fate. There were others. The whole territory was "milked dry" in a short time and the play was through.
It passed over to the stock companies.
But "The Bird," with its own company, like Tenyson's brook, keeps on coming and going forever and ever. This is its first visit to Fort Wayne. It is drawing capacity houses.

Another point about "The Bird" is that it suffers no stars. Nearly every year there's been a new Luana, but never is she started. There was a search for a new one this year. May Buckley, when considered for the part, wanted to be starred. "Nothing doing," said Oliver Morosco, producer, and Richard Walton Tully, author. However, she was engaged and she made good.

"The Bird," it is said, has netted a nice little fortune for Messrs. Morosco and Tully.

A weed burner to clear the roadbed of a railroad in North Dakota uses gasoline for fuel and is mounted on a low truck that is pushed in front of a locomotive.

Big Republican Meetings at the Palace and Majestic Theaters.

Two republican meetings held at the Palace and Majestic theaters Tuesday night followed a big street parade and made up one of the biggest rallies the republicans have held in Allen county in recent years. James E. Watson, candidate for United States senator; Henry Lane Wilson, who took up the Mexican policy of the president from observations as an ambassador to Mexico, and Newton W. Gilbert, who served as vice governor of the Philippines, spoke at the two theaters. Mr. Watson denounced the democratic tariff laws, the president's foreign policy and the handling of the Mexican situation. There were 150 automobiles in the parade and 500 were in the line of march.

Charles R. Lane presided at the meeting at the Palace theater and R. B. Hanna at the Majestic theater. The speakers alternated from one theater to the other in filling the engagements. Mr. Watson opened at the Palace theater and Mr. Wilson at the Majestic. The Palace theater was crowded and the Majestic theater was well filled.

Attacks Eight-Hour Law.
The Adamson eight-hour law was characterized by Mr. Watson as a gold brick. He said that congress did not have the power to regulate the hours or wages of working men and that such power lay with the state legislatures. The speaker asserted the campaign cry that Wilson had kept us out of war was not effective since no one had desired to go to war. He scored the policy of President Wilson toward Mexico as vacillating and predicted the election of Charles Evans Hughes on a platform of true Americanism. The senatorial candidate declared his friendship for labor and said he had voted along with Albert J. Beveridge when that eminent leader of labor causes and he were in congress.

Means of Protection of Rights.
Mr. Wilson declared the election of Charles Evans Hughes meant the protection of American rights on the seas and criticized the Mexican policy of the president. Mr. Gilbert also spoke briefly on the foreign and Mexican policies of the administration.

Before the address of Mr. Watson, Capt. W. A. Kelsey offered a resolution pledging the republican candidate to vote for a law which would permit soldiers away on duty on election day to vote. The resolution received a second from delegations from all counties of the district. The Albion Glee club sang several selections at the Palace theater prior to the address of Mr. Watson and also sang at the Majestic.

COPELAND IS ACQUITTED.
Galveston, Tex., Nov. 1.—John Copeland, charged with the killing of William Black, an anti-Catholic lecturer, was found not guilty by a jury in the district court here today.

LABOR MEN ADDRESSED AT THE MOOSE HALL

Federation Leaders Speak Before Large Audience Tuesday Night.

The eight-hour law, child labor and workmen's compensation laws, the federal reserve act and the rural credits law were explained as working to the benefit of the laboring man in an address which J. B. Lennon, treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, delivered Tuesday night at a meeting held in Moose auditorium under the auspices of the railroad men and the Federation of Labor. Jonathan O'Mara, general chairman of the Order of Railway Conductors, was also a speaker.

Mr. Lennon also discussed the Mexican situation and said the revolution in Mexico was simply a natural process in which the people were striving to get from the barbarous to civilization. "Agitators demand that the United States send its army into Mexico to the end that the privileges of a few exploiters may be protected," asserted the speaker.

Charles Evans Hughes, the republican presidential nominee, was declared to be unfriendly to labor, and if elected would never cease to work for the repeal of those laws which benefit the laborer.

Mr. O'Mara spoke of the causes leading up to the crisis and threatened railroad strike. "The Adamson eight-hour law will be written into the contract or schedule now held by men in the train service. Wherever the word 'ten' or figure '10' now appears in the contract you will write the word 'eight' or the figure '8' instead. No other changes will be made in the contract."

ELECTION OFFICIALS TO RECEIVE INSTRUCTIONS
A school of instruction for election officials will be held Friday evening at 8 o'clock in court room No. 2 of the court house, conducted by William Fruechtenicht, election commissioner. At this time every detail connected with the holding of the election next Tuesday will be explained and discussed and for that reason it is imperative that every official be in attendance. For the benefit of the election officials residing in the country a school of instruction will be conducted by Mr. Fruechtenicht Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the assembly room of the court house.

AT THE PALACE
CHARLES OLCOTT AT PALACE.
Versatile Comedian Features Bill Opening Thursday.

Charles Olcott, the versatile comedian, with the eloquent piano, will feature the bill that opens Thursday afternoon at the New Palace, presenting his original novelty, "Then Minutes of Musical Comedy." In this skit Mr. Olcott is the chorus, the tenor and the orchestra. It is a witty bit of satirical humor. The Eight Black Dots, an octette of colored folks, in a group of melodies and rag time dancing are another big act that will vie with Olcott for the top honors. Caesar Rivoli, the bewildering protean artist, who sheds and dons clothing with an amazing rapidity, will present his novelty offering. He offers a reward of $1,000 for any one who can prove that any person besides Rivoli participates in the act. Signor Franz troupe of wheeled marvels and the Adroit brothers will provide two spectacular acrobatic and athletic offerings. Masca and Murray, a team of favorites, will again give to Fort Wayne their skit, "Getting His Goat," a snappy combination of smart chatter and clever song.

AT THE TEMPLE.
Famous Romance, "Graustark," Wins Much Praise at the Temple.
"Graustark," George Barr McCutcheon's great love story of principalities, royal families and thrones, made a hit at two performances yesterday at the Temple theater, and is proving one of the best attractions of the entire season in stock since Manager Wolford's players took charge at the popular playhouse. Semi-military in character and with all the scenes in the five acts depicting mythical Graustark, a principality in Europe, with mountainous settings and castle backgrounds, the drama has a fascination for playgoers which has never failed. The book is still counted as one of the ten best sellers in fiction. Grenfell Lorry, the American lover who falls in love with a Miss Gugsenschlocker and follows her to Europe only to learn that the girl of his dreams is the Princess Yelive on the throne of Graustark, is played by Mr. Jack Doty and Miss Ann Bert, the leading lady with the Temple players, is winning new laurels this week as the Princess Yelive.

Dangloss, captain of the castle guard and protector of his sovereign, the princess, is played by Mr. Owen Col, who looks and plays the part of the sturdy old soldier to perfection. Tonight and Friday will be bargain nights, when the price of one thirty-cent ticket will purchase two. There will be matinees on Thursday and on Saturday afternoons.

SUNDAY'S PRELIMINARY GAME.
The preliminary game Sunday afternoon at League park when the Friars meet Pine Valley will be between the Fort Wayne West Ends and the Bluffton teams. Both clubs have been playing good ball this season and a good game is assured.

U-53 HAS REACHED GERMAN PORT SAFELY
Berlin, via London, Nov. 1. A. M.—The German submarine U-53 has returned safely to a German port, according to the official announcement.
The German submarine U-53, in command of Lieutenant Captain Hans Rose, arrived at Newport, R. I., from Wilhelmshaven on October 7 and departed after a stay of three hours. In the course of the next day the U-53 sank five ships off the American coast. Various reports have been current regarding the submarine, as it was uncertain whether the craft was returning to Germany or had remained on this side of the Atlantic. There were various rumors also that it had been sunk. A search by American warships for a German secret base along the New England coast for supplying submarines proved fruitless, according to naval officers.
SEAMAN EASES CONSCIENCE.
Navy Man Sends $120 to Pay for Stolen Sale of Serge.
Washington, Nov. 1.—The treasury department's "conscience fund" was enriched today by a contribution of $120 from a seaman in the navy. It was payment of a bale of serge taken by the yeaman when he left his ship at New York in 1904.

WILSON HAS A FINE CHANCE IN MICHIGAN

Republican Collapse May Put Lake State in Democratic Column.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 1.—"Michigan for Wilson"—that is the report that went privately to Senator Thos. J. Walsh, in charge of democratic national headquarters in Chicago. The report added—"if we can hold the vote as it stands today, I am convinced Michigan will be in the Wilson column." This was from the managers of the democratic state campaign.

The manager of W. J. McDonald's campaign in the Twelfth congressional district (McDonald was a bull moose in the last congress and now is running for congress as a democrat) prefaced his report: "Don't think I am drunk or crazy. I am neither." Then he went on to say that McDonald will be elected. It sounds extravagant to claim Michigan for Wilson, but the republican campaign has collapsed. The managers are merely going through the motions, while the candidates are in despair.

Whenever the democratic managers take a poll or straw vote they pinch themselves and try to wake up. One of the Detroit newspapers began a poll and soon announced that on that showing Detroit would go for Wilson by 17,000.

Michigan went for Roosevelt four years ago by a large margin. Roosevelt received 214,584, Taft 152,244, and Wilson 150,751. In order to carry the state for Wilson, it must be assumed that MORE THAN HALF THE ROOSEVELT VOTE WILL GO TO WILSON. That is quite a violent assumption, but the polls seem to show that this will happen.

The Michigan progressives are giving Wilson organized support. The party did not disorganize here, as in many states. It refused to go with George W. Perkins into the Hughes' campaign.

The national committeeman who tried to deliver at Chicago was recalled and his place filled with a real progressive. Then the leaders called a conference at Jackson and it was agreed that the party should maintain its organization but withdraw its state ticket and presidential electors, and that the party membership be left free to support Wilson. Many of the progressive, former candidates, and party leaders, are openly for Wilson. This will help much toward keeping those 214,584 votes of 1912 from going to Charles E. Hughes. The democratic candidate for governor is an official of the Wilson administration, Edwin F. Sweet, of Grand Rapids, assistant secretary of commerce. He was once a member of the national house of representatives, and twice mayor of his city.

Illinois Girl is Forced to Go Hungry for 12 Years

(By Honor Fanning.)

Waukegan, Ill., Nov. 1.—Hungry for twelve years!

Sitting daily at a table filled with tempting food, daily preparing food for others that she could not taste herself; famishing in a house of plenty!

That was the experience of Ethel Garnant, 19-year-old school girl, who is just learning how to eat.

An "explosion" operation has just been performed by Dr. Charles H. Mayo, of Rochester, Minn., to save Miss Garnant from death by starvation.

This is the story as Ethel herself tells it, of the 12-year fast and of the "faintest explosion" that fairly blew her back from death to a razor-edged appetite.

"I have been hungry since I was seven," Miss Garnant said. "They used to call me the 'little gourmand' I ate so much."

"One night at supper my bread and milk wouldn't go down. I choked. Since that night I did not swallow any solid food until Dr. Mayo told me to go ahead and eat, eat everything and lots of it. I didn't need a second invitation."

"I had been fasting almost ten years before doctors—and mother had consulted at least 100 of them—could discover what ailed me."

"Then they said the esophagus, the gullet, you know, was contracted and the opening so small only the thinnest and hottest liquids could pass through."

"I weighed only 38 pounds, and I was 17 years old! A mere skeleton."

"I had to quit going to school. Mother kept me alive some way on broths and soups. I don't suppose any one in the world ever drank so much soup. And I was hungry all the time."

"When the operation was performed it seems they slipped a string with

chemicals on the end, down this esophagus passage.

"The heat of the body acted on the chemicals and there was a terrific explosion."

"It was like when a fire cracker goes off, but it was no Fourth of July picnic for me. The pain was so great I fainted."

"In an hour or so I was alright again. In three hours I was asking for something to eat and I did eat."

"Um! that juicy steak! And sweet potatoes—four of them."

"I didn't take any broth at my first dinner. I have a feeling I will never care for soups of any kind again."

Despite her hunger, Miss Garnant kept up her studies and will prepare for a business career.

THE NEW METHOD

(By L. W. Bower, M. D.)

Backache of any kind is often caused by kidney disorder, which means that the kidneys are not working properly. Poisonous matter and uric acid accumulate within the body in great abundance, over-working the sick kidneys, hence the congestion of blood causes backache in the same manner as a similar congestion in the head causes headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish, irritable, have spots appearing before the eyes, bags under the lids and lack ambition to do things.

The latest and most effective means of overcoming this trouble is to eat sparingly of meat, drink plenty water between meals and take a single Anuric tablet before each meal for a while.

mation, dropsy, begin immediately this treatment with Anuric.

The physicians and specialists at Dr. Pierce's great Institution have thoroughly tested this prescription and have been with one accord successful in eradicating these troubles and in most cases absolutely curing the diseased kidneys.

Patients having once used Anuric at the Institution have repeatedly sent back for more. Such a demand has been created that Doctor Pierce decided to put Anuric in the drug stores of this country, in a ready-to-use form. It will be their own fault if those suffering from uric acid troubles do not take advantage of this wonderful remedy. And to show his sincere faith, this prescription is sold under a guarantee: any person who uses Anuric for a full course and does not feel better, will get his money back.

SPECIAL ISSUES UP IN SEVERAL STATES

Likely to Have Much Bearing in State Results at the Polls.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Special issues are to come before the voters of several states in connection with the general election on Tuesday, Nov. 7. Reports from thirteen states in southwestern, middle western and northwestern territory show the following data:

Illinois will vote on two proposed amendments to the state constitution—one authorizing the legislature to revise the state tax laws so that personal and real estate property may be taxed at different rates, the other proposing a change in the state's general banking law to protect state banks from persons who desire to use the same or similar bank in doing a banking business.

In Indiana, with one candidate for presidency and two for vice presidency residing in the state, interest in the campaign has been intense. J. Frank Hanly, prohibition candidate for president; Thomas R. Marshall, candidate on the democratic ticket for re-election as vice president, and Charles W. Fairbanks, republican candidate for vice president, live within a few blocks of each other in Indianapolis.

Ohio will not vote on any constitutional amendments, both the suffrage and anti-liquor supporters having decided not to push those issues. In addition to the national ticket, the state will vote on United States senator, governor and congressmen from all districts and nearly every county will elect officials.

Prohibition in Michigan. The prohibition fight is an issue of the campaign in Michigan, the contest being carried into every one of the 83 counties of the state. Forty-five of the counties are "dry," but Wayne county (including Detroit) and Kent county (including Grand Rapids), have always been "wet." Two prohibition amendments to the state constitution will be voted on, one faction opposing statewide prohibition and advocating home rule.

With state and local issues absent Kentucky citizens centered their interest on the national ticket. Two of the state's eleven congressional districts—Tenth and Eleventh—are represented by republicans. The others are democratic. Three constitutional amendments are to be voted on in Missouri, one providing for state-wide prohibition, another to authorize a state land bank by validating the state land bank bill passed by the last legislature, and a third authorizing the legislature to pension the blind. The prohibition campaign was quiet, although the proposed amendment would prohibit all manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquor in the state.

Women in Kansas. In Kansas the part women have played in the campaign formed one of its marked characteristics, this being the first year women have been able to vote for president. Five women are candidates for state offices and two for the legislature. Dr. Eva Harding, of Topeka, who was defeated on the democratic ticket for the democratic nomination for congress by Rev. H. C. Corwin, of Topeka, in the August primary, is a candidate for congress on an independent ticket. Ethel Whitehead, of Lawrence, is socialist candidate for lieutenant governor; Margaret Grandie, of Wichita, is prohibition candidate for the same office. Ida Boloff, of Winfield, is candidate for superintendent of public instruction on the socialist ticket. The two women candidates for the legislature are Mrs. Harvey Kinzie, of Hiawatha (dem.), and Ella Baldwin (soc.), of Kansas City.

Arkansas will vote on two initiative acts and three constitutional amendments. The most discussed initiative act is one to repeal the state-wide prohibition act passed by the last legislature. The other is intended to revise the state primary laws. The three amendments are intended to increase the amount of school tax, to increase among voters the powers of referendum and initiative and decrease the powers of the legislature and the state supreme court, and to increase taxes for road improvement.

Oklahoma will vote on a so-called "fair election law." If adopted the law will provide equal party representation on state and county election boards. Democratic congressional nominations in Oklahoma, except in the Eighth district, which is represented by Dick T. Morgan, republican, are equivalent to election. Mr. Morgan is opposed by Z. A. Harris, democrat, and Joseph Ott, socialist. In the Fourth congressional district, Thomas D. McKeown, democrat, who defeated W. M. ("Alfalfa Bill") Murray at the recent primaries, is opposed by James E. Gresham, republican, and Allen C. Adams, socialist.

Eight proposed constitutional amendments will be voted on in Minnesota. Nine congressmen are seeking re-election, the warmest contest being between three candidates in the new Tenth district—Thomas D. Schall, elected on the progressive ticket two years ago, and again a candidate on that ticket; Lowell E. Jepson (rep.) and Neil M. Cronin (dem.).

The election campaign in Wisconsin has probably been the quietest in many years. Considerable interest centered in the election of United States senator to succeed Robert M. LaFollette, Senator LaFollette (rep.) and William F. Wolfe (dem.), the leading nominees, made a thorough canvass of the state, as did also Gov. E. L. Phillips and his democratic opponent, Burt Williams.

The factional differences between the two republican wings, those known as the progressive or LaFollette faction and the conservatives, headed by Governor Phillips, seem to have been bridged over and all republican speakers are advocating election of the complete republican ticket, made up of both LaFollette and Phillips nominees.

Differences in the democratic camp, which arose over the wrestling of control from Judge John C. Karel, candidate for governor two years ago, seem to be smoothed out.

Booze Issue in Nebraska. The liveliest state interest in Nebraska seems to center in the constitutional amendment to provide for prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors. Of the ninety-two counties in the state, twenty-eight are wholly "dry" under local option, and twenty-six others are without saloons. There are 351 "dry" cities and towns and 219 "wet."

A prohibition amendment was defeated twenty-six years ago by approximately 29,000 majority. Of this 22,000 came from Omaha and Douglas county, the vote being 23,500 against to 1,500 for the amendment. It is claimed in some quarters that since then a material reversal of sentiment has taken place.

Vigorous campaigning has been done by the candidates for United States senator and governor. For senator the incumbent, Gilbert M. Hitchcock, of Omaha (dem.), is opposed by John L. Kennedy (rep.), of Omaha, former congressman. This is the third time they have been pitted against each other (the other occasions being for congressional honors) and each has a win to his credit.

If there is any special issue in the Iowa campaign, leaders say it is the prohibition question. The entire state is now dry as the result of the repeal of the so-called Iowa Muley law by the last legislature. Led by the Des Moines Register "dry" forces in the state centered their attack on the alleged "wet" Mr. Harding, of Sioux City, Ia., republican candidate for governor, and on his alleged private views on the liquor question.

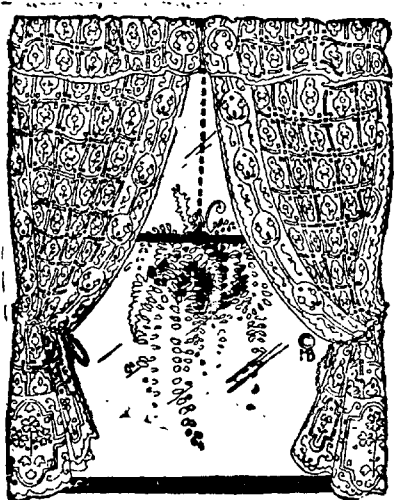

Many "dry" republicans, leaders declare, have signified their intention of voting for E. T. Meredith, the democratic candidate, for the reason that he is "dry." On the other hand, leaders declare, many "wet" democrats will bolt their party because they believe Harding to be "wet." Mr. Harding has asserted he favors prohibition legislation as called for in the republican platform.

South Dakota will vote again on prohibition and women suffrage. A woman suffrage amendment was defeated in November, 1914, by a vote of 39,605 to 51,519, and an amendment restricting the sale of liquor was defeated by practically the same vote. The county option plan has been in force since 1912.

HAS AGAIN AND AGAIN OFFERED RESIGNATION

Chinese Minister of Finance Gets in Bad by a Loan Through Japan.

The Associated Press.—Chen Chin-tao, the minister of finance, has repeatedly offered his resignation as a result of a furore created by announcement that he has made through Japanese bankers a loan of $5,000,000 Mexican on the security of mines in Anhui and Hunan provinces. Residents of those provinces, which are within the English sphere of influence in the Yangtze valley, have sent protests to parliament that the pledging of the mines is part of a plan to betray China to Japan.

The minister of finance made an attempt at explanation before parliament, which did not silence criticism of his action. He said the mines were turned over to Japanese financiers in recognition of their efforts to assist China in getting an adequate reorganization loans. He further said that the five million dollar loan was merely an advance on a greater loan of possibly eighty million dollars. This did not reconcile the parliament, however, and the Japanese financiers, who are prominent Kobe, Yokohama and Tokio bankers, organized under the name of the Asiatic Development company, expressed a willingness to buy up copper cash in the five northern provinces of China.

The Japanese legation denied official knowledge of the five million dollar loan and the mining concessions which have created such a furore. Shortly after the announcement of this small loan, the Chinese government made a formal application to the Russian, French, Japanese and English bankers, who represent the salt monopoly group, for a reorganization loan of ten million pounds sterling secured on the surplus of the salt monopoly. Chinese newspapers charge that Japanese officials doubtless had full knowledge of the smaller loan secured on the mines, but did not wish to give official sanction to this transaction, as they desired to create no prejudice against their co-operation with the allied bankers.

Parliament and Chen Chin-tao have clashed in their interpretation of the section of the provisional constitution concerning the loan-making power, and a complete disruption of the government is threatened, with possible resignation of the whole cabinet or the dissolution of parliament.

WOMAN CANDIDATE QUILTS.

Mrs. Howard Withdraws From Race for Congress From Colorado.
Denver, Colo., Nov. 1.—Mrs. Hattie K. Howard, only woman candidate for congress in Colorado, has withdrawn from the progressive ticket, it was announced today. A number of other progressive candidates also have withdrawn. The liberal party sponsors for the so-called "beer amendment" at the eleventh hour filed a ticket containing the names of four candidates as follows: For governor, Louis E. Leader; lieutenant governor, Charles Williams; auditor, Henry C. Ehrmann; treasurer, C. B. Ayers.

JUST SAME AS THE OLD FORT

Fort Wayne Must Prepare to Fight for Commercial Supremacy.

MUST HAVE BIG CONVENTION HALL

Noon Meetings Today Bring Out Interesting and Important Points.

Old Fort Wayne was brought into the discussion of the proposed convention hall during the address today noon at the Wayne Knitting Mills. Following his introduction by George M. Haffner, Dr. E. J. McOscar declared that if Fort Wayne does not proceed at once to erect a convention hall, this city is in danger of falling from its proud position in the battle for commercial supremacy in the middle west. The doctor likened the present condition to that of the earliest pioneers who galled within the old fort for protection from their enemies.

"It was their common place of shelter from their foes," said he, "and they gathered there for the protection of their lives, that they might go on with their work to establish a town and a city here. Just so today, the people must have a common place of shelter and protection from another kind of foe—the other cities who are striving to beat Fort Wayne in the race for social and commercial supremacy. Commerce is the life of cities. That commerce must be protected. A convention hall will play its great part in this great plan."

In elaboration of his idea, Dr. McOscar pictured the vast amount of money which would be brought to Fort Wayne through the medium of great conventions, the broad-spread advertising of Fort Wayne as a city of progress, and the wonderful good which would come to the people when a community center were provided where they may meet to make plans for the greater good of the whole people. The speaker likened the city to the individual, in that the growth of the family and its requirements constantly demands larger and better provisions for the comfort and education.

William H. Shambaugh, in a forceful address at the Wayne Knitting Mills during the noon hour, referred to the pride which every loyal citizen will feel in having added his word and his work to the insuring of the convention hall. "A city is like an individual," said he. "No man is great unless he says something or does something that can attract to him the earnest commendation of the masses. And so it is with a city. We cannot grow to greatness unless we make provision to say or do or have something which will attract to us the favorable attention of all parts of the country. The convention hall will do this great thing for Fort Wayne."

What the Campaign Teaches. In his address at noon today before the employees of the Fort Wayne Builders' Supply company and the Noble Machine works, Charles L. Biederwolf, secretary of the citizens' convention hall committee, called attention to the fact that the $400 per night which the political campaign managers are paying for the use of one of the three theaters would, in the case of the four meetings held here, net a total of $1,600 which would go a long way toward maintaining a convention hall. He reviewed the embarrassment which has come with the necessity of turning down scores of conventions, such as that of the Indiana State Teachers' association, the various trades unions, the fraternal societies, the political organizations and the like, the entertainment of which would have netted enough in the past two or three years to maintain the building and net a goodly amount to the city, which would own and manage the building.

Attorney Otto Fuebner, who followed Mr. Biederwolf, gave a clear presentation of the need of the convention hall and gave the details of the method of paying for and maintaining it.

AUTOS ARE WRECKED IN CORNER CLASH

Touring car of S. W. Miles, principal of the Jefferson school, and a small truck, belonging to the Leikauf Packing company, and driven by Charles Smith, son of Patrolman Bert Smith, were wrecked, Wednesday morning, when they clashed at Barr and Lewis streets.

Smith came from the south on Barr street. He claims he could not see Miles approaching because of a team standing near the corner. Miles says that Smith is accountable for the accident. Smith was gone before police arrived in answer to a call from a woman who saw the smashup and feared one of the men was hurt.

The radiator was caved in on the truck. One wheel was demolished and there were other damages. Right side of the big touring car was shattered. Both machines were towed to garages for extensive repairs.

The Turner ladies will give a pedro party Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Turner hall on West Superior street. The Modern Americans will give a dance at the Turner hall this evening.

Detective Places First Under Arrest

Detective Peter Junk.

Detective Peter Junk of the Fort Wayne police department in company with the sheriff of Allen county made a midnight drive in an automobile to the home of Charles First and made the arrest. They arrived at First's home at 2 o'clock in the morning and got him out of bed. Detective Junk questioned the man and upon suspicion placed him under arrest and took him back to Fort Wayne, where he later confessed.

AMERICA DOESN'T WANT WAR, DECLARES HUGHES

But He Asserts Country Proposes to Maintain Its Self-Respect.

Sullivan, Ind., Nov. 1.—Charles E. Hughes today declared in an open address here that while the United States does not wish war it proposes to maintain its self respect. "The American people have realized at this time in our history it is very important that there should be no question of their attitude with respect to the maintenance of American rights," Mr. Hughes said. "We desire peace, but we desire an honorable peace. We do not wish war but we propose to maintain our self respect."

"We know perfectly well that there is no future for the country unless we enjoy the friendship of the world. You evoke only contempt either silent or expressed if you do not maintain firmly and consistently your rights. There is no lasting peace for a decadent people."

People Do Not Make Mistakes. Mr. Hughes said that he was sure the American people were coming to their own conclusions with respect to the various claims made in the campaign and that in the long run the American people do not make mistakes. "Nothing is more striking," he said, "in the course of a political campaign in this country than the way in which the American people gradually form their judgment. We have at the outset many confusing voices and in the course of the campaign there are many extravagant claims put forward but the American people recognize as the campaign progresses the dominant issues that concern their welfare. You can be sure that in the long run the American people do not make a mistake with respect to what is necessary to their prosperity and the future of the country."

"If I understand myself I am here anxious to serve the whole people of the United States and what I have to say is just as important to the interests of Democrats as it is to the interests of Republicans. The American people are realizing, and I believe are coming swiftly to a judgment, that this country will need a basis of prosperity that is not to be found in a European war. We know perfectly well that at this time we are in a very unhealthy condition. You are interested very largely in farming. When I was governor of New York there was nothing to which I gave greater attention than the development of our agricultural activities and if I am elected I propose to do all in my power to promote the interests of agriculture."

"It is perfectly idle, however, for anybody to say that he is a friend of the development of agriculture in this country when he framed an Unwooded bill, which puts, in effect, our agricultural products on a free list or on such a low rate of duty as not to furnish our farmers with the protection to which they are entitled. We have got to have a basis in this country for the development which they need."

The nominee remained at Sullivan on Sunday. He then spoke at Linton, remaining thirty minutes. Next at Bloomington, where an hour's stay is on the program, and Brazil. An early evening speech at Terre Haute will be the nominee's last pre-election speech in the state.

Leaving Terre Haute at 9 o'clock tonight Mr. Hughes will re-enter New York state, where a two-day tour will end his campaign. When the tour is completed Mr. Hughes will go to New York city, reaching there Friday night. He will speak in Brooklyn that night and make his last public appearance at the campaign Saturday night at Madison Square Garden.

McClokey, 59, is on his way back to the eastern penitentiary at Philadelphia, because of the care with which Detective Sergeant Joseph Brennan, in charge of the police battalion system, spanned the years and found through the head measurements and tell tale lines about his eyes that McClokey was a murderer.

McClokey, whose real name is Joseph Ryan, was arrested for stealing a rug from a bath yard clothes line on East Main street several weeks ago. He was found guilty on October 9 and sentenced to the state farm for sixty days and fined $10. Brennan took his picture and while McClokey roamed over the state farm Brennan was delving through a few thousand pictures.

The eleven years since McClokey killed a man in Pennsylvania in a robbery attempt, have brushed a few gray hairs through his brown locks. There are more lines across his forehead. His neck bends forward at a more marked angle. But Brennan read in the car lobes, line about the eyes and arch of the nose, the face of the man wanted in the east.

Officers at the state farm and eastern authorities were notified by Brennan. McClokey was held in the Greenacres jail. He raved like a mad man. He was not the party wanted, he insisted. Governor Ralston paroled him Tuesday from the custody of Indiana. A parole officer from the Pennsylvania penitentiary took immediate charge of McClokey and he is on his way back to serve eleven years more of the original sentence of nineteen years. He had served eight years when paroled in 1914.

CONVENTION HALL NOON MEETINGS.

Thursday noon at the plant of the Fort Wayne Corrugated Paper company, Mayor Hoesy and Councilman William A. Bayer will speak in the interest of the convention hall project. At the same hour Frank M. Hagan and S. A. Callahan will speak at the plant of the Centerville Paper company.

Little Girl Aids the Syrian Cause

Pretty Antella Bashara, 15 years old, has collected $18 herself for the Syrian relief fund. She has gone among her friends and as part of the business men and pleaded for aid for the thousands who starve in her war-scarred fatherland. She gave $2 for the relief fund from her own savings.

"My heart is bleeding for the poor people who cannot help themselves," she says.

Antella is the daughter of Kaleel Bashara, traveling salesman, 227 West Lewis street.

MRS. FAIRBANK IS AGAIN NOMINATED

Will Succeed Herself as Indiana Club Women's President.

Indianapolis, Nov. 1.—Mrs. Carolyn R. Fairbank, of Fort Wayne, was nominated to succeed herself as president of the Indiana Federation of Women's clubs at the organization's annual convention here today. Other nominations were: Mrs. E. C. Rumpel, of Indianapolis, and Mrs. Arthur Stuart, of Lafayette, first vice-president; Mrs. W. W. Reed, of Warsaw, second vice-president; Mrs. Winfield Scott Johnson, of Bloomington, and Mrs. Imogene Taft-Lesh, of Muncie, recording secretary; Mrs. John E. Moore, of Kokomo, to succeed herself as corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. A. Morse, of Greencastle, treasurer; Mrs. A. T. Cox, of East Chicago, to succeed herself as treasurer, and Mrs. Cora Frost Goodrich, of Winchester, and Mrs. A. W. Roach, of Richmond, as trustees.

PAROLE JUST MEANS LONG PRISON TERM

McCloskey, Arrested Here for Stealing Rug, is Sent East.

Hanover, Pa., Nov. 1.—Moral neutrals or dwellers in "no man's land" and not the frankly bad people are responsible for the saloon in America. Ira Landwehr, the prohibition vice-presidential candidate, declared in a speech here today.

"America is never controlled," he said, "by either its best or its worst citizens, but by its moral neutrals, holding the balance of power. They would rather be on the right than on the wrong side, which is the only good thing about them, but they would rather be on the winning side than either right side or wrong side."

ONE NEWLY COINED DIME REACHES CITY

A young lady who is employed as a stenographer in the offices of a local building company is the owner of the only newly coined dime in Fort Wayne. The new dime, with a different design than the old ones, is coined in the Philadelphia United States mint. The banks of Fort Wayne have not as yet received an assignment of the new coin.

The young lady, who is the sole and proud possessor of this coin, secured it through a friend who resides in Philadelphia. Several bankers saw the dime Wednesday morning.

The dimes have a pretty design. Liberty with a winged cap is shown on the fore side, while on the reverse side there is a design of a bundle of rods with a battle axe, symbolical of unity, wherein lies the nation's strength. Adolph A. Weinman is the designer and his initials are on the face of the new coin.

THOMAS H. DASCOMB DIES.

Former Fort Wayne Resident Passes Away in Cleveland. Thomas H. Dascomb, well known in this city and formerly a bookkeeper for the Western Newspaper Union, of this city, died at his home in Cleveland, O., last Sunday afternoon. He had been in failing health for several months.

PLOWING CONTEST IS MANY ENTRY EVENT

Twenty-Sixth Annual Competition is Held at Hamilton Farm.

The twenty-sixth annual plowing competition of the Allen County Plowing association was held Wednesday at the Hamilton farm on the Maysville road, four miles east of Fort Wayne. There was a large list of entries and an estimated attendance of 1,500 persons. The contest included exhibitions in plowing and judging of a potato and corn show, all directed by A. J. Hutchins, county agent.

The competition opened at 9 o'clock and at noon a hundred automobiles were parked on the farm. Prof. W. C. Latta, of the department of agriculture, Purdue university, and H. R. Smally, county agent of Steuben county, are the respective judges in the plowing exhibition and the corn and potato show. The Purdue agricultural extension department and the Allen county board of education are co-operating in offering the contest.

Prior to the opening of the exhibition Wednesday morning six chairmen of the farmers' township institutes met in the office of Mr. Hutchins to consider revising dates for some of the institutes, this revision being made necessary by reason of holding the Harlan short course Feb. 15. Prof. Latta is head of the state department for farmers' township institutes.

The officers for 1917 of the Allen County Plowing association are: President, C. G. Vonderau; treasurer, A. J. Hutchins; secretary, Charles Meyers, J. H. Thrash, Dr. Gilie and Ernest Galmeier. The committee on field is composed of A. Blume, George Meyers, John Gilie and Joseph Tonkel.

The plowing contest included a class for sod plow, general purpose and riding plow and a boys' class. In the corn department there were classes for yellow and white, sweepstakes and best single ear of yellow and white corn. These classes were exclusive of the boys' corn contest for boys under 16 years in which there were classes for yellow and white corn and sweepstakes.

The superintendents of the show are: Class A, Val Goeglein; B, George Thumm; C, Mar Goeglein; D, Christ Bullman.

J. H. Thrash judged in the corn department and Will Johnson in the potato department assisting H. R. Smally. Some of Prizes Awarded. Prizes awarded up to 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon were as follows: Corn contest, Gary Tonkel, cash, $250; Joy Thrash, flashlight, $150. Potato contest—Christ Vonderau, first, one dozen potato crates; second, George V. Kell, safety razor; third, William Vonderau, six pounds axle grease; fourth, Amy Bloom, lantern. The plowing was to be judged late Wednesday afternoon.

"PASTOR" RUSSELL WAS UNIQUE FIGURE

Man Suddenly Stricken by Death Had Had Unusual Career.

New York, Nov. 1.—"Pastor" Charles Taze Russell, 65, who died suddenly yesterday in Texas on a train that was bringing him back to his work in New York, stood for more than a quarter of a century a unique figure among the ministers of all sects and creeds. He belonged to no denomination and attracted widespread attention through his varied activities and methods of publicity. He was pastor of churches all over the country and traveled nearly 30,000 miles each year in pursuance of his duties, but made his headquarters in his tabernacle in Brooklyn. He always disclaimed being the founder of a new religion and said he based his preachings only on the Bible. In 1914 his sermons were printed in 1,400 newspapers throughout the country. He was the author of a series of books on Scripture study, of which it was said, several hundred thousand copies were printed each year. Pastor Russell started his career as manager of a string of furnishing stores in Allegheny, Pa., but in 1878 he left this business and began to preach. He was president of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract society of Pennsylvania, the International Bible Students' association of London and the Peoples' Pulpit association of New York, and editor of the Watch Tower and Herald of Christ's Presence, a semi-monthly journal.

"Pastor" Russell had spoken in Fort Wayne on a number of occasions.

FAIRBANKS FUNERAL THURSDAY.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 1.—The funeral of Mrs. Mary A. S. Fairbanks, mother of Charles Warren Fairbanks, vice presidential nominee of the republican party, will be held Thursday afternoon at Springfield, Ohio, Mrs. Fairbanks' old home. The pall-bearers will be chosen from old friends of the family in that city. Mr. Fairbanks arrived home yesterday afternoon from Rockford, Ill., where he was campaigning when he received word of his mother's death. Among the first of hundreds of telegrams of condolence received was that of Charles Evans Hughes, from Columbus, Ind.

Mr. Fairbanks announced that he had cancelled all campaign speaking dates.

Dies Suddenly While on Visit With Son

MRS. ANNA WATERSON.

Mrs. Anna Waterson, of Eel River township, who died Monday while visiting with her son in Mackinac, Ill., had resided in Allen county for many years. She was seventy-seven years of age.

The body will arrive over the Wabash, Wednesday evening and will be taken to the country residence where funeral services will be held Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock and at 11 o'clock at the Wesley chapel.

VIRGINIA LINES UP IN THE DRY COLUMN

Practically No Disorder Attends Exodus of Saloons from the State.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 1.—Virginia was added to the column of dry states today. The new state-wide prohibition law went into effect last midnight, the change being accompanied with practically no disorder. Revelers crowded the streets of the larger cities throughout the night in hallooed garb and others struggled in the saloons for the "last drink," but few arrests were made.

The passing of legalized liquor was variously celebrated. Enthusiastic prohibition workers held services of prayer and jubilation in the churches, bells were chimed and many attended elaborate "watch parties." Clubs and hotels held "open house" and in some cases liquor that remained was dispensed free of cost. Although the sale of intoxicating beverages in the state is a thing of the past, thousands of gallons have been stored in private homes. In Richmond alone dealers estimated that $2,000,000 had been spent in stocking cellars.

2 AMERICAN AIRMEN KILLED IN FRANCE

Paris, Nov. 1.—Two American aviators have been killed near Nancy, according to a dispatch received here from that city. The dispatch gives no further details.

The Mail says that the airplane containing the two Americans capsized while flying over Boudonville plateau, near Nancy. The observer fell out and the pilot, who came down with the machine, was crushed to death under the engine.

Loyal lodge No. 85 will give a social tea in Unity hall on Thursday afternoon. Members of the committee in charge are Mrs. Phipps, Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Stump, Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Smitley.

HALF OF THE DAYS IN OCTOBER WERE CLEAR

Lowest Temperature During the Month Was 31 on Twenty-Second.

Half of the days in October were clear days, four were partly cloudy and twelve were cloudy, is the report made by the local weather bureau man. The lowest temperature during the month was 31 on the twenty-second and the highest was 86 on the eighth. The mean temperature was 53, the average mean temperature since records have been kept.

There were ten rainy days during which 1.66 inches of rain fell, nearly seven-tenths below the average.

The sunshine for the month was above the average. The sunshine amounted to fifty-eight per cent.

The highest velocity which the wind reached during October was 46 miles an hour from the southwest on the twentieth.

The present outlook for weather is good. The warm, sunshiny weather is to continue for several days. There is nothing in sight which would cause the weather to make a change. The thermometer reached the sixty degree mark Wednesday afternoon.

TRAVELING MEN SAY FT. WAYNE NEEDS IT

No one realizes Fort Wayne's need of a coliseum more than the traveling salesmen who visit other cities and know what a great boost an institution of this kind has proven to be wherever it exists. One of the big organizations of the salesmen, the United Commercial Travelers, through their local association, No. 212, have declared in resolutions signed by President Clarence B. Rowley and Secretary O. H. Woebeking, that the city is badly handicapped in its race with other mid-western cities for leadership in its class through a lack of convention facilities. "We have never been able to hold a grand council meeting here on account of not having a suitable place," the resolution, read. "Also we are in sympathy with all the other general reasons why a convention hall should be built."

BOYS WITH MATCHES SET FIRE TO BARN

Barn belonging to Fred Koenig, one mile north of the city, was almost totally destroyed by fire started by boys at play with matches Wednesday morning. Loss is set at $500. Firemen misunderstood the woman who gasped "fire" over the telephone and so drove to the corner of State street and Farnell avenue, a mile from the seat of the fire. Blaze was well under way when the men arrived at the fire.

Many rabbits and chickens in the barn were rescued by boys and women. Hay stored in the mow was destroyed. Shortly after 1 o'clock firemen were called to the rear of the Wellington restaurant on South Calhoun street where a shed had been fired by sparks from a chimney. There was little damage.

Guest day for the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Wayne Street M. E. church will be observed at the home of Mrs. W. L. Zaitz, 2324 Hongland avenue, Thursday afternoon. An interesting program starts at 2:30. All women interested in foreign missionary work are invited. Assistant hostesses are Mrs. Fulkerson, Mrs. Hockett, Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Kari.

To Our Friends, The Readers of the Sentinel:

Answering numerous inquiries from our friends, THE SENTINEL desires to state, that, notwithstanding the great raise in price of white paper and all other material entering into the making of a first-class newspaper, THE SENTINEL will be delivered to your door every evening for the same price as heretofore, TEN CENTS per week.

The price on all newsstands and on the streets will be Two cents per copy every day.

Orders for the delivery of the paper received over Telephone 173 will receive prompt attention. Orders received up to 3:15 p. m. will be delivered the same day.

Speaking of Breadlines, Mr. Voter?

Don't make the mistake of laughing at the Republicans when they talk about breadlines and panics. That's their specialty. When it comes to breadlines and panics, they speak with authority. Don't remember the great panic of 1873-1878, starting after twelve years of uninterrupted Republican rule, do you? It didn't seem possible for the country to go to smash, but Republicans managed it. Bank deposits decreased $200,000,000 and commercial failures amounted to $1,199,000,000. Black Friday rested on the country like a funeral pall. And then there was the panic of 1890. Things looked fairly good for the United States in 1890, but President Harrison and a Republican tariff made breadlines the order of the day.

And surely you have not forgotten the panic of 1903? or the famous Roosevelt panic of 1907, after ten years under a Republican tariff, that swept away the savings of thousands, smashed small business into smithereens and left a trail of despair and suicide? It made millions of organized wealth, but only our Maker will ever know the horror it caused for the workers of the nation.

Of course, times were never better. All the manufacturers have orders ahead that will keep them busy for years—and remember that munitions constitute the insignificant total of two-third of one per cent. of our manufactured products. The end of the European war means bigger and better business.

Philip Heineken, director of the North German Lloyd Steamship company, told the Associated Press: "Whatever stocks of manufactured articles may have been on hand at the outbreak of the war have been utilized in Germany, and there has been no replenishment of these supplies. All Europe, after the war, will be calling for raw materials to replenish exhausted stocks." And never imagine that Candidate Hughes doesn't know the game. When, according to the New York Sun, he said in Milwaukee: "The whole Democratic accomplishment must be wiped off the books for the good of the country," he showed that he was a proper leader for a party that has never failed to produce a panic.

Jacob H. Schiff says: "Normally a Republican, I turned four years ago to Woodrow Wilson, primarily because I had become convinced high protection, this shibboleth of the Republican party, to be at the bottom of all special privilege and many of the ills and inequalities we had so long been suffering from."

the special leaving Fremont at 5 o'clock, reaching this city at 7 o'clock, bringing 500 persons to attend the gathering here.

Al Luley, clerk in the tool rooms for Foreman Henry J. Peters at the General Electric works, has been transferred to the production department, under C. D. Unepaper. The change is a promotion for the young man.

The masquerade bus party to the Miller farm six miles east of New Haven last night, given by some of the male clerks in the shipping department of the General Electric works, was a most enjoyable affair. The party came home at 2 o'clock this morning.

Carl Kiesling, machinist in the repair gang under Foreman Charles Meyers, at the Pennsylvania shops, was painfully injured yesterday afternoon when two of his fingers were deeply gashed by a lathe he was operating. Medical attention was given. He will be off duty several days.

Supt. James A. Fox, of the Clifton Forge division of the Chesapeake & Ohio, died a few days ago at his home in Clifton Forge and his death has been followed by a number of promotions. One of the changes was the promotion of J. A. Gleason to superintendent of the Clifton Forge division.

Trustee Allen Hamilton, of Wayne township, retains a warm feeling for his former shopmates. Before taking up his official duties, Mr. Hamilton was employed at his trade in the Pennsylvania tool room. He called there yesterday to see and chat awhile with "the boys."

NOVEMBER STARTS BUILDING RECORD

Eight Permits, Representing $34,700, Filed on First Day.

November will go right ahead with the wonderful building record Fort Wayne is rolling up for 1916. The first day of the new month found eight building permits filed in the board of works office. They were all for modern homes. They represent $34,700 to be put in making a greater Summit City.

It seems that Fort Wayne building will pass the $3,000,000 mark this year. Already $2,891,150 had been expended before November gave promise of a half million more.

Building permits generally dwindle during November and December. The shortage is supposed to start in October. Not so this year. The list has been growing since July and may continue all year, according to contractors.

Seven of the permits issued Wednesday were to the Wildwood builders. They are for two-story frame residences. St. Joe boulevard, $3,500; residence, Northwood boulevard, $3,400; St. Joe boulevard, frame residence, $3,500; residence, Hensch street, $3,500; residence, St. Joe boulevard, $3,800; frame residence, Northwood boulevard, $3,800. The other permit was to Gustav Lindemann to build a frame house on Meridian street at a cost of $6,500.

Finishing Pavement.

Laying of brick on Swinney avenue, between Phenix avenue and Broadway, started Wednesday.

Corseting Finished.

Grace Construction company has completed the concreting of South Calhoun street.

Will Open Bridge.

Tennessee avenue bridge has been completed and will be open to traffic on Thursday.

Grading Done.

Grading on Gumpner avenue, from Calhoun to Webster, was finished Wednesday.

Placing Top Dressing.

Grace Construction company workmen are laying top dressing on South Hanna street, from Rudisill boulevard to McKinnis street.

Birth Record.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kaack, 1314 Oakland avenue—a boy.

To Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Shockey, 1522 Hurd street—a boy.

To Mr. and Mrs. Gustavus Motz, 513 Fifth street—a boy.

To Mr. and Mrs. Saul Johnson, 914 Alliger street—a girl.

LABOR SHORTAGE IS BECOMING SERIOUS

Reaches the Train Service Department on Several Railroads.

The shortage of labor, which has been in evidence in this part of the country for nearly a year, is now more seriously felt than at any previous period. All the shops are feeling the shortage. Master Mechanic E. E. Griest, of the Pennsylvania, said this morning, in reply to an inquiry, "We are short several hundred men." The shortage has not reached the ranks of train and engine crews on some of the roads. The eastern division of the Pennsylvania is seriously affected and for several days has had agents out in eastern and central Ohio in the effort to get brakemen and firemen. One of these agents has been working in the vicinity of Bucyrus for several days and has succeeded in getting several men, who were sent to Pittsburgh. The Nickel Plate and the Wabash have recently advanced a number of firemen and brakemen and each road is now pretty well supplied with crews, but short on motive power. Monday the following brakemen on the Chicago division of the Nickel Plate were promoted to conductors: W. G. Robertson, W. J. Whitman, G. F. Muldary, M. O. Brown, N. A. Perry, W. G. Hornley, D. J. Merrill and William Hise. The G. R. & I. is also doing business up to the capacity of its power and cars. Some brakemen and firemen may be put up on that line as soon as the power situation improves.

B. L. F. & E. MEETING.

Brotherhood and Auxiliary Gather Here Next Week.

The state meeting of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers and the ladies' societies will be held in Fort Wayne Thursday, November 9, when several hundred people will be in attendance. Last year there were over 400 firemen and members of the auxiliary at the annual gathering, and it is believed the number in attendance at the meeting in this city next week will be greater. Hyacinth lodge, ladies society, which will take an active part in the entertainment of the visitors, will hold a special meeting at Unity hall at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to make the final arrangements. The chairman of the committees hope to have a big attendance at the meeting tomorrow.

VANDALIA ENGINE OVERTURNS.

Ran Into Side of Wabash Freight Train at Montpelier.

A Vandalia engine was thrown off the rails and on its side as a result of crossing collision at Montpelier early this morning. A Wabash freight train was on the crossing and the Vandalia train was unable to stop in time to prevent the accident. Several Wabash cars were

MOWED THE WRONG LOT.

Machinist A. M. Ringle, of the Pennsylvania shops, bought a lot in one of the new additions in the southern part of the city five years ago, and being a law-abiding and civic pride citizen, he mowed the weeds and grass and otherwise kept the lot in good shape ever since. He is now about to build a house and sent a contractor out there to measure up and set the stakes for the excavation. "This lot is No. 33 and it has a big tree near the front end," Mr. Ringle told the contractor. The latter returned in a few hours and told Mr. Ringle he found lot No. 33, but there was no tree on it. A big tree was located on a lot several hundred feet farther down the line, however. Then Mr. Ringle went out to investigate and found that he had been mowing the weeds on some other fellow's lot for five years. He considers it fortunate that the discovery was made before the house was built. Mr. Ringle expects to get into his new home by the holidays.

PETROT IS TRAINMASTER.

L. J. Petrot, late general yardmaster at Air Line Junction, has assumed the duties of trainmaster of the Lansing division of the N. Y. C. with headquarters at Hillsdale. His appointment was mentioned a few days ago. Concerning him and the appointment the Hillsdale Daily News says:

"Mr. Petrot, who is now trainmaster under M. L. Reynolds, superintendent of the Lansing division, came to Hillsdale several years ago at the request of Mr. Reynolds. When Mr. Reynolds was trainmaster at Westfield, N. Y., Mr. Petrot was his clerk. Mr. Petrot was in the office here for five years and he went from here to Air Line Junction as clerk in the general yardmaster's office. Later he became general yardmaster. He now gives up that position to come to Hillsdale."

SPECIAL FOX FOOTBALLISTS.

W. H. Shorey, district passenger agent of the Wabash, was at Wabash yesterday completing arrangements for a special train from that city to Fort Wayne Sunday, November 19, to handle the Wabash football team and rooters. There will be a crowd of over 500 on the special train. The excursion is because of the football game between Wabash and the Priars.

FROM GROCERY TO SHOPS.

Robert Fox, who resigned a position in the Pennsylvania machine shop eight years ago to engage in the grocery business at the corner of Calhoun and Butler streets, disposed of the latter interests Saturday and this morning resumed his old job at the shops. He is a good fellow and was warmly welcomed back by the men who were his shopmates before.

WABASH BUYS CARS.

The Wabash Railway company has placed orders with the American Car & Foundry company, of St. Louis, for 100 boxcars and 300 stockcars. The company is asking for bids on six all-steel postal cars. The proposed order for locomotives is being suspended for the time being, but it is quite likely orders for such equipment will be placed after the first of the year.

NEW WAGE SCALE IN FORCE.

The employees at the Wabash shops this morning began work on the new wage scale mentioned a few days ago, which is two and a half cents per hour above the former scale. The men are feeling pretty jubilant over the improved condition.

FRANK GABLE AT WORK AGAIN.

Frank P. Gable, a machinist, resumed work at the Pennsylvania shops this morning. Three months ago he was taken ill and had been unable to work since until today.

AUXILIARY TO HAVE TEA.

Nickel Plate division, No. 513, Ladies Auxiliary to the B. L. E., will hold a public tea at the home of Mrs. John Hood, 1150 West Main street, Thursday afternoon. Everybody is invited and promised a good time.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Machinist John O. Bryant, of the Pennsylvania shops, is sick and off duty. W. Magson, of the Pennsylvania erecting shop, is sick and off duty. H. Crawford and F. M. Belger are new employees at the Pennsylvania store house. They went to work this morning.

O. A. Langston, clerk at the Pennsylvania car machine shop, was off duty today looking after some private business.

W. J. McLaughlin, machinist at the Pennsylvania shops, will spend the week-end with relatives and friends in Lima, Ohio.

Machinist Walter Fox, who had been looking after private business, resumed work at the Pennsylvania shops this morning.

L. Falk resigned as helper at the Pennsylvania erecting shop this morning to take a position on the city car lines as a motorman.

R. Humke, crane director in the Pennsylvania boiler shop, was unable to show up for work this morning on account of sickness.

H. Schafer, a tender repairman at the Pennsylvania shops, will be off duty a few days on account of getting some steel scales in his eyes yesterday.

The G. R. & I. pay master will be here Saturday to pay the employees of that line and Monday will return to the Pennsylvania shopsman.

J. Leonard, a young farmer who came here recently from Illinois, has taken employment in the punch press department at the General Electric works.

F. M. Koonz, from a farm near LaGrange, Ind., took employment as a tender repairman at the Pennsylvania shops.

Miss Philleys' class in "How to Read in English" will meet at the Y. W. C. A. this evening at 7 o'clock, for registration and organization. Adults from 16 years on, admitted.

All the Greek laborers at the Pennsylvania shops are off duty today on account of this being a holiday. Their absence temporarily cripples the work in the shop, which was already handicapped by a shortage of laborers.

PRESENTS EFFORT TO MAKE IT PARTISAN

Questions Involving Human Lives Not Political, Says Wilson.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 1.—President Wilson today registered a solemn protest against the use of the international relationships of the nation for partisan purposes.

"Men who do this," he said, "I cannot and will not regard as patriots."

He declared questions involving human lives should not be dragged into politics. The president's protest was granted by prolonged applause. He said he would not consent that the democratic party be used for any such purpose.

INSTRUCTIONS TO DOCTORS.

State Health Board on Dealing with Epidemics.

Indianapolis, Nov. 1.—A circular letter to physicians throughout the state, discussing ways of dealing with typhoid epidemics, has been issued by the Indiana state board of health. In several parts of the state typhoid is rampant. The letter sets forth ways of disinfecting advocates killing of flies and details methods of nursing typhoid patients.

When a suspected case of typhoid fever is found "it should be isolated and treated as such" until a diagnosis can be made, the circular says. The nearest health officer should be notified immediately. Other directions in the letter are to use chloride of lime as a disinfectant, to have the house screened carefully, and wage a continuous warfare on flies so they may not carry the disease.

L. O. O. M. No. 200 will give a progressive party for men and their families, for the purpose of raising money for the relief of the poor, Friday evening.

RAZOR SALE METHOD TAGGED AS GAMBLING

Fine of $25 Imposed Because Card System is Held as Lottery.

Agnes and Ethel and Lottie and May, Mary and Eator and Lena and Fay were a few of the names which flitted from above the little red tags on the flashy cards which urged "your favorite girl wins a safety razor."

Sam Shurtis and Sam Goldstein, of Indianapolis, had induced several merchants to display the cards on the top of their cigar cases when Detective Sergeant Immel heard of the scheme. He thought the plan was just another way of gambling.

Immel found the young men and took them to the station Monday. They were held under $25 bond on a gambling charge. They pleaded not guilty in police court Wednesday morning and were represented by an attorney.

The young men, who seemed to have just stepped from a fashion plate, argued that the cards were properly called "sale cards" and not punchboards. Judge Kerr saw the same old method of taking a chance on the number hidden under the gold seal, beyond the technicality of a new way to sell razors. He fined the young men $25 and costs each.

Boy Given a Chance.

George Henschen, 19, 2818 Hanna street, was stricken with remorse as he sat among the prisoners charged with larceny. He wept during the entire hearing of his case.

Henschen was charged with taking money from the cash register of the gasoline filling station, owner of Lafayette and Pontiac streets. Henschen, who was employed there, would take the money while other men filled the automobile tanks with gasoline.

He was arrested Tuesday night while dressed in a clown suit and making merry with a band of young men on Calhoun street. Detective Immel, who was working on the case, made the arrest on suspicion. Henschen confessed his guilt. He had taken $35 altogether, he said.

Henschen was released on his own recognizance. Case will be continued during his good behavior.

Bond Forfeited.

Leroy Staples, charged with assault because his automobile struck an aged railroad flagman, several months ago, is said to be hiding in the wilds of Michigan.

Bliss, attorney, is said to have been in the city for some time.

ING EVERY EFFORT TO LOCATE HIS CLIENT, WHO HAS BEEN GONE FOR WEEKS. JUDGE KERR HAS GRANTED SIX POSTPONEMENTS IN THE CASE AND REFUSED ANOTHER. HE ORDERED THE CASH BOND OF $400, PUT UP BY STEPLES, TO BE FORFEITED.

It Was Halloween.

Albert Silling and Earl Brunner, both 17, west end youths, were in police court because Silling forgot to drop a large rock he carried when the gang dispersed after wrecking some destruction on Maumee avenue. The big, jagged rock was used as mute testimony against the boys, Wednesday morning, when they were charged with disorderly conduct. They were given a severe lecture and released.

Came to Republican Rally.

Buseton Barton, of Albion, is an engineer and ordinarily a good fellow, he explained. He came to Fort Wayne to take part in the republican rally Tuesday night. He jollified a few times too many. He was charged with drunkenness. He paid a fine of $1 and costs.

John Strain and Charles Ruch argued politics and came to blows. They were charged with disorderly conduct by the patrolman, who could not keep them separated. They were fined $10 and costs each.

Other Police Court Cases.

Charges of public intoxication were: Paul McBride, $100 and costs and 30 days at the state farm; Samuel Carpenter, $10 and costs; Edward and Minnie Hines, colored, $1 and costs each; Jack Welsh, 85 years old, $5; Andy C. Donnelly, Jim Galvin, William Atkinson, John Randall, Edward Hanshaw, Joe O'Neil and Robert Boyd, released.

The name of John Doe has been given three times this week by men who forfeited their bond on drunk charges. John Doe was fined $5 and costs again Wednesday morning.

WANTED — Cylinder press-feeders. Printing department, Fort Wayne Box Co.

FOOTBALL PRACTICE.

The Bachelors will practice on Thursday and Friday evenings in preparation for their return game with Portland.

CHIMNEY SPARKS AGAIN.

Sparks from the chimney fired shingles in the roof of the home of C. C. Hollenbeck, 3001 South Wagner street, Wednesday morning, at 6 o'clock. Tow fire companies were called by neighbors who discovered the blaze. Damage is $5.

The missionary society of the Westminister church will meet at the home of Mrs. Bandaker, 1517 East Wayne

THE COURTS.

Suit for Non-Support.

Suit has been filed in circuit court by Bessie Koch against John Koch and William Koch, administrator of the estate of John B. Koch, alleging John Koch deserted her August, 1912, going to Toledo, O. William Koch, as administrator, holds property in which the defendant is said to have an interest and it is asked that attachment issue against the realty. T. J. Logan is attorney for the plaintiff.

Suit to Replevin.

George Jacobs has filed suit in superior court to replevy on a piano, asking possession and $100 damages, and naming Emanuel Zehender as defendant. Heaton & Heaton are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Notes of Court.

Suit against Barrett Van Buskirk has been started by Herman Hoppe asking for an accounting and dissolution of the partnership, with judgment of $100. Ryan, Ryan & Aldrich are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Montgomery G. Beaver, doing business as the Fort Wayne Lumber company, has filed suit against Victor Neesa asking judgment for $500, alleging services rendered for which payment was not made. Green & Morris are attorneys for the plaintiff.

The case of Leopold Bracony against Theodore Thleme, on contract, has been set for hearing January 9 in superior court.

In the suit of Mary Wyatt against Alva Lahtman, for $5,000 damages, all rights to a change of venue have been waived and the case continued to January 11.

Andrew William Perry has applied for admission to the Allen county bar and his application has been referred to Judge Owen N. Heaton, David Hogg and Lee J. Hartzell as an examining committee.

In the suit of J. F. Chilson against Safara J. Swetter, on account, a finding for the defendant has been given in superior court.

Charles Yaie has been fined $1 and costs in the court of Justice A. C. Nierman, charged with assault and battery on Joseph Christman.

In circuit, in the case of Oscar W. Nelson against William K. Noble, to collect $730.07 on contract, motion for a new trial has been overruled and an appeal to the appellate court asked.

Wilson's Opinion of Labor

New York City, June 16, 1909.

Hon. Woodrow Wilson,
President Princeton University,
Princeton, N. J.

Dear Sir:—

In the New York Times of June 14, which purports to give extracts of your baccalaureate address to the students of Princeton University, you are quoted as follows:—

"You know what the usual standard of the employee is in our day. It is to give as little as he may for his wages. Labor is standardized by the trade unions, and this is the standard to which it is made to conform. No one is suffered to do more than the average workman can do. In some trades and handicrafts no one is suffered to do more than the least skilful of his fellows can do within the hours allotted to a day's labor, and no one may work out of hours at all or volunteer anything beyond the minimum."

Now, your reported remarks strike me as being so extraordinary—so different from what I, as a member of organized labor, have found to be the facts—that I feel impelled to ask you if the foregoing paragraph is a correct report of what you said.

If you are correctly quoted, I should like to have you give me your authority for your statement that in labor unions "no one is suffered to do more than the average workman can do." Also give me the names of a few trades or handicrafts where "no one is suffered to do more than the least skilful of his fellows can do within the hours allotted to a day's labor, and no one may work out of hours at all or volunteer anything beyond the minimum."

As a matter of course, a president of a university of the reputed standing of Princeton would not make statements in his baccalaureate address unless he knows, or at least fully believes, that his statements are true. Therefore it ought not to be a difficult matter for you to oblige me with the names of those labor unions whose laws, or even policies, bring about the results you specify.

Awaiting your reply with lively interest, I am,
Yours very truly,

Care Evening Telegram,
New York City.

Edgar R. Lavery

PRINCETON, N. J.

PRESIDENT'S ROOM

June 16th, 1909.

My dear Sir:—

Your letter of June 16th contains a very proper challenge. I quite agree that I ought not to make the statements I did make about the trades unions, unless I were able to cite cases in verification of my statements.

I, of course, had no individual trades unions in mind which I can name by number, but I had in mind several cases of buildings in New York City, for example, the brick layers working on which spent about one third of the working day sitting around, smoking their pipes and chatting, because they had laid the number of bricks to which they were limited for the day by the union to which they belonged.

I had in mind numerous experiences of my own in dealing with working men in Princeton, where I once found it impossible, for example, on a very cold evening to get a broken window pane mended at the house of an invalid friend, because the prescribed labor hours of the day were over and the glazier could not venture, without risking a strike, to do the work himself and could not order any of his workmen to do it. I had in mind scores of instances, in short, lying within my own experience and resting upon the testimony of friends in whose veracity I have every reason to have the greatest confidence.

I of course could not, in the case of more than one or two of these instances, give legal proof of my assertions, but the evidence I have are entirely sufficient to convince me of the general truth of the statement I made.

Very truly yours,

Woodrow Wilson

Mr. Edgar R. Lavery.

Labor's Opinion of Hughes

After He Retired From Politics

"HE WAS A GREAT GOVERNOR"

"Now that Governor Hughes has retired from politics and ascended to a place on the highest judicial tribunal in the world, the fact can be acknowledged without hurting anybody's political corns, that he was the greatest friend of labor laws that ever occupied the governor's chair at Albany. During his two terms he has signed 56 labor laws, including among them the best labor laws ever enacted in this or any other state. He also urged the enactment of labor laws in his messages to the legislature, even going so far as to place the demand for a labor law in one of his messages to an extra session of the legislature.

"Only 162 labor laws have been enacted in this state since its erection in 1777—in 133 years. One-third of these, exceeding in quality all of the others, have been enacted and signed during Governor Hughes' term of three years and nine months.

"With such a record of approval and suggestion of progressive legislation in the interest of humanity to his credit, it is easy to believe that human rights will have a steadfast and sympathetic upholder in the new Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States."

From the October, 1910, Issue of Legislative News, Published by New York State Federation of Labor.

Labor's Opinion of Hughes is Based on WHAT HE HAS DONE

Wainwright Commission of Inquiry.
Automatic mutual agreement compensation law.
Automatic compulsory compensation.
(The first law of this kind enacted in the United States.)
Limiting the hours of labor for street car men.
Limiting the hours of labor for men in train service.

Limiting the hours of labor for signalmen and railroad telegraphers.
Placing young women from 18 to 21 years of age in the protected class.
ELEVEN CHILD LABOR LAWS extending over a period from 1907 to 1910.
(These laws secured the first definite standard for the protection of children in New York.)

Reconstructed the State Department of Labor.
Changed the penalties to make enforcement of labor laws easier.
Requiring semi-monthly payment of wages.
THIRTEEN LAWS relating to welfare, safety and sanitation in workshops.

Indiana and Purdue Bowlers Roll Up Game November 25

Sailor Outpoints Willie Beecher

Next Friar Game Will Be a Thriller

MANY COLLEGE MEN WILL SEE BIG GAME

Hundreds from Fort Wayne Will Watch Indiana and Purdue in Battle.

Fort Wayne will send a howling host to Lafayette on November 25, when Indiana and Purdue universities battle in their twenty-first annual football fray.

At least a hundred, former Purdue students, plan to go from Fort Wayne to the game. Seventy-five men of Indiana will attend the struggle. A special traction car will be chartered. Several plan to make the trip over the Wabash railroad.

Backers of both the state schools are claiming the victory. Interest in the annual contest never ran at such a high pitch. Several former college men will probably be hatless and coatless after the sun goes down on Stuart field. Garments have been mentioned in several bets.

Former I. U. students will have a "whoop-er-up" meeting on November 18 to arouse within themselves a firmer belief that the Cream and Crimson warriors can "buck a stone wall."

Purdue men have pulled one rousing stag affair and may bill another. Several Purdue alumni will come to the city from nearby towns to board the special car here. College enthusiasts say that in all Fort Wayne will have 250 men on the side lines when the whistle pipes at the foot of the Purdue bleachers.

Purdue has won the majority of the hard fought contests between the two schools. Several battles were gained by one point. Indiana has been humbled each season for the past five years. "Tables are to be turned," sing the Indiana backers this season. They talk like they believe it. I. U. men of Fort Wayne say they would not care to make the journey to Lafayette if they were not sure Purdue is to be trampled.

New Fighting Spirit. There is new fighting spirit in the Indiana team this year for a fact. They rally from crushing defeat of the Chicago game is one of the miracles of the year. Their showing against Tufts last Saturday is remarkable. Tufts, the strong eastern school, defeated Harvard and was only beaten by Princeton by a score of 3 to 0. Indiana is the first school to cross their goal line this year. The score of 10 to 12 in the recent contest marks that game as the most brilliant in the Indiana team has played in history of its trips to Indianapolis. Several Fort Wayne men witnessed the contest and they are the more confident that Purdue must bow her head this year.

Purdue men, however, say "It will be the same old story." The Purdue team always fight hardest against Indiana, they say. The game will also be on Purdue's lot.

Purdue's showing of 7 to 14 against the strong Illinois team is held by the backers of the Bollermakers to be as fine a display of grit and brawn as that put up by Indiana at the capital city.

The issue is yet in doubt. Both teams have a fighting chance despite the fact that P. S. Hake, the brilliant leader and captain of the Purdue team, may be out of the contest. Anyway, Fort Wayne will be represented when first blood is drawn.

SAYLOR TAKES FIGHT TO WILLIE BEECHER

Indianapolis Boy Has Little Trouble in Outfighting New Yorker.

Youngstown, O., Nov. 1.—Milburn Saylor, of Indianapolis, outpointed and out-kicked Willie Beecher, of New York, in a thrilling twelve round bout here Monday night.

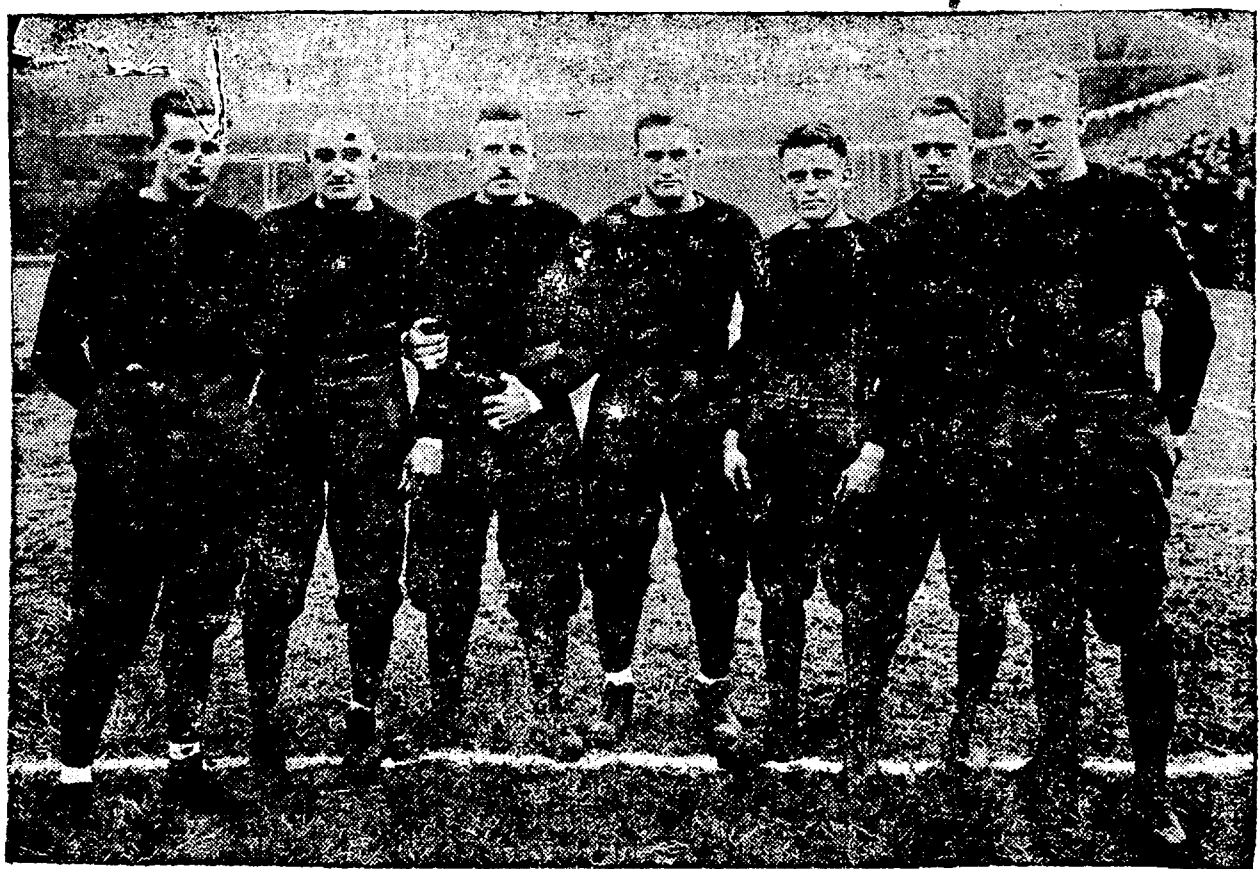

Saylor closed Beecher's right eye in the second round, and after that Willie was at a great disadvantage. He displayed the greatest gameness possible, and a less rugged boy would have succumbed long ere the last round arrived. Every round was Saylor's. The fight was the most spectacular ever fought here. Not for a single moment did either boy let up in his willing, toe-to-toe battling from bell to bell.

Not one round could be claimed for Beecher, although he displayed great endurance and stamina. His best work was at close range. Saylor was on top of him all the time, lashing out stinging rights and lefts that more than once staggered Beecher, that cut his face and lips and kept the blood flowing. Saylor's aggressiveness was marvelous and at the finish he did not have a mark. Saylor scored a decided hit and the rans want to see him back again with either Johnny Griffiths, Jack Britton or Ted Lewis. Saylor's next fight will be with Jimmy Duffy at Youngstown Thursday night.

The above is a picture of seven of the star players on this season's Friar foot-ball team. They are, reading from left to right: Al Peeney, center and guard; Joe Pliska, right halfback; Deac Jones, left tackle; W. H. Edwards, right tackle; G. E. Dorias, quarterback; All-American, 1911; Heine Berger, left halfback; J. H. O'Donnell, center and guard.

GRIDIRON GOSSIP.

NOTRE DAME.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 1.—Only McInerney of the "varsity" squad was allowed in the scrimmage today, the rest of the first team going through signal work. The freshmen and the reserves scrimmaged for more than an hour. Grover Malone's injury caused Harper to shift Fitzpatrick to halfback on the second team, with Fritz Slackford at full. Walter Miller, who has been showing good form at half, also was used in the mixup. Meagher and Tom King, reserve ends, starred in the workout.

INDIANA.

Bloomington, Nov. 1.—Indiana loaded on the job and allowed the freshmen to win a thirty minute game, 14 to 0, the youngsters using Northwestern formations. Erehart, Bowser and Hathaway, trio of backfield stars, were not in the line-up because of injuries, and their places were taken by A. Hess, Captain McIntosh and Keever. Coach Stehm spoke without mincing words to the regulars and informed them that they were back again where they were two weeks ago. He made frequent changes in the line-up and finally thundered that any man caught loafing would be sent to the dressing room. The scrimmage tomorrow will be the last for the "varsity," as Stehm will take no chances of injuries before the Purple contest.

MICHIGAN.

Ann Arbor, Nov. 1.—Scrimmage for the Wolverines had to be abandoned finally for lack of regulars. Four of them failed to show up, including Captain Maul-betsch, and since it was to be held for their benefit, Coach Zett decided to put off the drill. The all-fresh crew probably will clash with the "varsity" tomorrow. The yearlings are hard at work preparing for Saturday's fray with Evanston academy, and if Coach McGinnis can prevent it there will be no duplication of the defeat of last Saturday, when the Michigan Argle yearlings downed them on a fluke. Yost kept his men busy working on the forward pass and drop kicking field goals. Morrie Dunne is getting them over the posts consistently from the forty yard line.

PRINCETON.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 1.—With the Harvard and Yale games looming large just over the horizon, Princeton football fans see little hope for Speedy Rush's Tigers. In spite of the fact that the Tigers have won every game this year and have done it without an opposing team scoring a touchdown, it is well recognized in Princeton that the Tigers must see a lot of improvement before they can hope to down their two powerful rivals. Rush is working hard to develop an offensive that will carry a heavy punch, and is busy trying to plug up holes in his line.

ARMY.

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 1.—The Army football eleven was put through some of the hardest drill of the season this afternoon in preparation for its game Saturday with the powerful Notre Dame eleven. Vidal is still out with a slight injury, but he is expected back for active practice by tomorrow.

WELSH WANTS $25,000.

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 1.—Freddie Welsh, champion lightweight, is willing to fight Willie Ritchie, former title holder, twenty rounds at Tia Juana, Mex., if guaranteed $25,000. Welsh's terms were received in a letter from Harry Pollok, his manager. Pollok wrote a local boxing promoter, who represents the Tia Juana interests willing to furnish financial backing for a championship fight. It is not known whether the terms will be accepted. Ritchie's consent has been obtained.

WARNER DEVELOPS SCORING MACHINE.

Although Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt have piled up more points than other colleges so far during the football season, to Pittsburgh undoubtedly belongs the distinction of being the most powerful scoring team in the country. Playing against such strong defensive teams as the Navy, Syracuse and Pennsylvania, Glenn Warner's outfit has succeeded in piling up a total of 128 points. The Georgia and Vanderbilt scores came in games with smaller schools, Georgia having succeeded in running up 222 points in a single game.

OLIPHANT, ARMY TANK, SCORES 45 POINTS.

Elmer Oliphant, Uncle Sam's best football bet at the West Point, earned for himself the name of the "army tank" in the game against Villanova Saturday, piling up 45 of his team's 60 points himself. Oliphant contributed touchdowns, field goals and goals from touchdown, establishing a record for points scored by an individual in a single game this year and breaks all records for many past seasons. By his record Saturday Oliphant will move into first place for individual scoring for the season, passing Gerrish of Dartmouth, Maubetsch of Michigan, and McCreight of Washington and Jefferson.

ATTACH J. WILLARD'S CARS.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 1.—Jess Willard, heavyweight champion, bumped against the strong arm of the law last night. Two automobiles, which are said to be the property of Willard, are now attached and held by John Wyatt, vice-president of the First National bank, for $1,800 advanced while Jess was training for his Havana fight with Jack Johnson. Jess didn't know that attaching the cars was as far as the law could go with him, so he left the circus. The circus people announced Big Jess had a cold.

MANY WILL ATTEND PINE VILLAGE GAME

Bluffton Asks for 100 Seats for State Champ Game.

Great preparations are being made for the meeting between the Friars and Pine Village Sunday. The local warriors will take their first workout for the week Thursday evening. Too many bruises marked the last game and Captain Byrde decided that a rest would be better than practice. Thursday night will see all of the team who can get there lined up under the white lights at the park, and the regular Saturday and Sunday morning workouts will be given.

A great deal of out of town interest is being taken in the game Sunday and large delegations from all nearby cities will view the game. Bluffton has written for a block of one hundred tickets and word has been received from Huntington, Wabash and Decatur stating that many people from those places would be here to see the game.

This game will really decide the state championship, although the Friars haven't met Wabash as yet. It is considered throughout the state in that light and for that reason there will be an added attraction.

Enthusiasm Running High. Nothing in the past four or five months has caused so much excitement and enthusiasm than the announcement that the Wabash Athletic association and the Friars have come to terms for a series of two games of football, one to be played here and one at Wabash. Of dopesters who have followed the playing

TUFTS COACH MAY QUIT NEXT YEAR

Dr. C. E. Whelan, coach of the Tufts football team, the sensation of the east this year, may retire from athletics at the end of the present season.

Whelan has realized his greatest ambition, to turn out a team which should beat Harvard, and win the state college title for Massachusetts.

Last year Whelan declared that when he had accomplished the defeat of Harvard he would retire from the game. He has not yet retracted the statement this year.

of both teams can figure it out no other way than that the Friars will wallop the long-standing rivals in the football world when they make their appearance here.

There is no other football team in the whole country which proves to be such an attraction as the Wabash team when it comes to Fort Wayne. One reason is perhaps because the Wabash team is always made up of good players. Another reason is they always bring at least a thousand rooters with them who make the day still more exciting.

Last year when this team came to Fort Wayne, the largest crowd of the season was present to witness the game. If the dope runs true the League park will not be able to accommodate the crowd this year.

Wabash carries with it a bunch of football players whose skill, speed and knowledge of the game are bound to put all kinds of thrills in the game at all times. Reno, a star end, will again appear in the line-up this year, as will "Red" Miller, the fast little quarter.

Granting all this, Fort Wayne fans are putting all sorts of confidence in the Friar team and there is no way out of it, the Friars will wallop them this year.

O'DEA, ECKERSALL—GREATEST DROP KICKER? EXPERTS CAN'T AGREE—TOO MANY OF 'EM

ECKERSALL KICKED FIVE GOALS IN ONE GAME

BY PAUL PURMAN.

The greatest drop kicker of all time? Football critics fail to agree. They point to the records of Walter Eckersall, Pat O'Dea, Jim Thorpe and Brickley. They call attention to the long boots of George Capron and John DeWitt. Then they declare the impossibility of trying to pick one of these men as the greatest.

Strange that not one of these men holds a world's record for goal kicking. Pat O'Dea held one for seventeen years. Then last season Mark Payne, an unknown from Dakota Wesleyan, an almost unknown college, booted a goal from the 63-yard line, beating O'Dea's great kick by a yard.

Payne, however, could not be classed as one of the greatest goal kickers. His form before that record boot had never been exceptional and as it was his last year in college football he never had a chance to try to repeat.

O'Dea's 62-yard kick was made November 25, 1898, against Northwestern and won for Wisconsin. During his entire football career O'Dea reserved himself for kicking, and seldom carried the ball or tackled a runner.

O'Dea is also credited with a 50-yard boot, one of 48 and many under 40. As a consistent goal kicker probably none greater ever lived than Walter Eckersall of Chicago. Repeatedly he kicked from three to five goals in a single

a record that kickers are still shooting at. In a game against Rose Poly he booted seven goals, all, however, from placement.

Charley Brickley's five goals in the Yale game in 1913 and his other exploits in 1912 and 1913 gave him a place high in the goal kickers' hall of fame.

Big John DeWitt, of Princeton; Carl Sprackling, of Brown; Charley Daly, of Army, and Jim Thorpe, of Carlisle, were great kickers.

The credit for the longest kick in football goes to J. T. Haxall, of Princeton, who scored a kick from placement against Yale in 1892. Haxall stood on the Princeton 35-yard line and booted the ball over the goal posts 65 yards away.

HOPPE IS IN THE LEAD.

St. Louis, Nov. 1.—Willis F. Hoppe, world's champion billiard player, Monday won the first block of his special 18-4 match with G. Butler Sutton, of Chicago. Hoppe piled up his 500 score while Sutton was making 196 points. Both players appeared far beneath their regular game. Both claimed they could not get used to the new cushions. Hoppe was going well at the finish, averaging 31.8-10 for his last ten innings.

HOPPE—3 16 15 29 3 0 1 15 2 11 3 1 2 21 10 17 0 72 9 53 59 29 0 28 25 22 23—300. Average, 18 14-27.

SPORT CHATTER

Looks like Andre Anderson bit off a mouthful a size too large when he tackled Pundit.

The remainder of the Friars' schedule looks rather bright with the Wabash games signed up.

Do spectators take alarm clocks when they go to see a seven-mile walking race? When Freddie Welsh's opponent failed to show up last week, the crowd was disappointed.

According to the dope the Friars should come out of the Pine Village game with a win, unless you take into consideration the fact that the Colts won from the down-staters on a clever trick.

The compositor used keen judgment when he set it "Pennsylvania vs. Pittsburgh." Penn was certainly up against it. Out was the name of a horse that started at Windsor. So were the guys that bet on him.

And about now the conversation of local football fans turns to Reno and Red Miller.

Wonder if that Tommy who captured 102 Germans surrounded them.

HOT WATER THE BEST LIVER AND BOWEL MEDICINE

Says glass of hot water before breakfast washes poisons
from system.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleansing, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink
each morning, before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the elimi-
native organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath,
coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull, aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing.
Those who continue it each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.—Advertisement.

(By F. M. Kerby.)

Washington, Nov. 1.—Uncle Sam is going to bring landless man and man-less land together!

The United States reclamation service has decided on a policy to reduce the cost of land and water on its irrigation projects.

Heretofore when a prospective settler obtained his unit on a reclamation project, he had to clear and level the land and prepare it for his allotment of water
by his own individual efforts.

It is an engineer's job to level and prepare this land so water distribution will be just right. And the average settler is not an engineer.

Although the reclamation service has done its best to instruct the settler how to clear and level his land, many settlers have failed. Individual settlers are usually poor men, unable to hire labor or expensive machinery for land clearing.

A year ago F. K. Lane, secretary of the interior, appointed a board to study how cost of irrigation farming
could be reduced.

This board, headed by Elwood Mead,
formerly in charge of irrigation work in

Above, the kind of land Uncle Sam will make ready for the planting of crops; below, a settler leveling a plot, work he will be saved by the new plan.

Australia, has recommended that the government clear and level land and prepare it for irrigation farming, so when the settler goes upon it it shall be ready for him to plant a crop.

Furthermore, the cost of the work is to be pro-rated among the number of farms on the project and spread over twenty years, as a part of the construction charge of the project. This will relieve the settler of the outlay necessary to prepare his unit for cultivation.

The plan is to be tried on the Truckee-Carson project, in Nevada, which has

(By H. B. Hunt.)

New York, Nov. 1.—The spectacle of Roosevelt and Hughes "playing both

beat President Wilson for re-election should prove a boomerang that will win
for Wilson the support of all fair-thinking and progressive voters, declares

former law partner of Senator La Fol-

Roe believes a republican victory this year will lose to the country all the gains made in the last few years, and

"Well, well, one learns something new every day. I never knew it was such a luxury to live until a couple of days after I began to eat 'O-Eat-
It.' Simply because like most people,
I had been going on for years in the same old way. Thought I was feeling pretty fair, only constipated and bilious once in a while, with headaches and lazy feeling in the morning. Kind of expected it now and then. But, after eating that luscious regulating food,
'O-Eat-It,' I feel such a sense of lightness, well-being, energy and clear-headedness; it seems a new world."

"Why? The brain in the various grains that grow is known to be the most effective, easiest, most thorough bowel,
body and liver regulator known to man.
Heretofore brain has never been used successfully in food. It was always heavy, tasteless. By a remarkable new process, 'O-Eat-It,' made up of over one-third of grain—grain a greater quantity than ever used in food—is made extraordinarily luscious and light as a feather. It is a combination of rich grains—nature's greatest builder of tissue, brain, blood and brain."

"O-Eat-It" takes the place of the white-flour bread and breakfast foods
that cause so much constipation, clogging of livers and stagnation of vital organs.

"O-Eat-It" comes in crisp, ready-to-eat slices of nut-brown toast, eaten as it is, or served in a variety of delicious
ways.

Stop constipation, biliousness, headache and tiredness. Regulate the liver, feel fine all over all the time. (Give it to the children, too.)

CHARLES EVASION HUGHES ANSWERS A FEW QUESTIONS

STAND BY PRESIDENT ADVISES GEN. WINKLER

Milwaukee's Most Eminent Citizen Out Strongly for Wilson.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 1.—Milwaukee's most distinguished citizen, a lifelong republican and a native of Germany, is for President Wilson, first, last and all the time.

He is Gen. F. C. Winkler, for years a leader in the republican ranks and a man known from one end of the state to the other. And Gen. Winkler is not beating about the bush. He is out for Wilson's re-election and he is proud of it.

It was on the occasion of the president's visit to this city several months ago that Gen. Winkler was provoked into Milwaukee's leading citizen. A non-partisan committee of business and professional men was appointed to select a man to introduce the nation's executive at the great mass meeting in the Auditorium.

This committee went over lists of representative citizens, and Gen. Winkler was the unanimous choice.

It was several weeks later that Gen. Winkler made public his determination to vote for Wilson.

"I make claim to no exceptional patriotism; I have simply done what seemed to me my duty. Like other men, I take my positions according to my convictions," said Gen. Winkler.

"The last three years have been a strenuous period for the president. The responsibilities thrown upon him, the difficulties and perplexing questions that have beset him, have far exceeded those of any other man living on this continent."

"He was president of the United States. Every step he took, every move he made, had to be viewed from the standpoint of that high office. The rules of international law and the laws of his country were his guide. The maintenance of the rights and peace of his country and the protection of its citizens were his necessary aims."

"To the discharge of those duties President Wilson brought unquestioned devotion, very great ability and steady firmness of judgment, coupled with the moderation becoming to his great office.

"While the most frantic of wars involves all Europe, the United States is in the full enjoyment of peace. Hindsight, to be sure, will find its flaws, but that is cheap logic. I am deeply persuaded that no man in the presidential chair could, with safety to our country, have pursued a substantially different course from that of President Wilson, or conducted it with fewer errors. His course, founded on the acknowledged principles of international law, has been just and impartial to all warring nations."

"I know that this last proposition has been severely arraigned and not infrequently denounced with unbecoming violence. I make no challenge of the sincerity of its critics. But one cannot resist the conviction that their judgment is warped by highly excited sympathies. It is true that the sympathies are natural; but it is also true that in their tendency excited feelings are very misleading and when not rigidly controlled, lead to biased and untrustworthy judgments. I, too, have racial sympathies, and the experiences of a lifetime have taught me the severe discipline required, especially on political subjects, to subordinate feelings where unalloyed reason is called for."

"We are still in the throes of the European conflict, and also in struggle for a method with Mexico. In both cases the cause of America is in the hands of its president. While he is, in undoubted good faith, bending all his energies to maintain our rights, our interests and our honor, should we not stand by him and sustain his hands? By contemptuous sneers at his 'incompetence and inefficiency' are we not like the bird that before its own nest? By throwing him out of office and putting an untried man in his place, do we enhance the strength and prestige of our country? Do we not proclaim to those with whom we have controversies that we are an unstable lot, likely to undo tomorrow what we have laboriously accomplished today? ARE WE A NATION?"

HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH CONTROVERSY

Gen. French Recommends Tests of All Makes of Machine Guns.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1.—The special board named by Secretary of War Baker to consider machine guns for the United States army has decided tests previously made, by which the Benet-Mercier gun was adopted and the Lewis gun turned down, were "INSUFFICIENT."

A report now ready recommends a series of exhaustive tests, of a large number of different guns, including the Lewis.

The previous tests were made by the United States board of ordnance. The Lewis gun, turned down, was the invention of a United States army officer, Isaac Lewis, who then took his gun to Europe, where it is doing the most effective work of any machine gun in use.

The ordnance board has been attacked from many sides for turning down the Lewis gun.

General Francis H. French, of the general staff, who heads the board named by Baker, says the board has nothing to do with the Lewis gun controversy.

Unofficially, everybody in the war department is watching to see what will happen to the Lewis gun.

"We have recommended tests of every machine gun we can get hold of," said General French. "We called on all manufacturers and inventors and advertised in the press."

"How long will it take to make the tests?" I asked.

"That depends first, on whether Secretary Baker approves our recommendation, and second, on how long it will take manufacturers to supply guns for tests."

"Will the fact that the army has adopted the Benet-Mercier have any influence on the board's conclusions?" I asked.

"Not at all," said the general. "Two navy officers have been added to the original board, and the navy

POTATOES ARE STILL ON AN UPWARD CLIMB

Quietness Prevailed in All the Fort Wayne Markets Wednesday.

King wheat and king spuds have exchanged places in the spotlight. The latter has replaced the former in the way of a sensational climb and now has its rival ousted. Spuds are selling near the $2 a bushel mark at the present time. Indications are that it will keep on climbing for some time at least. The stopping point cannot be determined at this time by local dealers.

Quietness prevailed in nearly all the Fort Wayne markets. Buying and selling was done on a minimum scale. Receipts were small and no changes in prices were quoted by dealers. Wheat prices remain at $1.74 and $1.76 a bushel.

New corn is also on rampage and prices were boosted nearly 5 cents on the bushel. Old corn supplies have nearly become exhausted, accounting for the rise in new corn prices. The product brought 73 and 77 cents on the market Wednesday.

Hog prices are unchanged and local packers state that it is doubtful which way the price will go. However, the markets in large trading centers is strong and it is possible that prices will be boosted.

During the month of October City Weighmaster B. W. Skelton weighed a total of 1,657 loads of hay and grain. They are listed as follows: Hay, 475; corn, 150; oats, 141; miscellaneous, 981.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Wheat prices today continued to feel the bearish effect of the serious situation in regard to possible diplomatic difficulties between the United States and Germany. Bullish crop advices from Argentina and from Europe seemed to be lost sight of temporarily. Opening quotations, which ranged from 1/2c to 1 1/2c lower, with December at $1.87 1/2@1.88 and May at $1.84 1/2@1.85 1/2, were followed by a slight rally, then a more decided fresh downturn.

Corn weakened with wheat. After opening 1/2c to 3/4c lower, the market underwent a material decline all around. Oats paralleled the setbacks in other cereals. Scarcity of offerings lifted provisions, despite lower quotations on hogs.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Nov. 1.—Overnight developments probably accounted for the irregular trend of today's opening, many active issues recording fractional declines. The movement was soon reversed, however, under lead of Crucible and Republic Steels, Pressed Steel Car, Central Leather, and the paper shares and other equipments and specialties in which gains ranged from substantial fractions to over 3 points. The coal shares featured the railway group, Reading and Norfolk and Western soon advancing 2 points. United States Steel shaded slightly with shipping issues at the outset, but later developed marked strength.

Profit-taking and another drive against the motors provoked some reaction in the first hour, but this was more than offset by the strength of shipping paper, leather and metal issues. Atlantic Gulf and West Indies common and preferred scored new records at 110 and 72 1/2, respectively, also Central Leather at 98 1/2, American Zinc preferred at 87, American Steel Foundries at 66 1/2 and American Writing Paper preferred at 62 1/2. Sentiment was favorably influenced by the increased dividends on American Smelting and Great Northern Ore, the latter gaining 1 1/2 points. Bonds were firm.

UP TO COMMISSIONERS.

Indianapolis, Nov. 1.—An opinion to the effect that the Indiana state laws do not permit the employment of a superintendent of a poor farm on a salary with an understanding that he is to supply and pay for the help, equipment and stock, has been given by Attorney General Evan B. Stotsenburg. The opinion was asked by the Indiana state board of charities. The attorney general said the Indiana laws provide a superintendent may be employed at a salary by county commissioners, but for the equipment, supplies and assistance at the asylum the commissioners fix the allowances and compensations. Mr. Stotsenburg said that to allow the superintendent to furnish the help, equipment, stock and supplies would bring him under the law which prohibited an officer of the county being interested in public contracts.

EXPECTS SOCIALISTS TO POLL 4,000 VOTES

Four thousand votes will be polled by the socialists in the Twelfth congressional district, according to a prediction made Wednesday by L. Lloyd Armstrong, the socialist candidate for congress. Mr. Armstrong has been in every county in the district and has made a strenuous campaign. He says his meetings have been well attended. The socialists two-years ago polled approximately 2,200 votes and Mr. Armstrong confidently expects this number to be almost doubled.

On Friday evening the socialist candidate for congress, will speak in the city hall at Garrett and one evening, the date to be determined later, he will speak at Monroeville. The shop meetings will be continued. On next Thursday evening A. C. Wodebauer, of Cleveland, will speak on the subject of socialism in the assembly-room of the courthouse.

STRAW VOTE IS TAKEN.

The division storekeepers of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh who are holding a meeting in this city took a straw vote Tuesday which resulted as follows: Hughes, 11; and Wilson, 11; neither party has a chance.

MAILS BETWEEN U.S. AND GERMANY TO GO IN SUBMARINES

UNCLE SAM TO ACCEPT OFFER

Will Give Direct Communication, Avoiding British Censorship.

DEUTSCHLAND HERE ON SECOND VOYAGE

Famous Commercial Submarine Comes With Big Cargo of Chemicals.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1.—The post-office department is prepared to accept a proposal submitted by Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador that mails between this country and Germany be transported in merchant submarines. Announcement to this effect was made today by Otto Prager, second assistant postmaster general.

The arrival of the Deutschland at New London today revived the probability of a regular submarine mail service between the United States and Germany. Soon after the Deutschland arrived at Baltimore on her first trip representatives of the owners through the German ambassador officially suggested to the post-office department that such a service be established.

Establishment of a regular mail service by submarine undoubtedly would have a great effect upon exchange between the United States and Germany and furnish American business interests with connections in Germany with means of doing business directly as well as avoiding British censorship and seizure of securities.

Report His Arrival.

Captain Paul Koenig, commander of the Deutschland, today officially reported his arrival at New London to Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, saying that he had brought the embassy a packet of dispatches from Berlin. A number of the dispatches are believed to be duplicates of those supposed to have been lost with the Bremen.

Dr. George Ahrens, an attaché of the embassy, was sent to New London as the personal representative of the ambassador who will follow later. It is believed that the Deutschland will start on her return trip possibly next week with medical supplies urgently needed by the German military forces.

DEUTSCHLAND ARRIVES SAFELY.

Brings Big Cargo of Dyestuffs, Chemicals and Medicines.

New London, Nov. 1.—The German submarine Deutschland which arrived here at 2:15 o'clock this morning from Bremen after a voyage of 21 days, has a cargo of 750 tons of dye stuffs, medicines and chemicals. A gang of stevedores was prepared to remove the cargo, but permission has not yet been granted by the customs officials.

Neither Captain Koenig nor Captain F. Hinch, of the Eastern Forwarding company, were communicative as to details of the trip across the Atlantic, but they promised to see newspaper men late in the afternoon. They pleaded that they were too busy with details of the unloading.

Crowds thronged the dock during the forenoon in the hope of getting a glimpse of the craft, but they were disappointed. The submarine is so well camouflaged in her pocket that not even her masts show. Policemen and detectives keep the crowds moving.

Submerged But Twice.

On her trip of twenty-one days to this country the Deutschland submerged only twice. If the crew saw any British or French warships on her trip Captain Koenig would not admit it. "At any

HANLY AND PARTY ARE COMING FRIDAY

Through a mistake on the part of the publicity director of the prohibition national committee, announcement has been made in all the newspapers that J. Frank Hanly, prohibition candidate for president, and his running mate, Ira Landrith, would be in Fort Wayne Saturday morning. Mr. Hanly and Mr. Landrith will be here on Friday evening and will deliver addresses in the Plymouth Congregational church and the assembly room of the court house. The Hanly party will leave Richmond Friday afternoon in the prohibition special and will stop at Winchester, Bern and Portland.

CAMPAIGN NOT TO INTERFERE

Will Not Affect Investigation of Sinking of Marina and Rowanmore.

GERMANY IS ASKED TO SUPPLY DETAILS

Lansing's Request is Supplemented by Message by Von Bernstorff.

Washington, Nov. 1.—Secretary Lansing authorized a formal statement today that the progress of the political campaign would in no way affect the investigation of submarine attacks, and that there had been no change in the United States government's policy.

Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, sent a wireless message to his government asking that he be furnished immediately, by wireless, with all the details available regarding the sinking of the Marina.

Week or More Needed.

A week or more may elapse before the United States government can form an official opinion on the sinking of the British steamers, Marina and Rowanmore, by German submarines, it became evident today. The American embassy at Berlin has been instructed to obtain information and with all haste possible the German version of the attacks. The submarines could not return to their bases for several days, however, and transmission of the commanders' reports would require some time. Until these were available it was not believed the Washington government would take any drastic action.

Officials took cognizance of news dispatches asserting the Marina had been torpedoed without warning and several Americans were missing, but they continued to believe full investigation might show the vessel had lost her immunity as a merchantman by trying to escape or to ram the submarine. They also made plain that affidavits of American survivors must be awaited before an official opinion is formed. The only important point to be determined in regard to the Rowanmore was whether the submarine fired on boats carrying the crew from the abandoned ship, as was reported by sailors.

LIST AMERICANS LOST.

Consul Frost Preparing Affidavits From Survivors.

London, Nov. 1.—A telegram received at the American embassy this morning from Wesley Frost, American consul at Queenstown, gives the names of the following Americans as having been lost on the Marina:

HOUSING PROBLEM IS DEMANDING ATTENTION

Fort Wayne May Be Aroused to Need of Apartment Houses.

Fort Wayne's housing problem may be brought to the notice of citizens as a serious question through the Fort Wayne Real Estate exchange, a meeting of which soon may be addressed by an expert on housing conditions in some of the larger cities, according to an announcement made Wednesday by Lee J. Ninde.

With the employment of 3,500 additional men when new buildings of the General Electric company are completed this city will have a serious housing problem, Mr. Ninde states. Fred S. Hunting, general manager of the General Electric company, is considering the housing question in the interest of his company.

Paul Steinberger, president of the Chicago Real Estate board, may be invited to Fort Wayne to address the real estate exchange on housing conditions. He probably has ten million apartment properties under his direction, Mr. Ninde asserts, and is an authority on housing methods. L. J. Bart will take up the possibility of securing Mr. Steinberger.

Fort Wayne probably has fewer apartment houses than any city of its size in the country, according to Mr. Ninde, and the real estate exchange will endeavor to get before the people need of more such buildings.

PREPARING TO THROW HERRMANN OVERBOARD

Chicago, Nov. 1.—August Herrmann, for years chairman of the National baseball commission, is to be deposed, according to a statement credited to President Johnson, of the American league today.

Mr. Johnson, with President Taft, of the National league, and Mr. Herrmann, constitute the commission. "American league club owners long have chafed under the present composition of the commission," President Johnson was quoted as saying. "The new commission will be composed of two major league presidents and a person not affiliated in any way with the National or American leagues."

ARRIVES AT BUFFALO.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 1.—After shaking hands with crowds at fifteen cities and towns in New York state, President Wilson arrived here at 1:20 o'clock this afternoon on his final trip of the campaign. His train was twenty minutes late because of the frequent stops en route.

The president was cheered on his arrival by a crowd at the station and along the streets through which he rode. He was immediately taken on an automobile ride through the downtown section of Buffalo and then to the Elliott club, where a luncheon was given in his honor.

Bronze Bust of Perry A. Randall Will Arrive Later Part of Month.

Trees which would obstruct the view have been removed, the approach to the monument has been graded and sodded, so that when the bronze bust of Perry A. Randall arrives nothing more will need be done with the exception of putting it in place. The committee in charge directed the work and the site in Swinney park now presents a very pretty picture.

The casting of the bust has been delayed on account of a strike among the bronze workers. The strike has now been settled, however, but on account of the many orders it is impossible to get a hurry-up order in. The order for the bust has been placed for the past month and all efforts are being made to have the company cast the bust as soon as possible.

The chairman of the committee, Col. D. N. Foster, states that it is his opinion that the bust will arrive in Fort Wayne about the middle of this month. The factory will send word in a few days as to when it is likely that it will be ready to ship. As soon as this word comes plans will be started for the rendition of an appropriate program for the unveiling which will follow a few days after the arrival of the cast.

INJURED WHEN CAUGHT UNDER FALLING LUMBER

Jacob Egly, aged 67 years, a foreman at the Horton Manufacturing company, was painfully injured Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock when a large pile of lumber fell on him and he was caught beneath it. Mr. Egly, who resides at 120 Esmond street, was taken to Hope hospital, where his injuries were attended. Later in the evening he was removed to his home.

Mr. Egly, in company with several workmen, had gone into a dry kiln to remove some lumber which had undergone the drying process. He was standing near by directing the work when a large amount of it fell. He was caught squarely beneath it. His injuries consisted of a badly bruised side and a deep cut in his head. Another workman was but slightly injured.

PITCHER NEHF IS WED.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 1.—Arthur Neff, pitcher for the Boston Nationals, was married in Washington, Ind., this morning to Elizabeth B. May, of that place. Miss May formerly taught school here.

The annual winter meeting of the Central league will be held here Sunday. Each of the eight clubs will be represented, as a change in the make-up of the league is probable. President E. W. Dickerson will arrive here Saturday to make preliminary arrangements for the session.

Bitter Fighting is Raging on Rumanian-Transylvanian Front.

RUSSIANS AGAIN MEET A REPULSE

Prince Leopold's Army is Stoutly Defending Lemberg Approach.

Today's War News Given in Summary

Important successes for both the Teutonic and Rumanian armies are claimed in today's dispatches relative to the fighting along the Rumanian-Transylvanian frontier. Official Berlin announces a German victory southwest of Kronstadt where Rumanian positions west of the Predal road have been captured, together with ten cannon and seven machine guns. Southeast of Rothenburg pass also, Gen. von Falkenhayn's troops are reported to be making progress.

Reports of the Rumanian success are unofficial, based on a Bucharest dispatch received in Rome. It declares the Austro-German forces have retired from the region of Campulung, in northern Rumania, pursued over the frontier by Rumanian troops which wiped out four hostile battalions.

Further Russian attacks on the troops of Prince Leopold, defending the approaches to Lemberg have been repulsed, Berlin declares. It records heavy losses for the Russians in five successive assaults on positions recently won by the Germans on the easterly bank of the Narayukva.

On the Somme front there has been a renewal of intensive fighting. The French again exerted pressure near the point of the entente wedge into the German lines between Saillies and Les Boeufs, advancing last night, according to Paris, in the vicinity of the last named place. Berlin records the failure of British attempts to advance along the mile and a half line running northwest from Les Boeufs to Gueudecourt and at Courcellette.

The Germans were on the offensive at Saillies-Saillies, but Paris reports they were defeated there in a violent engagement.

In Macedonia on the Struma front, northeast of Saloniki, British troops have pushed further into the Bulgarian lines, capturing the village of Barakli-Azuma, according to Paris today. Three hundred prisoners were taken by the British.

Berlin, Nov. 1.—The war office announces a success in Rumania. Austro-German troops penetrate Rumanian positions near the Predal road, capturing ten cannon and seventeen machine guns.

Strong efforts were made by the Russians yesterday to recapture positions taken by the Austro-German forces on the Narayukva river, in Galicia, southeast of Lemberg. The Russians charged five times, says today's official statement, but were defeated with heavy losses.

An attack made by British troops on the Somme front in the vicinity of Courcellette, last night, broke down under the German fire, the war office announced today. Vain efforts also were made by the British to advance the Gueudecourt-Les-Boeufs line.

GERMANS FORCED TO RETIRE.

Five Battalions Annihilated by Rumanians is Report at Rome.

London, Nov. 1.—(Noon).—The Austro-German forces have retired from the region of Campulung, in northern Rumania, pursued by the Rumanians, who have passed over the frontier in the movement, according to a dispatch from Bucharest, says a wireless message from Rome today.

Four hostile battalions were annihilated by the Rumanians, according to this report.

TOO MUCH SWIMMING.

Donald D. Durbrow, formerly of this city, is critically ill at his home in Jackson, Mich., as the result of blood poisoning. One leg has been amputated. The blood poisoning is attributed to spending too much time in swimming, as he was regarded as an expert. There is little hope for his recovery. Durbrow is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Durbrow.

CHIHUAHUA CITY NOW ISOLATED FROM BORDER

Rail and Telegraphic Communication is Entirely Cut Off.

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 1.—Railroad and telegraphic communication with Chihuahua City from the border have been interrupted and Chihuahua City is now isolated as north, south and west of the Chihuahua state capital.

All train service between Juarez and Chihuahua City has been annulled.

ARCHITECT IS CHOSEN FOR 'Y'

Charles R. Weatherhogg Will Design New Fort Wayne Building.

CHICAGO FIRM TO ASSIST IN WORK

Non-Payment of Subscriptions is Hampering Site Committee.

The building committee of the Young Men's Christian association has announced the selection of Charles R. Weatherhogg as architect for the new Y. M. C. A. building. Fort Wayne has so many first-class architects that it was a very difficult matter for the committee to make a choice.

Mr. Weatherhogg has, with the consent of the committee, arranged with Shattuck & Hussey, of Chicago, to act as consulting architects. The latter firm specializes on Y. M. C. A. buildings and have planned or been consulting architects on more than 300 of the finest buildings in the country. They are acknowledged the greatest experts in this country on swimming pool construction. Thus Fort Wayne will have not only the service of Mr. Weatherhogg, but also the benefit of the expert advice of one of the greatest firms of architects in the world. The city is thus assured of a Y. M. C. A. building second to none in the country.

Has Been Hampered.

The building and site committee has been somewhat hampered in its selection of a site on account of the slowness of many in paying the first installment of their subscriptions. This installment was due September 1 and those who have not yet paid are urged to do so at once in order that a site may be purchased. Over twenty sites have been under consideration, but the choice has narrowed down to four. The final selection and purchase cannot be made, however, until those who have subscribed to the fund pay up.

Checks should be made payable to the Y. M. C. A. city department, and either mailed or delivered to 1407 Calhoun street. This is the address of the Railroad Y. M. C. A., and Mr. Pelra, secretary of the city department, has his office at that location.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS TO HEAR M'NAGNY

Phil McNagney, candidate for representative from Allen and Whitley counties, will speak tonight before young democrats of Allen county at the new clubrooms, 828 1/2 Calhoun street. There will be a smoker and social session. Elder Porter will preside.

It is planned to make this meeting one of the largest yet held by the young men's organizations of the county. The speaker is a son of the former law partner of Vice-President Thomas R. Marshall at Columbia City and a brilliant talker.

GOING TO HISTORIC PLAIN.

General Parker Orders Army Review at Resaca de la Palma.

Brownsville, Tex., Nov. 1.—The historic plain of Resaca de la Palma, where General Taylor defeated a Mexican force in 1816, will be reviewed again with the tramp of an army in the review of the entire Brownsville division of 11,000 men now on border duty, ordered for today by Brigadier General James Parker. The review is in honor of Major General Arthur Murray, chairman of the executive committee of the American Red Cross society, who is on a tour of inspection along the border.

PROSECUTION TO ASK DEATH

No Leniency to Be Shown Charles First for Murder of Mrs. Keller.

ACCUSED ENTERS PLEA OF GUILTY

Farmer Admits Crime Was Premeditated—Full Confession is Made.

Life of Charles First, Abolt farmer, will be asked by the prosecution as explanation for the murder of Mrs. Bessie Keller, if First pleads guilty before circuit court, as he says he intends to do.

Deputy Prosecutor John Hoffman expects to represent the state in the case against First before the higher court. He says he will ask the maximum penalty, which is death, for the Huntington county farmer, unless a new angle is presented in the case.

First is charged with first-degree murder. Law of Indiana provides one of two punishments for the crime—either life imprisonment or death. It is for the judge in circuit court to fix the sentence in the event the man is found guilty.

First says he will plead guilty before the court because he is the man who crept up to the house and shot Mrs. Bessie Keller, 30, through the heart with a shotgun when she stepped on the back porch at the home of the Pierson brothers on the Miller road, near Brooklyn avenue at 6:30 Monday evening.

Prosecution will plead for the heaviest penalty because of the "aberration" of the murder, Hoffman says. There was nothing spontaneous in the action of First, who left work Monday afternoon to take his shotgun and ride to Fort Wayne on an interurban on purpose to kill Mrs. Keller, the prosecution says.

First, who is a farmer living near Abolt, pleaded guilty to the charge of first-degree murder in police court on Wednesday morning. He was bound over to the circuit court. He is held in the county jail without bond.

Rights Carefully Explained.

Rights of First under the law were carefully explained to him by Judge Kerr and Deputy Prosecutor Hoffman in police court.

"I plead guilty," First said quietly. Judge Kerr explained more at length and asked First if he was sure that he understood what it meant to enter such a plea to the most serious charge known.

"I am guilty," First said a second time. Speedy trial will be asked for First. He does not expect to employ an attorney, he said. He will plead guilty, before circuit court, he says.

Deputy Prosecutor Hoffman is in possession of the signed statement made by First before Police Chief Lenz, Detective Sergeants Junk and Spillner, Deputy Prosecutor Hayes and Coroner J. E. McCardle Tuesday afternoon. The confession is a lengthy document of three typewritten pages telling all of First's acts from Monday morning until his arrest Monday night.

Manner Has Not Changed.

Manner of First had not changed with the hours he has been in custody and through the questioning on the crime. He was calm and collected as he stood in police court Wednesday morning. His only change from the day before was absence of the long black overcoat which he wore when he came to the city to kill the woman with whom he was madly in love and which he kept on all day Tuesday as he lounged about the police station.

He is a simple farmer whose entire time during the past six years has been taken up in cultivating and improving the 120 acres of land near Abolt. He stood before Judge Kerr in the garb that he had worn while mending damaged stalls in his barn on Monday.

His faded overalls are patched at the knees. His coal black hair is long and four days' growth of black stubby beard covers the part of his swarthy face not shadowed by a moustache. In police court he stood with hands quietly folded before him and the worn black slouch hat dangling from his fingers. His worn coat is brown. His rough shoes are coated with dirt.

First was goaded to madness from days of brooding over treatment he had received from Mrs. Keller, he says. On Monday he could not bear the anguish any longer, he says, and decided that if the woman would not live with him she should not belong to anybody.

Mrs. Keller had taken more than $120 from him, First says. He had bought many articles for her during the two years she lived with him as housekeeper, on his farm, he tells. She promised to marry him, he says. He bought her a wedding dress, he relates. "One of the nicest ones she could pick out," First told detectives.

Mrs. Keller started to cut out the garment, according to First's story. She put off the wedding. Three different times she left his place and each time

Factory Employees on an 8-Hour Day Greet Wilson

Johnson City, N. Y., Nov. 1.—When President Wilson's special train passed through here today the executive was greeted by thousands of tel employees of a shoe company which recently established the eight-hour day. Perched on railroad cars and buildings and massed in the freight yards, the workmen and their families repeatedly applauded the president, who shook hands with many persons.

Alluding to the shoe company's action in effecting an eight-hour day as an indication of a spirit which diminishes feeling between capital and labor, the president said:

"I want to express my regret that I was not able to be here last Saturday to celebrate what I think was a very significant thing, the action of the firm of Endicott, Johnson & Co., in giving its employees eight hours, not only for the reasons that are generally given but also for better reasons, because they regard the men and all their employees as members of the same business family with them. If that sort of feeling existed everywhere there would be no question between capital and labor. I want to congratulate you upon living under such auspices and tell you how very much obliged to you I am for this real welcome."

ARRIVES AT BUFFALO.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 1.—After shaking hands with crowds at fifteen cities and towns in New York state, President Wilson arrived here at 1:20 o'clock this afternoon on his final trip of the campaign. His train was twenty minutes late because of the frequent stops en route.

Electrical Apparatus Shows Miniature Mining Plant in Operation.

Washington, Nov. 1.—Dynamos, motors and other electrical apparatus whizzed and whirled today in the supreme court chamber at the capitol when the justices viewed the miniature mining plant in full operation. The demonstration, unique in the court history, was held to give the justices an actual view of a mining plant in operation, one used in many countries and attacked as invalid in a case recently argued.

Heavy mahogany benches and chairs were shifted to install the model machinery and the whole progress of concentrating area by the process of what is known as oil "rotation" process was worked out. Mining engineers and attorneys had charge of the demonstration in which keen interest was shown. Electrical power to operate the improved machinery, which included rough kitchen tables, search lights, a battery of cells and numerous tinware was secured from the capitol's plant. The Minerals Separation, Ltd., a British corporation, and the Minerals Separation American syndicate is seeking to enjoin alleged infringement of its patented rotation process in a suit against James M. Hyde, a mining engineer of Butte and Palo Alto, Cal.

MINT HAS BROKEN ALL RECORDS FOR COINAGE

Philadelphia Turned Out Over 45,000,000 Pieces During October.

Philadelphia, Nov. 1.—All records for the number of pieces coined were broken by the United States mint in this city during October. The total number of coins turned out was 45,231,413, or more than one-fourth the coinage of any of the past five years, the yearly output averaging around 150,000,000 pieces. Included in the month's coinage were 10,013 McKinley memorial gold dollars, 6,000,000 old design dimes, 3,000,000 new design dimes, 6,500,200 five-cent pieces and 25,011,200 bronze pennies with a value of $1,643,015. In addition 1,500,000 pieces of five-centavos for the government of Salvador, of the value of $75,000, and 50,000 gold "pound blanks" for the government of Peru, of the value of $243,325 were made.

Mr. Frost has prepared a joint affidavit from the Americans who reached Crook-haven and similar documents from American survivors at Bearhaven. No Americans were killed by the boiler explosion. Those who lost their lives were drowned as the life boats were launched. According to his information a submarine which emerged after the second torpedo was fired, was seen plainly by Americans on the Marina, but did not communicate with the steamship or offer assistance to the small boats which were in deadly peril from the rough seas.

The names of George Sedbury and House have not been given before as among the Americans who lost their lives. Last night's report from London said six Americans had been drowned, two men named Brown, two named Thomas, one named Middleton and one Robertson.

AMERICANS GIVE DETAILS.

Survivors Tell of Experiences When Marina Was Torpedoed.

Cork, Nov. 1.—Fifteen Americans who reached Cork Tuesday night with the other members of the crew of the Marina after the steamer had been sunk by a submarine are today under the care of the American consul. "I saw two torpedoes," said Robert Preston, one of the crew, "while I was getting into the boat of Mr. Smith (the only surviving officer). The second explosion came after we were clear of the vessel. The first torpedo had given the vessel a tremendous list. The second 'glided' it and shook it from stem to stern and broke it up so that it sank immediately."

"I saw three of the crew running up the stern as the vessel gave its last lurch," Capt. Brown was the coolest man on board. During the launching of the boats he saw that every man visible was in the boat, then jumped for a boat himself but missed it in the rough sea and was drowned before our eyes."

Questioned further in regard to the presence of two submarines Preston said: "There were two plainly visible from the bridge. The first one attacked us on the starboard while the other lay off some distance to port doing observation duty."

"The ship was struck squarely in the bunkers," said Robert Hay, a member of the engine room staff. "The bunkers fell in and the engines were dismantled. Two men were killed in the stockhold and several others were scalded."

"Three boats got away; a fourth was smashed. Orders were given to see particularly that all Americans among passengers or crew were saved. The wireless station tried to summon aid, but his gear was dismantled by the first torpedo."

F. F. Smith, the only one of the Marina's officers now alive, said: "The explosion of the first torpedo threw me from a settee. I rushed up to where the boats already were being launched. We got 26 men into my boat. There were seven in the second boat."

"When we pulled away I saw Second Mate Robertson crushed to death between his boat and the listing ship. We saw several ladies in the water. After leaving the ship we had a terrible experience. The sea was rough and the weather extremely bitter. Every man, although well-nigh perishing with cold, shock and exhaustion, took turns at the oars until 8:30 o'clock the next morning when we were picked up."

ATTEMPTED TO ESCAPE.

But London Says Rowanmore Was Attacked After Stopping.

London, Tuesday, Oct. 31 (delayed).—The British steamer Rowanmore, from Baltimore for Liverpool, sunk last week by a submarine, attempted to escape from the attacking undersea boat, but the latter continued to shell the ship after she stopped, according to affidavits from members of the crew procured by the American consul at Liverpool. The principal details of the sinking extracted from a number of affidavits are as follows: On Oct. 26 at 8:45 a. m. the steamer was 130 miles from Fastnet when shells began to burst about her. A moment later the lookout saw the submarine's helm put hard astern, bringing the attacking craft directly astern. Early in the chase two shells struck the bridge.

The pursuit continued until 9:30 o'clock, five or six shells in the meantime striking the steamer. The captain of the Rowanmore stopped his engine and hoisted signals that he intended to abandon the ship, but the submarine continued to shell her as the boats were being lowered and when they were in the water the occupants were drenched by spray from falling shells. The submarine then headed for the lifeboats, while one of its officers shouted, "Get out of our way or we'll run you down," but swerved when near the boats, passed them and then turned back, the commander calling out: "I am sorry for you, but you are very foolish. You will probably all drown."

The captain of the Rowanmore was ordered on board the submarine, but declined to obey, although the command was twice given, until a revolver was pointed at his head. After the captain had been taken on board, the submarine fired a torpedo at the Rowanmore, which sank. The submarine then submerged and was not seen again. About three hours later the crew was picked up.

Two white Americans were on board. They were George Murphy, of Brooklyn, and Albert Sessler, of Boston. Five Filipinos on board gave Liverpool addresses. The affidavits of Murphy and Sessler agree in stating that they saw no shells fired at the lifeboats after they were clear of the ship. The attack occurred at a time when the sea was very rough. In the documentary evidence the belief finds expression that the shelling of the ship after she had stopped was due to resentment at the failure to abandon her.

rate, they didn't see us," he is quoted as saying.

With Paul Hilken, an official of the Eastern Forwarding company, Captain Koenig motored to the customs house at noon and officially entered the arrival of his craft with James L. McGovern, collector of customs. A crowd near the customs house gave the captain a rousing cheer, which he acknowledged by doffing his hat. Many persons grasped his hand with congratulatory words. Later, with Mr. McGovern, he posed for photographers. After his visit to the customs house he returned to the Wall had dinner. Within a few days it is expected the Deutschland will officially enter her cargo. The value of the cargo is said to be $2,000,000.

When She Entered Harbor.

The German submarine entered the lower harbor shortly after midnight, coming in by the race at the entrance to Long Island sound. For several weeks the Eastern Forwarding company, agents for her owners, had a tug each night off Montauk point, ready to meet the Bremen, but the tug was withdrawn some time ago. It was evident that the forwarding company had some warning of the Deutschland's arrival, however, for a tug was engaged and Captain F. Hinch, of the company, accompanied by the health officer, steamed out to meet the submarine. The North German Lloyd steamer, Wilhelm, which had been at her dock here for a number of weeks awaiting the arrival of a German submarine freighter, let her searchlight play on the water, marking the path by which the Deutschland traveled to her wharf.

Boat Was Delayed.

Captain Koenig said that he had expected to leave Bremen on Oct. 1st, but that his boat was injured in a collision and forced to put back for repairs, which delayed her sailing for ten days. The captain and crew of twenty-five men were in excellent health and high spirits over the success of their second venture. The Deutschland carried clearance papers for "Baltimore or any Atlantic port." The boat was no sooner moored than she was screened from sight by a pontoon carrying a high fence. Her crew went on board the Wilhelm, where quarters were awaiting them.

A score of negro stevedores were sent aboard the Wilhelm in readiness to begin breaking out the cargo of the submarine at daylight or as soon as James McGovern, of Bridgeport, collector of customs for the Connecticut district, had given the necessary permission.

Captain Hinch said that later in the day Captain Koenig probably would give out a statement regarding his trip across the Atlantic.

Captain Koenig said that except for unusually rough weather the trip across had been uneventful. The Deutschland's cargo is said to consist mainly of chemicals and medicines.

Arrival a Surprise.

While New London has been expecting the arrival of a German submarine for some months, the Deutschland's appearance was a surprise except to officials of the Eastern Forwarding company, the agents here of the submarine.

Following rumors many days old, oft repeated, the Deutschland made its first appearance in American waters at 1:45 in the morning of July 9, when, etched by the vivid flashes of an electrical storm, the strange looking craft was seen by a pilot boat as she slipped into Chesapeake bay, after running the gauntlet of cruisers standing guard off the Virginia Capes. Her voyage of approximately 4,100 miles, made without a stop at any port, established a record for craft of the kind. The Deutschland was soon picked up by the tug Timmons, which had been at the Capes several days awaiting her arrival and conveyed up the bay to Baltimore, where she dropped anchor that night. On the first trip she brought a cargo of drestuffs, the value of which was estimated at from $500,000 to $1,000,000.

The arrival of the Deutschland at Baltimore created a new diplomatic problem. Was the ship, owing to its submarine characteristic, to be classed as a warship or as a peaceful merchantman? The American government at once sent naval experts to Baltimore to investigate. Capt. Koenig afforded the government officials every facility and they made a thorough inspection of the craft. The investigation resulted in the verdict that the Deutschland was a peaceful and unarmed merchant ship, incapable of conversion for warlike purposes without extensive structural changes.

After remaining in the United States territorial waters about three weeks, the Deutschland, heavily laden with a cargo of rubber and nickel, drew away from her pier August 1 and under her own power sailed from Baltimore on her homeward journey. American warships maneuvered outside the Virginia Capes to guard against any possible violation of American neutrality. The Capes were reached the following night with only the faithful tug Timmons and a newspaper boat in the vicinity. The vessel arrived at the mouth of the Weser river on the afternoon of August 22. There was great rejoicing through out Germany and Capt. Koenig was ordered to Berlin to make a personal report of his trip to the emperor. While no definite announcement of the Deutschland's leaving Bremen on a second trip was made, reports persisted during the

PROSECUTION

she came back to live with him again, he told.

Did Not Return This Time.

Finally she went away for good. She told him she was through with him and took the unfinished wedding gown with her, First says. Later he saw her wearing the garment, he tells. Incident after incident of her unfaithfulness were brought to his attention. He came to Fort Wayne and saw the woman he loved madly in company with other men. For a month he has brooded.

Monday morning he went to Roanoke. He returned home at noon. During the afternoon he mended stalls in his horse barn. "When the children came home from school," he quit work, he says. While he had been hammering away at the mending in the barn he had been worrying. When he quit his work he had settled his mind on one thing, "If Mrs. Keller would not stay with him, she should not belong to anybody."

First went to the house and took down his shot gun from a row of nails in a closet. He put the gun in a large grain sack. Then he walked down the road a mile to Miller's station, a cross roads interurban stop. He boarded a car for Fort Wayne.

Shades of darkness settled down about the farmer as he made his way from the interurban station to the home of Edward and Homer Pierson, where Mrs. Keller had been staying for several weeks. He carried the shot gun in the big sack. When near the house First stopped and removing the weapon from its container, he slipped up to the little white dwelling. Through a side window he watched Mrs. Keller and her small son, Ernest, and Homer Pierson, 19, at supper.

Waited Only a Minute.

First had but a minute to wait. Mrs. Keller arose from the table. She took a dish pan from the little kitchen table and opened the back door. Out upon the small back porch she walked and snatched the dish pan.

First stepped to the corner of the house. Mrs. Keller turned about towards the door again and First leveled his weapon. There was the sharp report. The dish pan clattered to the porch. Mrs. Keller, dying, staggered to the doorway to fall in the arms of Homer Pierson.

First walked quietly away. He had done what he came to town to carry out. He did not flee as detectives had been led to believe at the beginning. He walked to Taylor street and then down the L. E. & W. tracks towards the Rolling mills.

He threw away the shot gun because he did not want it to be found at his house, he said. He boarded an interurban car at the Rolling mills at 8:15. He was home in bed at nine o'clock.

Junk Signs Affidavit.

Detective Sergeant Junk, who was called on the case, went for First at one o'clock Tuesday morning. He brought the man to the station. First could not tell who he had seen from four o'clock until nine o'clock. Junk reported to Chief Lenz that First was probably the murderer. It was Junk who signed the affidavit which charges First with first degree murder.

First sat in the office at the police station until noon, Tuesday. After he had eaten lunch Lieutenant Grimme asked him, "Have you anything to say before we lock you up?"

"Yes, I killed the woman," First said quietly. "I want you to be easy with me because of the children."

First has six children, one girl and five boys. The oldest boy is sixteen years old. He is in charge of the farm while his father is held in jail charged with the murder. First's former wife has been dead for three years.

Pierson is Released.

Edward Pierson, 30, employed by the Brown Trucking company, with whom Mrs. Keller was staying and who has been held on a charge of the murder, was released Tuesday night after First had confessed. Homer, the brother held as a witness under $1,000 bond, was released Wednesday morning.

"It is a relief to me all right, to get out of this," said Edward Pierson, Wednesday. He recalls now, he told Police Chief Lenz, Wednesday, that he met First on Brooklyn avenue as the farmer was coming away from the scene of the murder Monday evening. First had the shot gun concealed under his long coat, Pierson says. His hat was drawn over his eyes. He seemed in no hurry.

The former husband of Mrs. Keller, who deserted the woman and her small son, three years ago, has been located, police say. He is employed in a munitions factory in Piqua, O., it is said.

Mrs. Keller's Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Bessie Keller will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of the mother, Mrs. Anthony Miller, 1313 Dixie street. Rev. C. W. Shoemaker will officiate. Interment will be made at Lindenwood.

25-cent "Danderine" Will Save Your Hair and Double Its Beauty.

Try This! Your Hair Gets Soft, Wavy, Abundant and Glossy at Once.

Save your hair! Beautify it! It is only a matter of using a little Danderine occasionally to have a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, wavy and free from dandruff. It is easy and inexpensive to have pretty, charming hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this—Advertisement.

FORMER RESIDENT DEAD.

Kendallville, Ind., Nov. 1.—Mrs. Herbert Knight, formerly a well known Kendallville woman, died Tuesday morning at Summitville, Ind., according to a telegram just received by Miss Libbie Fryer. No details concerning the cause of death were given in the dispatch. Her death will be a shock to the many friends of the Knight family, who resided here for several years. Mr. Knight was employed at the A. R. Otis drug store. Mr. and Mrs. Knight were active in social affairs and enjoyed a wide acquaintance in Kendallville.

OUCH! LUMBAGO! RUB PAINS FROM SORE, LAME BACK

Rub Backache Away With Small Trial Bottle of Old "St. Jacobs Oil."

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica or maybe from a strain, and you'll get relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil." Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on your back and out comes the pain. It is harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Lumber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and after using it just once, you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 69 years.—Advertisement.

FATALLY HURT.

Whitley County Farmer Caught Under Falling Shed.

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 1.—August Licker, one of the best-known farmers of Washington township, was caught under a falling bent of a tool and machine shed which was being erected on his farm Monday about noon, and was so badly injured that death resulted Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock.

According to the version of the affair given by Daniel Stallsmith, the carpenter who was putting up the building, Mr. Licker became confused in some manner and when the bent began to fall he ran in the wrong direction, going right under it instead of away from it. The shed for which they were erecting the frame work was to be 25x30 feet in size. Mr. Stallsmith, Mr. Licker and his two sons, Irvin and Otto, were raising the first bent. They had it well up and Mr. Stallsmith told the men to hold it till he went to the other end to straighten it up a little. His back was turned on Mr. Licker at that time, but he heard Irvin say "There she goes."

NEW COMPANY ORGANIZED.

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 1.—Announcement has just been made of the organization of the Ohio Sugar company, with F. H. Hubbard, of this city, as secretary and general manager. The company has a capital of $400,000 and it has purchased the big sugar plant of the Ottawa Sugar company at Ottawa, O. The Ottawa plant has been closed for two seasons and Mr. Hubbard, realizing the opportunities, organized the company to take over the plant and operate it. The organization was completed Oct. 17 at a meeting held at Holland, Mich., and the men back of the new company represent combined personal capital of more than two million dollars, nearly all of them being interested in the Holland-St. Louis company, which now operates sugar plants at Holland and St. Louis, Mich., and in this city.

INSTITUTE AT MARKE.

Marke, Ind., Nov. 1.—Marke is already making preparations for the farmers' institute, which will be held there Jan. 26 and 27. A corn and poultry show embracing Rock Creek and Union townships of both Huntington and Wells counties will be held in connection with the institute. The members of the executive committee from Huntington county are Roy Strouse and Jacob Vollmar and William Lee, of Union township. All farmers of the above townships are eligible as contestants in the shows. Every farmer is urged by the committee to select corn and show at Marke.

CRUELTY IS ALLEGED.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 1.—Alleged cruel and inhuman treatment Mrs. Ida M. Hill has filed suit in circuit court for a divorce from Levi Hill. The complaint says the couple were married Oct. 26, 1904, and lived together until July 4, 1915. Three children—James L., 15; Levi H., 12, and Edna B., 10—were born to the union. The complaint alleges the defendant has treated the plaintiff in a cruel and inhuman manner, that he failed to provide for the family and that he became intoxicated and abusive. Mrs. Hill asks the custody of the children.

EDITOR'S DAUGHTER DEAD.

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 1.—A heavy pall of sorrow was thrown over the home of Editor Harry S. Loring and wife, the former publisher of the Tribune in South Whitley, when their little daughter, aged 4 years 10 months and 3 days, passed away quietly Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock after an illness of three months from pericarditis and tonsillitis, and the sympathy of the hundreds of residents of Columbia City and South Whitley and vicinities is extended to the grief-stricken family in this sad hour of death.

NO MAINTENANCE EXPENSE FOR HARRISON HILL

One of the details of the plans for Harrison Hill, the new addition located in the angle formed by Calhoun street and Rutland boulevard, which is worthy of consideration from all promoters of new additions is the provision for five years' maintenance of the property. This provision not only includes clearing of snow from the walks in the winter time, but the cutting of weeds from the lots in the summer, and many prospective purchasers of lots for immediate building have been attracted to Harrison Hill through their appreciation of this feature.

Despite the fact that this feature as well as the scores of others which are unique to this addition, Harrison Hill lots are not sold at prices that could be considered high. Other details concerning this tract may be secured from Hilgemann & Schaaf, North American building.—Advertisement.

PASTORS STOP MASQUE BALL.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 1.—As a result of action taken by the ministers of the city the masked ball planned as a part of the Halloween festivities here was not a success. The ministers in a statement issued earlier in the day declared that dancing "en masque" affords cover for the innocent and the chaste. The statement says further: "The danger needs only to be stated to be appreciated. With the presence of promiscuous characters who cannot be excluded from so general an occasion we feel sure our people will show discrimination with reference to the round dance en masque. This statement is not to be regarded as a protest against a joyous spirit at this season, but rather as an effort to protect it."

OHIO ELECTRIC AGENT DEAD.

Delphos, Ohio, Nov. 1.—George Cooper, who is well known to many Delphos people, died at his home in Middle Point Saturday. Mr. Cooper was employed for some time as an operator of the sub-station for the Ohio Electric at Middle Point, and was widely known throughout this section. Mr. Cooper was about fifty years old and is survived by his wife and three children. The funeral of Mr. Cooper was held at Middle Point on Monday afternoon and burial in a cemetery at that place. Mr. Cooper was a member of the Ohio Electric Beneficial association and was popular among the employees of the road.

PRINT 19,000 BALLOTS.

Anuburn, Ind., Nov. 1.—Nineteen thousand county ballots are being printed for the use of the voters in DeKalb county next Tuesday. The registration records show that there are 9,176 voters in the county and the law requires that twice that many ballots be printed as there are voters. The county ballots will be printed on white paper and the state ballots are on colored stock. When the voter enters the voting booth he will be given two sheets, the one having the state ticket and the other the candidates on the county ticket.

PASSES FRAUDULENT CHECK.

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 1.—Lynn Shoemaker, a young man who has spent several years as a resident of Decatur, was arrested by the police at Indianapolis Monday evening and has been brought back to Decatur to answer to a charge of passing a fraudulent check. The check in the sum of $5 was cashed by George Tester, a business man of the city, he at the time supposing it to be good, but when it was taken to the bank for deposit payment was refused as Shoemaker had no funds on deposit to meet it.

NO CHANGE IN EPIDEMIC.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 1.—There was no change today in the epidemic of typhoid fever in and about Bluffton. A number of new cases are being reported and a number of patients who have been under observation for several days are having their maladies finally diagnosed today. In a great many cases the fever is comparatively mild, although there are a few cases which are developing considerable severity. It is probable, health authorities say, that more cases will be reported each day for a week yet.

REFUSES TO PROSECUTE.

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 1.—The pleading guilty of Robert Mann to assault and battery and his fine of $25 resulted in the dismissal of the charge of murder against him by his brother, John Mann. This will probably end the trouble between the two brothers, as Robert declines to prefer charges against John, who it is alleged assaulted him some time prior with a surveyor's instrument.

RESIDENT OF GENEVA 40 YEARS.

Geneva, Ind., Nov. 1.—Mrs. Delilah Schear, a resident of Geneva for the past forty years, died Monday at a hospital in Chicago. Death came at the age of seventy years and was due to cancer. She leaves the husband, Jacob Schear; two daughters, Mrs. Earl Wiest, of Chicago, and Mrs. Charles LaBelle, of Richmond, and one son, John Schear, of Sullivan, Ind.

AGAIN FASTING.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 1.—Dr. J. W. McKinney, who last winter completed a fast of forty days without injurious results, has begun another fast. He has gone without food for a week now and intends to abstain for another week or possibly two weeks. He will not continue his fast as long as he did on the other occasion.

FIRE AT LAGRANGE.

Lagrange, Ind., Nov. 1.—As the result of a blaze which had started in the woodshed to the rear of the property owned by Mrs. Del Hoard, the volunteer fire department was called out early yesterday morning. As no one had been living in the property for several months the origin of the fire cannot be explained unless it might have been set on fire by tramps.

PREPAREDNESS How It Helps Coughs and Colds

Buy your bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and quickly stop the coughs and colds of every fall.

Early fall brings croup, bronchitis, asthmatic breathing, troublesome night coughs, whooping cough, and tickling, irritable throat.

It aggravates the distressing cough of weak lungs, and the chronic coughs of elderly people.

It cures the "croup" of infants and children and provokes adenoids and sore inflamed throats.

Give Foley's Honey and Tar freely. It is soothing and curative, relieves hoarseness and puts a healing coating on the inflamed mucous lining of the throat. It stops coughing easily and quickly and relieves croup before the child has a chance to really harm the children or scare the parents. The last dose is just as good as the first, and a few minutes is needed than of any other cough syrup.

So see to it that you get only the original FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR, for it is the only genuine, and contains no opiates. Dretter Drug Co., 525-1102 Calhoun street.

"Spook" Voices on Phonographs, But "Live Ones" in Spirit Photos

Newspaper Man Tells of His Experiences in Very Latest Developments in Mediumistic Line at Seattle. Man Will Kill and

(By Harry Ashton.)

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 1.—Recording "spirit" voices on the phonograph is the latest wrinkle in mediumistic circles.

These records are "spirit" photographs, made while you wait, are selling like hot cakes to patrons of the "occult" who believe all they hear and far more than they see in the darkened studios.

"Frank," a shade who haunts this city, is the first to have had "his" voice preserved on the disk. I was at the scene.

The room was pitch dark. An ordinary phonograph was set in motion, revolving a blank record. The medium, a woman, "went under," and presently "Frank" breezed in.

"Frank" seemed quite stricken. He shied at the phonograph idea, but finally consented to "do the best he could."

Little "Sunshine" kept butting in, sort of kidding her fellow "spirit" along until the latter got so flustered he couldn't recall the set speech he had decided to make—through the medium.

He could only mutter, "So beautiful—too beautiful for words!" the stock reply of all controls to queries concerning the nature of the beyond.

Things got muddled. It was hard for even the "spirit" to manipulate the phonograph in the darkness.

I was awful sorry for poor "Frank." I fairly perspired in sympathy with him, or rather with the medium, for it was a trying ordeal.

During one of the delays "Sunshine," the little miss, asked me why I hadn't brought my girl along. I told her "my wife wouldn't let me," which so startled the poor young creature that she choked and the medium's tin megaphone fell to the floor with a clatter.

It was a tough night, for ghosts. They earned their money all right. But the record was finally completed—launched a new "best seller" for those who claim "mediums" on "spirit" confidence.

The picture business is good, too, though it is almost being ruined by burglars.

Who Wants Wilson--and Why.

You ought to have a purpose above partisanship and a reason more convincing than mere party label for casting your ballot this way or that next Tuesday. It is not enough in these important days in American history that the candidate chances to be aligned with the political crowd in which you have been training. He should have met in conscientious performance of duty as he saw it, and duty as it affected you and yours, most nearly your conception of right and wrought real achievement in the common good, or he should present most convincing evidence, without resort to subterfuge or evasion, that he intends to do so. And performance is infinitely better than promise. Let us look for a moment into the question of who wants Wilson--and why?

The worker? Yes; because Wilson has understood and sympathized with the ideals of labor--concretely expressing his sympathy and understanding in the eight-hour law, the child labor law, the Clayton act, and the seaman's act.

The business man? Yes; because Wilson has not speciously persecuted business for political purposes while secretly shaping governmental policies and administrative activities to accord with Wall Street's wishes. It is but a few days ago that the president of the Chicago board of trade declared that "Wilson is the only president in the course of my experience who has not harmed business." He has denounced the abuses of business and commerce only to remove them and give honest business a free field in which to operate, and his achievements are seen in the federal reserve act, the federal trade commission act and the tariff commission act.

The farmer? Yes; because Wilson has done more than any other president to bring permanent prosperity to the farmer--writing his understanding into the nation's statutes in six great constructive measures--the farm loan act, the good roads act, the agricultural extension act, the cotton futures act, the grain standards act and the warehouse act.

The woman? Yes; because Wilson has put into practice those ideals for the expression of which American women demand and should have the ballot--peace with honor and humanity before dollars. He has taken the position that America prefers work to war, peace to conflict and security rather than sacrifice.

Who wants Wilson? We think pretty nearly every voter will be able to find himself in these classifications--and to find therein, too, convincing reasons for voting for President Wilson next Tuesday.

It took the German merchant submarine Deutschland some little time to dispose of the multiplicity of rumors that she had been lost or captured, but the fact that she has reached America safely on her second trip makes it clear that she has disposed of them. And shortly we shall be ready to start all over again with practically the same set of rumors.

Candidate Hughes has not the slightest intention of stopping the shipment of American war munitions to the allies in the event he becomes president. He declared himself on this issue in the course of his speech at Columbus, Tuesday with a frankness that he had never vouchsafed in answering previous queries as to what he intends to do if he gets the chance.

The confessed leader of the automobile bandits who robbed the Burroughs company of $32,000 in Detroit early in August now complains bitterly that he was "double-crossed" by his associates in the crime, and he makes it very clear that for outrageous injustice his suffering in that regard totally eclipses what he did to the Burroughs company. It seems to be all in the viewpoint.

Whenever hope begins to droop a bit, the western republican headquarters at Chicago calmly moves a few more states over into the Hughes' column without waiting to see what the voters may have to say about it. Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, and the two Dakotas were "carried" for Mr. Hughes last night.

Sentiment in favor of the municipal convention hall in Fort Wayne is so nearly unanimous that there may be danger of over-confidence and a resultant failure to vote for it because you suspect pretty nearly everybody else is going to do so, anyway. Do not fail to register your approval on the voting machine next Tuesday by pulling down the little lever over the label "FOR Coliseum Resolution No. 1."

Despite the fact that a divorce suit just filed at Muncie is the fourth action of that sort for the woman who is her husband's fifth wife, there is nothing in the evidence to indicate that the confidence of either in the matrimonial state has been even slightly shaken.

etches from Life By Temple

AUTUMN, 1916, IN AMERICA.

The fall is here. The keen air nips shrewdly. The frost is often on the pumpkin and the persimmon. The main work of the year is done. The bountiful crops of corn and wheat and oats have been harvested. They have either been stored in the barns or sent to the markets where they are bringing top prices. The young men are busy about their farms, repairing fences, oiling machines, looking after their stock.

Everywhere there are peace and prosperity and happiness. Men are leading their normal lives, and the women, whose happiness is bound up with theirs, likewise are leading their normal lives.

The countryside would present a different story. Many of the broad fat acres would be untilled. On others, the crops would be rotting in the fields, unless the old men and the crippled, and the women and children, made effort to harvest them. No sounds of rifle shots and no boom of cannon would be heard on the man-deserted lands, but the war feeling would be there just the same.

For the young men, the young, strong, industrious men, who are the pride and the hope of the farming counties of the state, would be far away. Maybe in the deserts of sun-stricken Mexico. Maybe in the sodden ditches of wet Flanders. Some of them would be rotting where they fell, pierced by an enemy bullet. Some of them would have faces torn out of all resemblance to those of human beings. Some would be armless and legless, and some would be suffering the eternal night of the blind.

And everywhere in this land there would be gray-haired men silently mourning for their sons, and wives weeping for their husbands, and little boys and girls pitifully inquiring why Daddy did not come back home.

So you see war isn't such a glorious thing when you imagine it brought home to you. It is a terrible thing, a blasting thing, an accursed thing.

The issue in the present national campaign, stripped of all outside matters, is rapidly getting down to this simple question: Shall we continue to have peace and prosperity with Wilson, or shall we take a chance on war and sorrow and want with Hughes? Shall we stick to Wilson, whom we know, or turn to Hughes, the great enigma?

We believe the answer from the farms as well as from the shops and the factories will be: "We want Wilson, and peace."

Why I'm in Favor of President Wilson

BY MRS. FELIX ADLER.
(Wife of the Famous Lecturer, Writer, and Founder of the Society for Ethical Culture.)

I am for Woodrow Wilson because he has kept the nation out of war with honor, because he has shown forbearance and generosity toward a weaker state--Mexico--and has saved our young men from a barbarous war with a backward foe, because he has carried out in spite of powerful opposition the most progressive legislation that any of our presidents has accomplished, the freeing of our workmen from wage slavery, and the freeing from economic slavery of the nation's children. He has put laws on the statute books that are an honor to the nation--in spite of the pressure of special privilege.

BY MRS. JOSEPH FELS.
(Widow of the Famous Millionaire Manufacturer and Single Tax Advocate.)
Mr. Wilson understands the present social and political situation of America, knows how it came about, and has vision for the future. I have a deep conviction that the hope of democracy lies in him, and if we fail to re-elect him we have everything to fear.

He is not to be judged by particular measures, neither by the things he is said to have done nor by those he has so far left undone. I see them all as parts of the striving of a great man, in a situation of incomparable difficulty, to do what is right, to achieve what may prove best for the country he is trying to serve.

In this situation and through this endeavor, he is growing rapidly into the man who would prove the people's friend and save them from disaster in the difficult days that lie ahead.

Letters from The Sentinel Readers

THE AUTOMOBILE DEPARTMENT.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 31, 1916.--To the Editor of The Sentinel:--My Dear Sir: During this campaign certain republican "spellbinders" have been stating that the management of the affairs of the automobile department in the office of the secretary of state has cost 29 percent to 35 percent of the gross receipts. The facts are that during the first half of this year the entire receipts were $731,498.96 and the entire expenses were $48,596.54. This includes the cost of 145,000 plates. This means that the department has been run with 6 percent of the gross receipts. Last year the entire receipts were $508,115.87; the entire expenses were $51,640.10. This means that this department was run for 8 percent plus of the gross receipts.

By contracting for automobile plates in 1915 for the year 1916-1917 I saved $5,000 on plates for the year 1916 and $15,000 for plates for 1917. If I had waited until 1916 to contract for plates for 1917 this $15,000 would not have been saved.

I have also run the affairs of the office of the secretary of state with one less clerk than was used by the last republican secretary of state and have done almost four times as much business as he did. This means a saving of $3,000 more, while at the same time transacting a much larger volume of business. These economies have brought the total savings up to more than $1,000 per month since I went into office.

I should like to say to the taxpayers of the state, through your paper, that this sort of service will be continued by me during the next two years.

Sincerely yours,
HOMER L. COOK,
Secretary of State.

A horrible death, resulting from the accidental discharge of a gun, came to Archibald Scott, a 16-year-old boy, Sunday morning in Abbot township, a heavy charge of No. 7 shot blowing the upper portion of his head off.

Bert Yetter, aged 15 years, whose home is near the French brewery went out to Maysville yesterday to visit his uncle. He was playing with several boys about his own age, when he came across several dynamite cartridges used for blasting purposes and with a boyish instinct to investigate he proceeded to dissect the explosive. The cartridge went off in his left hand with terrible results. The hand was fearfully shattered, three of the fingers hanging by mere shreds of flesh. The right hand also was badly injured.

Mark L. Crawford, the superintendent of the house of correction at Chicago, and well known in this city will soon be married to a Mrs. Wiloughby, of Lowell, Mass., a wealthy widow. But a few years ago Mr. Crawford was a poor boy living at Pierceton, Ind. He went to Warsaw and learned the printer's trade and then started for Chicago. He got into a publishing house, and then politics, and about two years ago was elected to the lucrative position which he now holds.

MANY WOMEN IN THE CONTEST AT POLLS

Two Running for Congress and Two Score for Various State Offices.

New York, Nov. 1.--Official lists of candidates of recognized parties for the congressional and state elections coincident with the presidential voting on November 7 show that there will be at least two women running for congress and more than two score women in the contest for state offices, ranging from governor down.

In Montana Jeannette Rankin is the regular republican nominee for congress, and in Colorado Hattie K. Howard is running on a progressive ticket.

The Associated Press has just compiled all of the state tickets from every state in the union and it appears from these lists that there are exactly forty-six women candidates for various state offices. This figure may be slightly reduced or increased by the fact that some names which almost certainly seem to be those of women are in rare cases also names of men, and it is possible that some women have escaped identification by the use of initials instead of their full name, but the figures given, if not precise, are interesting, since they develop the following facts:

Of the forty-six women seeking state offices the majority (twenty-four) are nominees of the socialist party.

Idaho is the only state in the United States where a woman is candidate for governor, Annie E. Tripp being the socialist nominee for chief executive there.

There are thirteen other states throughout the country where women are seeking state offices, namely, Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Utah, Washington, Illinois and Kansas.

In Washington there are two women candidates, prohibitionist and socialist, for the office of lieutenant governor, and two women of the same parties for state treasurer.

In Connecticut, Rhode Island, Arizona, Colorado and Kansas there are women candidates for secretary of state. Various other offices, principally as trustees of state universities, or superintendents of public instruction, are those for which women have been named. In only one or two rare instances does it appear that the women candidates are now holding the office for which they seek election.

PAROLED TO FACE NEW CHARGE.

Penal Farm Prisoner Sent From Fort Wayne, Taken to Philadelphia.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 1.--Thomas McCluska, of Fort Wayne, was paroled from the penal farm yesterday by Governor Balston to authorities of the eastern penitentiary, Philadelphia, where he is wanted for violating a parole. He was serving a term of sixty days, having been convicted of a petit larceny charge.

Herbert Whitington, of Lawrence county, received a remittance of a fine of $150 assessed when he was sentenced for operating a blind tiger. He is said to be needed at home to care for a wife and two children.

FORMER RAILROADER ANNOUNCES BIG GAIN

L. J. Panches, Elkhart, Feels 100 Per Cent Better, Since Taking Tanlac.

Elkhart, Ind., Nov. 1.--Of the many statements regarding the merits of Tanlac, the celebrated new medicine, given by residents of this city and vicinity, none is more convincing than that given on October 9 by L. J. Panches, well-known retired railroad conductor who lives at 1135 South Main street.

"I have suffered from kidney trouble for years," he said. "Although I tried many different kinds of medicine I was never able to gain relief."

"I heard so many people praising Tanlac that I decided to give the new medicine a trial. I've gained seven pounds in weight and feel 100 per cent better since taking Tanlac. This medicine has done for me what no other remedy has ever done and I highly recommend it."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and the like.

Tanlac is now being specially introduced and explained in Fort Wayne at the four Meyer drug stores--Wayne and Calhoun, Calhoun and Columbia, 1420 Calhoun and Broadway and Taylor streets.--Advertisement.

HALLOWE'EN ROWDYISM WAS NOT NOTICEABLE

Night of Strange Happenings Passes in a Quiet and Orderly Manner.

The Halloween which was characterized by rowdiness of some sort in which property suffered seems to be a thing of the past as the one which was celebrated Tuesday night passed in a very orderly and quiet manner. No reports were made at police station that there had been any serious damage to property.

The streets were crowded from early in the evening until late at night and the number of masks was larger by far than on any other previous Halloween night. Masquerade dances, parties and other social gatherings were the main attractions of the evening. At one popular dance hall the crowd was estimated at 750.

The show windows of the business houses down town as well as in the outskirts and windows of residences which stood near the street were the victims of the little boys' and little girls' candies and soap. Front porches were covered with corn. Confetti throwing seemed to be a favorite mirth-making scheme. The sidewalks in the downtown district were literally covered with it, despite the fact that the price of paper has and is still advancing.

WEDS PROMINENT FORT WAYNE YOUNG MAN, WEDNESDAY EVENING.

MISS LORETTA MELCHING.

The wedding of Miss Loretta Melching, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Melching, to Mr. Ralph J. Thieme, only son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Thieme, will take place this evening at half-past 6 o'clock at the home of the bride in East Wayne street. Rev. Jacob Miller will officiate at the marriage service. The bride will be attended by her sister, Miss Clara Melching, and by her niece, Margaret and Albert Melching, as flower child and ring-bearer. Mr. Robert Thieme, a cousin to the groom, will act as best man. Both bride and groom come from prominent Fort Wayne families, and both are young people whose many excellencies of character have won for each many devoted friends.

Mrs. F. S. Hunting, Misses Elizabeth Porter, Helen R. Harper and Phyllis Randall.

Among the Fort Wayne club women attending the convention of the Indiana State Federation in Indianapolis this week whose names have not been mentioned here are Mrs. Guy Mahurin and Mrs. Clyde Driesbach, who represent the College club.

Miss Betty McLain, of Wilkesburg, Pa., who is visiting Miss Esther Hoffer, was the honor guest at a party which Miss Hoffer gave on Tuesday evening. The pleasant time was enjoyed by the Misses Beulah McCrea, Margaret Essig, Irene Fair, Matilda Stotter, and Messrs. Lee Washington, Jack Scott, Wright Worden, James Webb, Roscoe DeWitt and Andrew Dahlstrom.

Miss Helen Rogers, of Holton avenue, gave a Halloween party on Tuesday evening to a few friends who passed the happiest kind of a time enjoying the pretty and suitable decorations the hostess had put up and having a lot of fun over the fortune telling of a real witch by name, Miss Grace Phillely, and in disposing of an excellent luncheon which Miss Rogers had ready for them. The company went attired in masks and fancy dress and that added to the fun. Those who were present were Helen More, Anna Lee Osborn, Ruth Strider, Vera Miller, Zella Bowser, Grace Brower, Mae Belle Tomlinson, Venita Likens and Georgina Fell.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Allison gave a pretty Halloween party on Tuesday evening for their daughter Louise and four of her young friends attended it. The children wore masquerade costumes and the Allison home also wore a masquerade suit with yellow and black trimmings and jack-o-lantern ornaments. Dinner was served at 6 o'clock and following that the real sports and fun of the evening began, including fortune telling by a witch whose name is withheld. The children who were guests at this jolly party were Gwendolyn Phillips, Alice Cooper, Florence Blosser, Helene Faulkerson, Mary Louise Voorhees, Virginia Ropp, Mary Meek, Mary Katherine Twining, Margaret Metzner, Cosette Garwood, Jeannette Dennis, Richard Wiener, Maurice Israel and Dean Metzner.

Elizabeth and Janet Muir enjoyed themselves hugely on Tuesday afternoon at a merry making their mother, Mrs. John J. Muir, arranged for them as a celebration of Halloween day. This wonderful little party came off in the afternoon with a number of games and a fine supper. Among the games was the stabbings of apples in a pan of water with a fork. When the grown-ups do that stunt on Halloween evening they try to bite the apples as they bob in the water, and one gets her face very wet, so Mrs. Muir arranged for using forks, which was just as much fun for small folks. The children also fished for nuts in a spoon, which is not so difficult as to carry some on a knife blade across the room and see them roll off one by one as you walk. But getting them up on a spoon was just as much fun and so was being blindfolded and then trying to blow out a candle flame. It was funnier than pinning the tail on the donkey. There was a plenty of a good supper and baskets of candy, paper mache lanterns and paper caps to take home. The guests were Alice Muir, Greta and John Astrom, Lucy Pulliam, Leona Quinn, Katherine and Marjorie Homsher, Bonnie Bowser and Margery Ray.

The H. G. L. girls were hosts for a progressive supper party on Halloween evening beginning at the home of Miss Esther Korn. Appropriate colors and symbols of the night decorated the home of Miss Korn and after the first course was served games were played. Miss Wilma Brandt and Edwin Scherer won prizes in a contest. A little later the company went to the home of Miss Ruth Hanson, where the next course of the supper was eaten with as much relish as the first one. Prizes in a contest there were taken by Miss Mildred Haffner and Dan Castello. The decorations were equally pleasing and effective, too. The third course was enjoyed at the home of Miss Evelyn Buchanan, 2619 Smith street, but considerable excitement preceded the ushering into the diningroom for a ghost and a witch stood guard at the entrance to the house, and they were no make-believe.

either. The supper table was very pretty with orange and black streamers, a big pumpkin lantern in the center, and favors of cats, witches, etc., at the end of each individual ribbon. Buncos was one game and there were contests of the evening that afforded much fun. Yellow candles helped to light the table and there was a genuine fortune teller on hand who had a busy time. Miss Lois Koppelhofer and Fred Fiegel won prizes. Others present were Misses Bessie Bunch, Ruth Hanson, Emma Vogelgesang, Esther Fink, Mildred Hoffer, Vera and Evelyn Buchanan and Messrs. Ed Scherer, Dan Castello, Tony Deck, Will Neeb, Al Trounman, Leighton Bowers, Merritt Pettit, Ross Buchanan and Willard Ropp.

Keller-Riehl.

Miss Martha Riehl, of 1521 Taylor street, and Mr. Andrew Keller, a farmer, were married on Tuesday afternoon at the West Creighton Avenue Church of Christ by Rev. M. L. Buckley at 4 o'clock. The bride was attended by her sisters, Misses Helen and Ruth Riehl and the groom by his brother, Mr. Fred Keller. Both bride and groom are young people who are prominent in the work of the church in which they were married, both in Sunday school and the young people's societies, and they have the respect and affection of many friends. Mr. and Mrs. Keller will live on a farm near Sheldon.

Reed-Miller.

Fort Wayne friends and relatives have received word of the marriage early in October of Mrs. Clara Neireiter Miller to Mr. Oscar O. Reed, a Chicago real estate business man. Mr. and Mrs. Reed are to spend the winter in Dahlart, Texas. Mrs. Reed will be remembered here both by her maiden name and as the widow of Dr. J. E. Miller, a well known physician here, whose demise occurred some years ago.

A Country Party.

One of the merriest of Halloween parties of the season was the one that Miss Florence Moore gave on Monday evening at her home in Wallen. Jack-o-lanterns lighted the entire house so that when the guests arrived they were greeted by the grinning faces while the pretty rooms decked in autumn foliage and cornstalks silently spelled Halloween. A game of progressive buncos was played and the prize winners were Miss Bertha Rodenbeck and Ervin Moore. The prizes were hidden and the winners had a lot of fun, as did the rest who were looking on hunting the prizes. Music and a seasonable luncheon were other things that gave pleasure to Mary Till, Bertha Rodenbeck, Anna Ueber, Cecile and Edith Miller, Viola Griswold, Nellie Miller, Florence Swain, Helen Moore, Irma Drowett and Michael and Leo Till, Ray Pfeiffer, Gertrude Konert, William Kinsley, Carrie Rennecker, Ervin Moore, Walter Fritz, Harry Hirt, Ray and Harold Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Faulkerson and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Scott.

FREE TALK TO MOTHERS.

Kindergarten Association Presents Miss Brown, of Columbia University.

Every mother in the city who wishes to familiarize herself with reasons why and methods of kindergarten work is cordially invited to the Jefferson school next Friday afternoon to hear Miss Grace Brown, of Columbia university, talk about kindergarten and primary methods in school work at 3:30 o'clock. The Fort Wayne Kindergarten and Primary School association is bringing Miss Brown here and will welcome teachers and mothers to the lecture. Miss Brown is, of course, informed on all points of advanced methods in teaching as she comes from the university that stands for the most advanced thought in every department of education. It will be an inspiration to hear the talk and it will be illustrated by lantern slides.

EVERY HAT AT 1/2 PRICE

AT THE MAJESTIC

"The Bird of Paradise" Is a Regular Money-Getter.

One of the most valuable pieces of theatrical property now on the road is "The Bird of Paradise," which comes to the Majestic Saturday. This Hawaiian drama is now in its sixth season. It will live at least a dozen years more. It has not traversed more than a third of the theatrical territory of America. It has been played by only one company since it was produced.

In that last fact probably lies the secret of its success. There is never any fear of a No. 2 or a No. 3 company coming along in the piece. People will not stand for second-rate companies playing popular hits. Manager Giroux can string off for your edification a list as long as your arm of broken box office records made by "The Bird." All due credit to the fact that it's always the original company. Principals may change, but there's only one troupe out in it.

"Within the Law" was played to death by about ten companies in two years. "Peg o' My Heart" suffered the same fate. There were others. The whole territory was "milked dry" in a short time and the play was through. It passed over to the stock companies. But "The Bird" with its own company, like Tonyson's brook, keeps on coming and going forever and ever. This is its first visit to Fort Wayne. It is drawing capacity houses.

Another point about "The Bird" is that it suffers no stars. Nearly every year there's been a new Lanana, but never is she started. There was a search for a new one this year. May Buckley, when considered for the part, wanted to be started. "Nothing doing," said Oliver Morosco, producer, and Richard Walton Tully, author. However, she was engaged and she made good.

"The Bird" it is said, has netted a nice little fortune for Messrs. Morosco and Tully.

LABOR MEN ADDRESSED AT THE MOOSE HALL
Federation Leaders Speak Before Large Audience Tuesday Night.

Two republican meetings held at the Palace and Majestic theaters Tuesday night followed a big street parade and made up one of the biggest rallies the republicans have held in Allen county in recent years. James E. Watson, candidate for United States senator; Henry Lane Wilson, who took up the Mexican policy of the president from observations as an ambassador to Mexico, and Newton W. Gilbert, who served as vice governor of the Philippines, spoke at the two theaters. Mr. Watson denounced the democratic tariff laws, the president's foreign policy and the handling of the Mexican situation. There were 150 automobiles in the parade and 500 were in the line of march.

Charles R. Lane presided at the meeting at the Palace theater and R. B. Hanna at the Majestic theater. The speakers alternated from one theater to the other in filling the engagements. Mr. Watson owned at the Palace theater and Mr. Wilson at the Majestic. The Palace theater was crowded and the Majestic theater was well filled.

Attacks Eight-Hour Law.

The Adamson eight-hour law was characterized by Mr. Watson as a gold brick. He said that congress did not have the power to regulate the hours or wages of working men and that such power lay with the state legislatures. The speaker asserted the campaign cry that Wilson had kept us out of war was not effective since no one had desired to go to war. He scored the policy of President Wilson toward Mexico as vacillating and predicted the election of Charles Evans Hughes on a platform of true Americanism. The senatorial candidate declared his friendship for labor and said he had voted along with Albert J. Beveridge when that eminent leader of labor causes and he were in congress.

Means of Protection of Rights.

Mr. Wilson declared the election of Charles Evans Hughes meant the protection of American rights on the seas and criticized the Mexican policy of the president. Mr. Gilbert also spoke briefly on the administration.

Before the address of Mr. Watson, Capt. W. A. Kelsey offered a resolution pledging the republican candidate to vote for a law which would permit soldiers away on duty on election day to vote. The resolution received a second from delegations from all counties of the district. The Albion Glee club sang several selections at the Palace theater prior to the address of Mr. Watson, and also sang at the Majestic.

U-53 HAS REACHED GERMAN PORT SAFELY
Berlin, via London, Nov. 1. A. M.—The German submarine U-53 has returned safely to a German port, according to the official announcement.
The German submarine U-52, in company with Lieutenant Captain Hans Rose, arrived at Newport, R. I., from Wilhelmshaven on October 7 and departed after a stay of three hours. In the course of the next day the U-53 sank five ships off the American coast. Various reports have been current regarding the submarine, as it was uncertain whether the vessel was returning to Germany or had remained on this side of the Atlantic. There were various rumors also that it had been sunk. A search by American warships for a German secret base along the New England coast for supplying submarines proved fruitless, according to naval officers.

U-53 HAS REACHED GERMAN PORT SAFELY
Berlin, via London, Nov. 1. A. M.—The German submarine U-53 has returned safely to a German port, according to the official announcement.
The German submarine U-52, in company with Lieutenant Captain Hans Rose, arrived at Newport, R. I., from Wilhelmshaven on October 7 and departed after a stay of three hours. In the course of the next day the U-53 sank five ships off the American coast. Various reports have been current regarding the submarine, as it was uncertain whether the vessel was returning to Germany or had remained on this side of the Atlantic. There were various rumors also that it had been sunk. A search by American warships for a German secret base along the New England coast for supplying submarines proved fruitless, according to naval officers.

SEAMAN EASES CONSCIENCE.
Navy Man Sends $120 to Pay for Stolen Bale of Serge.
Washington, Nov. 1.—The treasury department's "conscience fund" was enriched today by a contribution of $120 from a seaman in the navy. It was in payment of a bale of serge taken by the seaman when he left his ship at New York in 1901.

WILSON HAS A FINE CHANCE IN MICHIGAN

Republican Collapse May Put Lake State in Democratic Column.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 1.—"Michigan for Wilson"—that is the report that went privately to Senator Thos. J. Walsh, in charge of democratic national headquarters in Chicago. The report added—"if we can hold the vote as it stands today, I am convinced Michigan will be in the Wilson column." This was from the managers of the democratic state campaign.

The manager of W. J. McDonald's campaign in the Twelfth congressional district (McDonald was a bull moose in the last congress and now is running for congress as a democrat) prefaced his report: "Don't think I am drunk or crazy. I am neither." Then he went on to say that McDonald will be elected. It sounds extravagant to claim Michigan for Wilson, but the republican campaign has collapsed. The managers are merely going through the motions, while the candidates are in despair.

Whenever the democratic managers take a poll or straw vote they pinch themselves and try to wake up. One of the Detroit newspapers began a poll and soon announced that on that showing Detroit would go for Wilson by 17,000.

Michigan went for Roosevelt four years ago by a large margin. Roosevelt received 214,584, Taft 152,244, and Wilson 159,751. In order to carry the state for Wilson, it must be assumed that MORE THAN HALF THE ROOSEVELT VOTE WILL GO TO WILSON. That is quite a violent assumption, but the polls seem to show that this will happen.

The Michigan progressives are giving Wilson organized support. The party did not disorganize here, as in many states. It refused to go with George W. Perkins into the Hughes' campaign.

The national committeeman who tried to deliver at Chicago was recalled and his place filled with a real progressive. Then the leaders called a conference at Jackson and it was agreed that the party should maintain its organization but withdraw its state ticket and presidential electors, and that the party membership be left free to support Wilson.

Many of the progressives, former candidates, and party leaders, are openly for Wilson. This will help much toward keeping those 214,584 votes of 1912 from going to Charles E. Hughes.

The democratic candidate for governor is an official of the Wilson administration, Edwin F. Sweet, of Grand Rapids, assistant secretary of commerce. He was once a member of the national house of representatives, and twice mayor of his city.

The republican candidate is Albert E. Sleeper, banker and ex-state treasurer.

Illinois Girl is Forced to Go Hungry for 12 Years

(By Honor Fanning.)

Waukegan, Ill., Nov. 1.—Hungry for twelve years!

Sitting daily at a table filled with tempting food; daily preparing food for others that she could not taste herself; famishing in a house of plenty!

That was the experience of Ethel Garnant, 19-year-old school girl, who is just learning how to eat.

An "explosion" operation has just been performed by Dr. Charles H. Mayo, of Rochester, Minn., to save Miss Garnant from death by starvation.

This is the story as Ethel herself tells it, of the 12-year fast and of the "intestinal explosion" that fairly blew her back from death to a razor-edged appetite.

"I have been hungry since I was seven," Miss Garnant said. "They used to call me the 'little gourmand' I ate so much."

"One night at supper my bread and milk wouldn't go down. I choked. Since that night I did not swallow any solid food until Dr. Mayo told me to 'go ahead and eat, eat everything and lots of it.' I didn't need a second invitation."

"I had been fasting almost ten years before doctors—and mother had consulted at least 100 of them—could discover what ailed me."

"Then they said the esophagus, the gullet, you know, was contracted and the opening so small only the thinnest and hottest liquids could pass through."

"I weighed only 38 pounds, and I was 17 years old! A mere skeleton."

"I had to quit going to school. Mother kept me alive some way on broths and soups. I don't suppose any one in the world ever drank so much soup. And I was hungry all the time."

"When the operation was performed it seems they slipped a string with

chemicals on the end, down this esophagus passage.

"The heat of the body acted on the chemicals and there was a terrific explosion."

"It was like when a fire cracker goes off, but it was no Fourth of July picnic for me. The pain was so great I fainted."

"In an hour or so I was alright again. In three hours I was asking for something to eat and I did eat."

"Um! that juicy steak! And sweet potatoes—four of them."

"I didn't take any broth at my first dinner. I have a feeling I will never care for soups of any kind again."

Despite her hunger, Miss Garnant kept up her studies and will prepare for a business career.

SUIT FOR INSURANCE STOCK.

Hartford City, Ind., Nov. 1.—One of the biggest judgments asked in the Blackford circuit court for some time is that sought in the case of the Sterling Fire Insurance company, of Indianapolis, against Howard R. Wright and Rachel E. Wright, his wife. The plaintiff is an Indiana corporation with offices in Indianapolis, while the defendants reside near Matthews. The action is on note for the appointment of a receiver.

SPECIAL ISSUES UP IN SEVERAL STATES

Likely to Have Much Bearing in State Results at the Polls.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Special issues are to come before the voters of several states in connection with the general election on Tuesday, Nov. 7. Reports from thirteen states in southwestern, middle western and northwestern territory show the following data:

Illinois will vote on two proposed amendments to the state constitution—one authorizing the legislature to revise the state tax laws so that personal and real estate property may be taxed at different rates, the other proposing a change in the state's general banking law to protect state banks from persons who desire to use the same or similar bank in doing a banking business.

In Indiana, with one candidate for presidency and two for vice presidency residing in the state, interest in the campaign has been intense. J. Frank Hanly, prohibition candidate for president, Thomas R. Marshall, candidate on the democratic ticket for re-election as vice president, and Charles W. Fairbanks, republican candidate for vice president, live within a few blocks of each other in Indianapolis.

Ohio will not vote on any constitutional amendments, both the suffrage and anti-liquor supporters having decided not to push those issues. In addition to the national ticket, the state will vote on United States senator, governor and congressman from all districts and nearly every county will elect officials.

Prohibition in Michigan.
The prohibition fight is an issue of the campaign in Michigan, the contest being carried into every one of the 83 counties of the state. Forty-five of the counties are "dry," but Wayne county (including Detroit) and Kent county (including Grand Rapids), have always been "wet." Two prohibition amendments to the state constitution will be voted on, one faction opposing state-wide prohibition and advocating home rule.

With state and local issues absent Kentucky citizens centered their interest on the national ticket. Two of the state's eleven congressional districts—Tenth and Eleventh—are represented by republicans. The others are democratic.

Three constitutional amendments are to be voted on in Missouri, one providing for state-wide prohibition, another to authorize a state land bank by validating the state land bank bill passed by the last legislature, and a third authorizing the legislature to pension the blind. The prohibition campaign was quiet, although the proposed amendment would prohibit all manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquor in the state.

Women in Kansas.
In Kansas the part women have played in the campaign formed one of its marked characteristics, this being the first year women have been able to vote for president. Five women are candidates for state offices and two for the legislature. Dr. Eva Harding, of Topeka, who was defeated on the democratic ticket for the democratic nomination for congress by Rev. H. C. Corwin, of Topeka, in the August primary, is a candidate for congress on an independent ticket. Ethel Whitehead, of Lawrence, is socialist candidate for lieutenant governor; Margaret Grandie, of Pittsburg, is socialist candidate for secretary of state, and Mary Sibbitt, of Wichita, is prohibition candidate for the same office. Ida Beloff, of Winfield, is candidate for superintendent of public instruction on the socialist ticket. The two women candidates for the legislature are Mrs. Harvey Kinzie, of Hialeatha (dem.), and Ella Baldwin (soc.), of Kansas City.

Arkansas will vote on two initiative acts and three constitutional amendments. The most discussed initiative act is one to repeal the state-wide prohibition act passed by the last legislature. The other is intended to revise the state primary laws. The three amendments are intended to increase the amount of school tax, to increase among voters the powers of referendum and initiative and decrease the powers of the legislature and the state supreme court, and to increase taxes for road improvements.

Oklaheima will vote on a so-called "fair election law." If adopted the law will provide equal party representation on state and county election boards. Democratic congressional nominees in Oklahoma, except in the Eighth district, which is represented by Dick T. Morgan, republican, are equivalent to Z. A. Harris, democratic, and Joseph Ott, socialist. In the Fourth congressional district, Thomas D. McKee, democratic, who defeated W. M. ("Alfalfa Bill") Murray at the recent primaries, is opposed by James E. Gresham, republican, and Allen C. Adams, socialist.

Eight proposed constitutional amendments will be voted on in Minnesota. Nine congressmen are seeking re-election, the warmest contest being between these candidates in the new Tenth district—Thomas D. Schall, elector on the progressive ticket two years ago, and again a candidate on that ticket; Lowell E. Jepson (rep.) and Nell M. Gronin (dem.).

The election campaign in Wisconsin has probably been the quietest in many years. Considerable interest centers in the election of United States senator to succeed Robert M. La Follette. Senator La Follette (rep.) and William F. Wolfe (dem.), the leading nominees, made a thorough canvass of the state, as did also Gov. E. L. Phillips and his democratic opponent, Burt Williams.

The factional differences between the two republican wings, those known as the progressive or La Follette faction and the conservatives, headed by Governor Phillips, seem to have been bridged over and all republican speakers are advocating election of the complete republican ticket, made up of both La Follette and Phillips nominees. Differences in the democratic camp, which arose over the wrestling of control from Judge John C. Karel, candidate for governor two years ago, seem to be smoothed out.

Booze Issue in Nebraska.
The liveliest state interest in Nebraska seems to center in the constitutional amendment to provide for prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors. Of the ninety-two counties in the state, twenty-eight are "dry" under local option, and twenty-six are without saloons. There are 551 "dry" cities and towns and 219 "wet."

A prohibition amendment was defeated twenty-six years ago by approximately 29,000 majority. Of this 22,000 came from Omaha and Douglas county; the vote being 23,500 against to 1,500 for the amendment. It is claimed in some quarters that since then a material reversal of sentiment has taken place.

Vigorous campaigning has been done by the candidates for United States senator and governor. For senator the incumbent, Gilbert M. Hitchcock, of Omaha (dem.), is opposed by John L. Kennedy (rep.), of Omaha, former congressman. This is the third time they have been pitted against each other (the other occasions being for congressional honors) and each has a win to his credit.

If there is any special issue in the Iowa campaign, leaders say it is the prohibition question. The entire state is now dry as the result of the repeal of the so-called Iowa Muley law by the last legislature. Led by the Des Moines Register "dry" forces in the state centered their attack on the alleged "wet" record made in the legislature by W. L. Harding, of Sioux City, Ia., republican candidate for governor, and on his alleged private views on the liquor question.

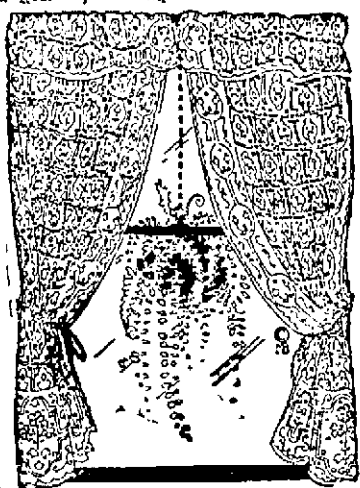

Many "dry" republicans, leaders declare, have signified their intention of voting for E. T. Meredith, the democratic candidate, for the reason that he is "dry." On the other hand, leaders declare, many "wet" democrats will bolt their party because they believe Harding to be "wet." Mr. Harding has asserted he favors prohibition legislation as called for in the republican platform.

South Dakota will vote again on prohibition and women's suffrage. A woman suffrage amendment was defeated in November, 1914, by a vote of 28,605 to 61,514, and an amendment restricting the sale of liquor was defeated by practically the same vote. The county option plan has been in force since 1912.

Political forecasters base North Dakota predictions on phases of "hyphenism," since nearly one-fourth of the state's voters—23,000 out of 110,000—are of German lineage. Republicans profess that the state will return to their party, but democrats are confident.

HAS AGAIN AND AGAIN OFFERED RESIGNATION

Chinese Minister of Finance Gets in Bad by a Loan Through Japan.

The Associated Press.—Chen Chin-tao, the minister of finance, has repeatedly offered his resignation as a result of a furore created by announcement that he has made through Japanese bankers a loan of $5,000,000 Mexican on the security of mines in Anhui and Hunan provinces. Residents of those provinces, which are within the English sphere of influence in the Yangtze valley, have sent protests to parliament that the pledging of the mines is part of a plan to betray China to Japan.

The minister of finance made an attempt at explanation before parliament, which did not silence criticism of his action. He said the mines were turned over to Japanese financiers in recognition of their efforts to assist China in getting an adequate reorganization loans. He further said that the five million dollar loan was merely an advance on a greater loan of possibly eighty million dollars. This did not reconcile the parliament, however, and the Japanese financiers, who are prominent Kobe, Yokohama and Tokio bankers, organized under the name of the Asiatic Development company, expressed a willingness to buy up copper cash in the five northern provinces of China.

The Japanese legation denied official knowledge of the five million dollar loan and the mining concessions which have created such a furore. Shortly after the announcement of this small loan, the Chinese government made a formal application to the Russian, French, Japanese and English bankers, who represent the salt monopoly group, for a reorganization loan of ten million pounds sterling secured on the surplus of the salt monopoly. Chinese newspapers charge that Japanese officials doubtless had full knowledge of the smaller loan secured on the mines, but did not wish to give official sanction to this transaction, as they desired to create no prejudice against their co-operation with the allied bankers.

Parliament and Chen Chin-tao have clashed in their interpretation of the section of the provisional constitution concerning the loan-making power, and a complete disruption of the government is threatened, with possible resignation of the whole cabinet or the dissolution of parliament.

Chen Chin-tao holds that preliminary agreements for loans need not be approved by parliament. This view is stoutly opposed by parliamentarians.

JUST SAME AS THE OLD FORTFort Wayne Must Prepare to Fight for Commercial Supremacy.MUST HAVE BIG CONVENTION HALLNoon Meetings Today Bring Out Interesting and Important Points.

Old Fort Wayne was brought into the discussion of the proposed convention hall during the address today noon at the Wayne Knitting Mills. Following his introduction by George M. Hoffman, Dr. E. J. McOscar declared that if Fort Wayne does not proceed at once to erect a convention hall, this city is in danger of falling from its proud position in the battle for commercial supremacy in the middle west. The doctor likened the present condition to that of the earliest pioneers who gathered within the old fort for protection from their enemies.

"It was their common place of shelter from their foes," said he, "and they gathered there for the protection of their lives, that they might go on with their work to establish a town and a city here. Just so today, the people must have a common place of shelter and protection from another kind of foe—the other cities who are striving to beat Fort Wayne in the race for social and commercial supremacy. Commerce is the very life of cities. That commerce must be protected. A convention hall will play its great part in this great plan."

In elaboration of his idea, Dr. McOscar pictured the vast amount of money which would be brought to Fort Wayne through the medium of great conventions, the broad-spread advertising of Fort Wayne as a city of progress, and the wonderful good which would come to the people when a community center were provided where they may meet to make plans for the greater good of the whole people. The speaker likened the city to the individual, in that the growth of the family and its requirements constantly demands larger and better provisions for the comfort and education.

William H. Shambaugh, in a forceful address at the Wayne Knitting mills during the noon hour, referred to the pride which every loyal citizen will feel in having added his word and his work to the insuring of the convention hall. "A city is like an individual," said he. "No man is great unless he says something or does something that can attract to him the earnest commendation of the masses. And so it is with a city. We cannot grow to greatness unless we make provision to say or do or have something which will attract to us the favorable attention of all parts of the country. The convention hall will do this great thing for Fort Wayne."

What the Campaign Teaches.
In his address at noon today before the employees of the Fort Wayne Builders' Supply company and the Noble Machine works, Charles L. Biedersdorf, secretary of the citizens' convention hall committee, called attention to the fact that the $400 per night which the political campaign managers are paying for the use of one of the three theaters would, in the case of the four meetings held here, net a total of $1,600 which would go a long way toward maintaining a convention hall. He reviewed the embarrassment which has come with the necessity of turning down scores of conventions, such as that of the Indiana State Teachers' association, the various trades unions, the fraternal societies, the political organizations and the like, the entertainment of which would have netted enough in the past two or three years to maintain the building and net a goodly amount to the city, which would own and manage the building.

Attorney Otto Fubler, who followed Mr. Biedersdorf, gave a clear presentation of the need of the convention hall and gave the details of the method of paying for and maintaining it.

AUTOS ARE WRECKED
IN CORNER CLASH

Touring car of S. W. Miles, principal of the Jefferson school, and a small truck, belonging to the Leikauf Packing company, and driven by Charles Smith, son of Patrolman Bert Smith, were wrecked, Wednesday morning, when they clashed at Barr and Lewis streets.

Smith came from the south on Barr street. He claims he could not see Miles approaching because of a faint standing near the corner. Miles says that Smith was accountable for the accident. Smith was gone before police arrived in answer to a call from a woman who saw the smashup and feared one of the men was hurt.

The radiator was caved in on the truck. One wheel was demolished and there were other damages. Right side of the big touring car was shattered. Both machines were towed to garages for extensive repairs.

The Turner ladies will give a pedro party Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Turner hall on West Superior street. The Modern Americans will give a dance in Dehm's hall this evening.

Detective Peter Junk.

Detective Peter Junk of the Fort Wayne police department in company with the sheriff of Allen county made a midnight drive in an automobile to the home of Charles First and made the arrest. They arrived at First's home at 2 o'clock in the morning and got him out of bed. Detective Junk questioned the man and upon suspicion placed him under arrest and took him back to Fort Wayne, where he later confessed.

AMERICA DOESN'T WANT WAR, DECLARES HUGHESBut He Asserts Country
Proposes to Maintain Its Self-Respect.

Sullivan, Ind., Nov. 1.—Charles E. Hughes today declared in an open air address here that while the United States does not wish war it proposes to maintain its self respect. "The American people have realized at this time in our history it is very important that there should be no question of their attitude with respect to the maintenance of American rights," Mr. Hughes said. "We desire peace, but we desire an honorable peace. We do not wish war but we propose to maintain our self respect."

"We know perfectly well that there is no future for the country unless we enjoy the friendship of the world. We evoke only contempt either silent or expressed if you do not maintain firmly and consistently your rights. There is no lasting peace for a decadent people."

People Do Not Make Mistakes.
Mr. Hughes said that he was sure the American people were coming to their own conclusions with respect to the various claims made in the campaign and that in the long run the American people do not make mistakes. "Nothing is more striking," he said, "in the course of a political campaign in this country than the way in which the American people gradually form their judgment. We have at the outset many confusing voices and in the course of the campaign there are many extravagant claims put forward but the American people recognize as the campaign progresses the dominant issues that concern their welfare. You can be sure that in the long run the American people do not make a mistake with respect to what is necessary to their prosperity and the future of the country."

"If I understand myself I am here anxious to serve the whole people of the United States and what I have to say is just as important to the interests of democrats as republicans. The American people are realizing, and I believe are coming swiftly to a judgment, that this country will need a basis of prosperity that is not to be found in a European war. We know perfectly well that at this time we are in a very unhealthy condition. You are interested very largely in farming. When I was governor of New York there was nothing to which I gave greater attention than the development of our agricultural activities and if I am elected I propose to do all in my power to promote the interests of agriculture."

"It is perfectly idle, however, for anybody to say that he is a friend of the development of agriculture in this country when he framed an Underwood bill, which puts most of our agricultural products on a free list or on such a low rate of duty as not to furnish our farmers with the protection to which they are entitled. We have got to have a basis in this country for the development which they need."

The nominee remained at Sullivan an hour. He then spoke at Linton, remaining thirty minutes. Next at Bloomington, where an hour's stay is on the program, and Brazil. An early evening speech at Terre Haute will be the nominee's last pre-election speech in the state.

Leaving Terre Haute at 9 o'clock tonight Mr. Hughes will re-enter New York state, where a two-day tour will end his campaign. When the tour is completed Mr. Hughes will go to New York city, reaching there Friday night. He will speak in Brooklyn that night and make his last public appearance of the campaign Saturday night at Madison Square Garden.

PAROLE JUST MEANS
LONG PRISON TERMMcCloskey, Arrested Here for Stealing Rug, is Sent East.

Thomas McCloskey, 59, is on his way back to the eastern penitentiary at Philadelphia, because of the care with which Detective Sergeant Joseph Brennan, in charge of the police battalion system, spanned the years and found through the head measurements and tell tale lines about his eyes that McCloskey was a murderer.

McCloskey, whose real name is Joseph Ryan, was arrested for stealing a rug from a back yard clothes line on East Main street several weeks ago. He was found guilty on October 9 and was sentenced to the state farm for sixty days and fined $10. Brennan took his picture and while McCloskey roamed over the state farm Brennan was delving through a few thousand pictures.

The eleven years since McCloskey killed a man in Pennsylvania in a robbery attempt, have brushed a few gray hairs through his brown locks. There are more lines across his forehead. His neck bends forward at a more marked angle. But Brennan read in the car the lobes, line about the eyes and arch of the nose, the face of the man wanted in the east.

Officers at the state farm and eastern authorities were notified by Brennan. McCloskey was held in the Greenacres jail. He raved like a mad man. He was not the party wanted, he insisted.

Governor Ralston paroled him Tuesday from the custody of Indiana. A parole officer from the Pennsylvania penitentiary took immediate charge of McCloskey and he is on his way back to serve eleven years more of the original sentence of nineteen years. He had served eight years when paroled in 1914.

CONVENTION HALL
NOON MEETINGS.

Thursday noon at the plant of the Fort Wayne Corrugated Paper company, Mayor Hoesy and Councilman William A. Bayer will speak in the interest of the convention hall project. At the same hour Frank M. Hogan and S. A. Callahan will speak at the plant of the Centivite Brewing company.

Little Girl Aids
the Syrian Cause

Pretty Amella Bashara, 15 years old, has collected $18 herself for the Syrian relief fund. She has gone among her friends and a part of the business men and pleaded for aid for the thousands who starve in her war-scarred fatherland. She gave $2 for the relief fund from her own savings.

"My heart is bleeding for the poor people who cannot help themselves," she says.

Amella is the daughter of Kaleel Bashara, traveling salesman, 227 West Lewis street.

"PASTOR" RUSSELL

Man Suddenly Stricken by Death Had Had Unusual Career.

New York, Nov. 1.—"Pastor" Charles Taze Russell, 65, who died suddenly yesterday in Texas on a train that was bringing him back to his work in New York, stood for more than a quarter of a century a unique figure among the ministers of all sects and creeds. He belonged to no denomination and attracted widespread attention through his varied activities and methods of publicity. He was pastor of churches all over the country and traveled nearly 30,000 miles each year in pursuance of his duties, but made his headquarters in his tabernacle in Brooklyn. He always disclaimed being the founder of a new religion and said he based his preachings only on the Bible. In 1914 his sermons were printed in 1,400 newspapers throughout the country. He was the author of a series of books on Scripture study, of which it was said, several hundred thousand copies were printed each year. Pastor Russell started his career as manager of a string of furnishing stores in Allegheny, Pa., but in 1873 he left this business and began to preach. He was president of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract society of Pennsylvania, the International Bible Students' association of London and the Peoples' Pulpit association of New York, and editor of the Watch Tower and Herald of Christ's Presence, a semi-monthly journal.

FAIRBANKS FUNERAL THURSDAY.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 1.—The funeral of Mrs. Mary A. S. Fairbanks, mother of Charles Warren Fairbanks, vice presidential nominee of the republican party, will be held Thursday afternoon at Springfield, Ohio. Mrs. Fairbank's old home. The pall-bearers will be chosen from old friends of the family in that city. Mr. Fairbanks arrived home yesterday afternoon from Rockford, Ill., where he was campaigning, when he received word of his mother's death. Among the first of hundreds of telegrams of condolence received was that of Charles Evans Hughes, from Columbus, Ind.

Mr. Fairbanks announced that he had cancelled all campaign speaking dates. Other speakers have been engaged to fill his Indiana schedule, which called for thirty addresses this week.

ONE NEWLY COINED DIME REACHES CITY

A young lady who is employed as a stenographer in the offices of a local building company is the owner of the only newly coined dime in Fort Wayne. The new dime, with a different design than the old ones, is coined in the Philadelphia United States mint. The banks of Fort Wayne have not as yet received an assignment of the new coin.

The young lady, who is the sole, and proud possessor of this coin, secured it through a friend who resides in Philadelphia. Several bankers saw the dime Wednesday morning.

The dime has a pretty design. Liberty with a winged cap is shown on the fore side, while on the reverse side there is a design of a bundle of rods with a battle axe, symbolical of unity, wherein lies the nation's strength. Adolph A. Weinman is the designer and his initials are on the face of the new coin.

THOMAS H. DASCOMB DIES.

Former Fort Wayne Resident Passes Away in Cleveland.

PLOWING CONTEST IS MANY ENTRY EVENTTwenty-Sixth Annual Competitoin is Held at Hamilton Farm.

The twenty-sixth annual plowing competition of the Allen County Plowing association was held Wednesday at the Hamilton farm on the Maysville road, four miles east of Fort Wayne. There was a large list of entries and an estimated attendance of 1,500 persons. The contest included exhibitions in plowing and judging of a potato and corn show, all directed by A. J. Hutchins, county agent.

The competition opened at 9 o'clock and at noon a hundred automobiles were parked on the farm. Prof. W. C. Latta, of the department of agriculture, Purdue university, and H. R. Smally, county agent of Steuben county, are the respective judges in the plowing exhibition and the corn and potato show. The Purdue agricultural extension department and the Allen county board of education are operating in offering the contest.

Prior to the opening of the exhibition Wednesday morning six chairman of the farmers' township institutes met in the office of Mr. Hutchins to consider revising data for some of the institutes, this revision being made necessary by reason of holding the Hurlan short course Feb. 15. Prof. Latta is head of the state department for farmers' township institutes.

The officers for 1917 of the Allen County Plowing association are: President, C. G. Vanderau; treasurer, A. J. Hutchins; the committee on arrangements is composed of Charles Meyers, J. H. Thrash, Dr. Gilie and Ernst Galtmeier. The committee on field is composed of A. Blume, George Meyers, John Gilie and Joseph Tonkel.

The plowing contest included a class for soil plow, general purpose and riding plow and a boys' class. In the corn department there were classes for yellow and white, sweepstakes and best single ear of yellow and white corn. These classes were exclusive of the boys' corn contest for boys under 18 years in which there were classes for yellow and white corn and sweepstakes.

The superintendents of the show are: Class A, Val Goggin; B, George Tullman; C, Mary Goggin; D, Christ Bullemah.

J. H. Thrash judged in the corn department and Will Johnson in the potato department, assisting H. R. Smally.

Some of the prizes awarded were: Corn contest, Gary Tonkel, cash, $2.50; Toy Thrash, flashlight, $1.50. Potato contest—Christ Vanderau, first, one dozen potatoes; second, George V. Kell, safety razor; third, William Vanderau, six pounds axle grease; fourth, Andy Bloom, lantern. The plowing was to be judged late Wednesday afternoon.

MRS. ANNA WATERSON.

Mrs. Anna Waterson, of Eel River township, who died Monday while visiting with her son in Mackinaw, Ill., had resided in Allen county for many years. She was seventy-seven years of age.

The body will arrive over the Wabash, Wednesday evening and will be taken to the country residence where funeral services will be held Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock and at 11 o'clock at the Wesley chapel.

VIRGINIA LINES UP IN THE DRY COLUMNPractically No Disorder Attends Exodus of Saloons from the State.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 1.—Virginia was added to the column of dry states today. The new state-wide prohibition law went into effect last night, the change being accompanied with practically no disorder. Revelers crowded the streets of the larger cities throughout the night in Halloween garb and others struggled in the saloons for the "last drink," but few arrests were made.

The passing of legalized liquor was variously celebrated. Enthusiastic prohibition workers held services of prayer and jubilation in the churches, bells were chimed and many attended elaborate "watch parties." Clubs and hotels held "open house" and in some cases liquor that remained was dispensed free of cost. Although the sale of intoxicating beverages in the state is a thing of the past, thousands of gallons have been stored in private homes. In Richmond alone dealers estimated that $2,000,000 had been spent in stocking cellars.

2 AMERICAN AIRMEN KILLED IN FRANCE

Uaris, Nov. 1.—Two American aviators have been killed near Nancy, according to a dispatch received here from that city. The dispatch gives no further details.

The Matin says that the airplane containing the two Americans capsized while flying over Poudonville plateau, near Nancy. The observer fell out and the pilot, who came down with the machine, was crushed to death under the engine.

Loyal lodge No. 85 will give a social tea in Unity hall on Thursday afternoon. Members of the committee in charge are Mrs. Phipps, Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Stump, Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Smitley.

Twenty-Second.

Half of the days in October were clear days, four were partly cloudy and twelve were cloudy, is the report made by the local weather bureau man. The lowest temperature during the month was 31 on the twenty-second and the highest was 86 on the eighth. The mean temperature was 53, the average mean temperature since records have been kept.

There were ten rainy days during which 1.56 inches of rain fell, nearly seven-tenths below the average. The sunshine for the month was above the average. The sunshine amounted to fifty-eight per cent.

The highest velocity which the wind reached during October was 46 miles an hour from the southwest on the twentieth.

The present outlook for weather is good. The warm, sunshiny weather is to continue for several days. There is nothing in sight which would cause the weather to make a change. The thermometer reached the sixty degree mark Wednesday afternoon.

TRAVELING MEN SAY
FT. WAYNE NEEDS IT

No one realizes Fort Wayne's need of a coliseum more than the traveling salesmen who visit other cities and know what a great boost an institution of this kind has proven to be wherever it exists. One of the big organizations of the salesmen, the United Commercial Travelers, through their local association, No. 212, have declared in resolutions signed by President Clarence B. Rowley and Secretary O. H. Woobbe, king, that the city is badly handicapped in its race with other mid-western cities for leadership in its class through a lack of convention facilities.

"We have never been able to hold a grand council meeting here on account of not having a suitable place," the resolutions read. "Also we are in sympathy with all the other general reasons why a convention hall should be built."

BOYS WITH MATCHES SET FIRE TO BARN

Barn belonging to Fred Koenig, one mile north of the city, was almost totally destroyed by fire started by boys at play with matches Wednesday morning. Loss is set at $500. Firemen misunderstood the woman who gasped "fire" over the telephone and so drove to the corner of State street and Parnell avenue, a mile from the seat of the fire. Blaze was well under way when the men arrived at the fire.

Many rabbits and chickens in the barn were rescued by boys and women. Hay stored in the mow was destroyed.

Guest day for the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Wayne Street M. E. church will be observed at the home of Mrs. W. C. Zahrt, 2334 Hoagland avenue, Thursday afternoon. An interesting program starts at 2:30. All women interested in foreign missionary work are invited. Assistant hostesses are Mrs. Fulkerson, Mrs. Hockett, Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Kurn.

TO OUR FRIENDS,
The Readers of the Sentinel:

Answering numerous inquiries from our friends, THE SENTINEL desires to state, that, notwithstanding the great raise in price of white paper and all other material entering into the making of a first-class newspaper, THE SENTINEL will be delivered to your door every evening for the same price as heretofore, TEN CENTS per week.

The price on all newsstands and on the streets will be Two cents per copy every day.

Orders for the delivery of the paper received over Telephone 173 will receive prompt attention. Orders received up to 3:15 p. m. will be delivered the same day.

Speaking of Breadlines, Mr. Voter?

Don't make the mistake of laughing at the Republicans when they talk about breadlines and panics. That's their specialty. When it comes to breadlines and panics, they speak with authority. Don't remember the great panic of 1873-1878, starting after twelve years of uninterrupted Republican rule, do you? It didn't seem possible for the country to go to smash, but Republicans managed it. Bank deposits decreased $200,000,000 and commercial failures amounted to $1,199,000,000. Black Friday rested on the country like a funeral pall. And then there was the panic of 1890. Things looked fairly good for the United States in 1890, but President Harrison and a Republican tariff made breadlines the order of the day.

And surely you have not forgotten the panic of 1903? or the famous Roosevelt panic of 1907, after ten years under a Republican tariff, that swept away the savings of thousands, smashed small business into smithereens and left a trail of despair and suicide? It made millions of organized wealth, but only our Maker will ever know the horror it caused for the workers of the nation.

Of course, times were never better. All the manufacturers have orders ahead that will keep them busy for years—and remember that munitions constitute the insignificant total of two-third of one per cent. of our manufactured products. The end of the European war means bigger and better business.

Philip Heineken, director of the North German Lloyd Steamship company, told the Associated Press: "Whatever stocks of manufactured articles may have been on hand at the outbreak of the war have been utilized in Germany, and there has been no replenishment of these supplies. All Europe, after the war, will be calling for raw materials to replenish exhausted stocks." And never imagine that Candidate Hughes doesn't know the game. When, according to the New York Sun, he said in Milwaukee: "The whole Democratic accomplishment must be wiped off the books for the good of the country," he showed that he was a proper leader for a party that has never failed to produce a panic.

Jacob H. Schiff says: "Normally a Republican, I turned four years ago to Woodrow Wilson, primarily because I had become convinced high protection, this shibboleth of the Republican party, to be at the bottom of all special privilege and many of the ills and inequalities we had so long been suffering from."

the special leaving Fremont at 5 o'clock and reaching this city at 7 o'clock, bringing 600 persons to attend the gathering here.

Al Luley, clerk in the tool rooms for Foreman Henry J. Peters at the General Electric works, has been transferred to the production department, under C. D. Unepher. The change is a promotion for the young man.

The masquerade bus party to the Miller farm six miles east of New Haven last night, given by some of the male clerks in the shipping department of the General Electric works, was a most enjoyable affair. The party came home at 2 o'clock this morning.

Carl Kiehl, machinist in the repair gang under Foreman Charles Meyers, at the Pennsylvania shops, was partially injured yesterday afternoon when two of his fingers were deeply gashed by a lathe he was operating. Medical attention was given. He will be off duty several days.

Supt. James A. Fox, of the Clifton Forge division of the Chesapeake & Ohio, died a few days ago at his home in Clifton Forge and his death has been followed by a number of promotions. One of the changes was the promotion of J. A. Gleason to superintendent of the Clifton Forge division.

Trustee Allen Hamilton, of Wayne township, retains a warm feeling for his former shopmates. Before taking up his official duties, Mr. Hamilton was employed at his trade in the Pennsylvania tool room. He called there yesterday to see and chat awhile with "the boys."

Eight Permits, Representing $34,700, Filed on First Day.

November will go right ahead with the wonderful building record Fort Wayne is rolling up for 1916. The first day of the new month found eight building permits filed in the board of works office. They were all for modern homes. They represent $34,700 to be put in making a greater Summit City. It seems that Fort Wayne building will pass the $3,000,000 mark this year. Already $2,801,150 had been expended before November gave promise of a half million more.

Building permits generally dwindle during November and December. The shortage is supposed to start in October. Not so this year. The list has been growing since July and may continue all year, according to contractors.

Seven of the permits issued Wednesday were to the Willwood builders. They are for two story frame residences. St. Joe boulevard, $3,500; residence, Northwood boulevard, $3,400; St. Joe boulevard, frame residence, $3,500; Northwood boulevard, residence, $3,400; residence, Henschel street, $3,500; residence, St. Joe boulevard, $3,500; frame residence, Northwood boulevard, $3,400.

The other permit was to Gustavus Lindemann to build a frame house on Meridian street at a cost of $6,500. Finishing Pavement.

Laying of brick on Swinney avenue, between Phenix avenue and Broadway, started Wednesday.

Grace Construction company has completed the concreting of South Calhoun street.

Will Open Bridge. Tennessee avenue bridge has been completed and will be open to traffic on Thursday.

Grading Done. Grading on Gunter avenue, from Calhoun to Webster, was finished Wednesday.

Placing Top Dressing. Grace Construction company workmen are laying top dressing on South Hanna street, from Rudisill boulevard to McKinnis street.

Birth Record. Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kaeck, 1514 Oakland avenue—a boy. To Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Shockey, 1522 Hurd street—a boy.

To Mr. and Mrs. Gustavus Motz, 513 Fifth street—a boy. To Mr. and Mrs. Saul Johnson, 914 Alliger street—a girl.

RESENTS EFFORT TO MAKE IT PARTISAN Questions Involving Human Lives Not Political, Says Wilson.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 1.—President Wilson here today registered "a solemn protest" against the use of the international relationships of the nation for partisan purposes.

"Men who do this," he said, "I cannot and will not regard as patriots." He declared questions involving human lives should not be dragged into politics.

The president's protest was granted by prolonged applause. He said he would not consent that the democratic party be used for any such purpose.

INSTRUCTIONS TO DOCTORS. State Health Board on Dealing with Typhoid Epidemics.

Indianapolis, Nov. 1.—A circular letter to physicians throughout the state, discussing ways of dealing with the typhoid epidemic, has been issued by the Indiana state board of health.

In several parts of the state typhoid appeared the epidemic stage this year. The letter sets forth ways of disinfecting, advocates killing of flies and details methods of nursing typhoid patients.

When a suspected case of typhoid fever is found "it should be isolated and treated as such" until a diagnosis can be made, the circular says. The nearest health officer should be notified immediately. Other directions in the letter are to use chloride of lime as a disinfectant, to have the house screened carefully, and to have continuous warfare on flies so they may not carry the disease.

L. O. O. M. No. 290 will give a progressive pedro party for members and their families at the Moose home, Friday evening.

Fine of $25 Imposed Because Card System is Held as Lottery.

Agnes and Ethel and Lottie and May, Mary and Ester and Lena and Fay were a few of the names which flitted from above the little red tags on the flashy cards which urged "your favorite girl wins a safety razor."

Sam Shurtis and Sam Goldstein, of Indianapolis, had induced several merchants to display the cards on the top of their cigar cases when Detective Sergeant Immel heard of the scheme. He thought the plan was just another way of gambling.

Immel found the young men and took them to the station Monday. They held under $25 bond on a gambling charge. They pleaded not guilty in police court Wednesday morning and were represented by an attorney.

The young men, who seemed to have just stepped from a fashion plate, argued that the cards were properly called "sale cards" and not "punchboards." Judge Kerr saw the same old method of taking a chance on the number hidden under the gold seal, beyond the technicality of a new way to sell razors. He fined the young men $25 and costs each.

Boy Given a Chance. George Henschen, 19, 2318 Hanna street, was stricken with remorse as he sat among the prisoners charged with larceny. He wept during the entire hearing of his case.

Henschen was charged with taking money from the cash register of the gasoline filling station, corner of Lafayette and Pontiac streets. Henschen, who was employed there, would take the money while other men filled the automobile tanks with gasoline.

Dressed in a clown suit and making merry with a band of young men on Calhoun street, Detective Immel, who was working on the case, made the arrest on suspicion. Henschen confessed his guilt. He had taken $33 altogether, he said.

Band Forfeited. Leroy Bonp, charged with assault because his automobile struck an aged railroad flagman, several months ago, is said to be hiding in the wilds of Michigan. His attorney asked continuance of the case because he said he was making every effort to locate his client, who has been gone for weeks. Judge Kerr has granted six postponements in the case and refused another. He ordered the cash bond of $400, put up by Staples, to be forfeited.

It was Hallowe'en. Albert Silling and Earl Brunner, both 17, west end youths, were in police court because Silling forgot to drop a large rock he carried when the gang dispersed after wrecking some destruction on Maumee avenue. The big, jagged rock was used as mute testimony against the boys, Wednesday morning, when they were charged with disorderly conduct. They were given a severe lecture and released.

Came to Republican Rally. Baseton Barton, of Albion, is an engineer and ordinarily a good fellow, he explained. He came to Fort Wayne to take part in the republican rally Tuesday night. He jollified a few times too many. He was charged with drunkenness. He paid a fine of $1 and costs.

John Strain and Charles Ruch argued politics and disorderly conduct. They were charged with disorderly conduct by the patrolman, who could not keep them separated. They were fined $10 and costs each.

THE COURTS.

Suit for Non-Support. Suit has been filed in circuit court by Bessie Koch against John Koch and William Koch, administrator of the estate of John B. Koch, alleging John Koch deserted her August, 1912, going to Toledo, O. William Koch, as administrator, holds property in which the defendant is said to have an interest and it is asked that attachment issue against the realty. T. J. Logan is attorney for the plaintiff.

Suit to Replevin. George Jacobs has filed suit in superior court to replevy on a piano, asking possession and $100 damages, and naming Emanuel Zehender as defendant. Heaton & Heaton are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Barret Court. Suit against Barret Van Buskirk has been started by Herman Hoppe asking for an accounting and dissolution of the partnership, with judgment of $100. Ryan, Ryan & Aldrich are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Montgomery G. Beaver, doing business as the Fort Wayne Lumber company, has filed suit against Victor Neece asking judgment for $500, alleging services rendered for which payment was not made. Green & Morris are attorneys for the plaintiff.

The case of Leopold Bracy against Theodore Thieme, on contract, has been set for hearing January 9 in superior court.

In the suit of Mary Wyatt against Alva Lahrman, for $5,000 damages, all rights to a change of venue have been waived and the case continued to January 11.

Andrew William Perry has applied for admission to the Allen County bar and his application has been referred to Judge Owen N. Heaton, David Hogg and Lee J. Harzell as an examining committee.

In the suit of J. F. Chilton against Saffara J. Snyder, on account, a finding for the defendant has been given in superior court.

Charles Yale has been fined $1 and costs in the court of Justice A. C. Niemman, charged with assault and battery on Joseph Christman.

In circuit, in the case of Oscar W. Nelson against William K. Noble, for a new trial has been overruled and an appeal to the appellate court asked.

Marriage Licenses. Frank E. Wilmore, road foreman of engines, 41, and Rebecca M. Menefee, 28, Ralph J. Thieme, salesman, 21, and Loretta Melching, 21, Andrew Koller, farmer, 38, and Martha Riehl, 24, Emory J. Wilmer, 43, waiter, and Sybella M. Kay, 36, Earl E. Thompson, 25, farmer, Roanoke, and Clara Moss, 35.

WANTED — Cylinder press-feeders. Printing department, Fort Wayne Box Co.

FOOTBALL PRACTICE. The Bachelors will practice on Thursday and Friday evenings in preparation for their return game with Portland.

CHIMNEY SPARKS AGAIN. Sparks from the chimney fired chimneys in the roof of the home of C. C. Hollenbeck, 3007 South Wagner street, Wednesday morning, at 6 o'clock. Two fire companies were called by neighbors who discovered the blaze. Damage is $5.

The missionary society of the Westminster church will meet at the home of Mrs. Bandelir, 1511 East Wayne street, Thursday.

Reaches the Train Service Department on Several Railroads.

The shortage of labor, which has been in evidence in this part of the country for nearly a year, is now more seriously felt than at any previous period. All the shops are feeling the shortage. Master Mechanic E. E. Griest, of the Pennsylvania, said this morning, in reply to an inquiry, "We are short several hundred men." The shortage has now reached the ranks of train and engine crews on some of the roads. The Eastern division of the Pennsylvania is seriously affected and for several days has had agents out in eastern and central Ohio in the effort to get brakemen and firemen. One of these agents has been working in the vicinity of Bucyrus for several days and has succeeded in getting several men, who were sent to Pittsburgh. The Nickel Plate and the Wabash have recently advanced a number of firemen and brakemen and each road is now pretty well supplied with crews, but short on motive power. Monday the following brakemen on the Chicago division of the Nickel Plate were promoted to conductors: W. G. Robertson, W. J. Whitteman, G. F. Muldary, M. G. Brown, N. A. Perry, W. G. Hornley, D. J. Merrill and William Hine. The G. R. & I. is also doing business up to the capacity of its power and cars. Some brakemen and firemen may be put up on that line as soon as the power situation improves.

B. L. F. & E. MEETING.

Brotherhood and Auxiliary Gather Here Next Week.

The state meeting of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers and the Ladies' societies, will be held in Fort Wayne Thursday, November 9, when several hundred members will be in attendance. Last year there were over 400 firemen and members of the auxiliary at the annual gathering, and it is believed the number in attendance at the meeting in this city next week will be greater. Hyacinth lodge, ladies society, which will take an active part in the entertainment of the visitors, will hold a special meeting at Unity hall at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to make the final arrangements. The chairman of the committees hope to have a big attendance at the meeting tomorrow.

VANDALIA ENGINE OVERTURNS.

Ran Into Side of Wabash Freight Train at Montpelier.

A Vandalia engine was thrown off the rails and on its side as a result of crossing collision at Montpelier early this morning. A Wabash freight train was on the crossing and the Vandalia train was unable to stop in time to prevent the accident. Several Wabash cars were damaged and the Vandalia engine was stripped of much of her attachments as a result of the contact with the cars and the fall on its side. Nobody was hurt.

MOWED THE WRONG LOT.

Machinist A. M. Ringle, of the Pennsylvania shops, bought a lot in one of the new additions in the southern part of the city five years ago, and being a law-abiding and civic pride citizen, he mowed the weeds and grass and otherwise kept the lot in good shape ever since. He is now about to build a house and sent a contractor out there to measure up and set the stakes for the excavation. "The lot is No. 33 and it has a big tree near the front end," Mr. Ringle told the contractor. The latter returned in a few hours and told Mr. Ringle he found lot No. 23, but there was no tree on it. A big tree was located on a lot several hundred feet farther down the line, however. Then Mr. Ringle went out to investigate and found that he had been mowing the weeds on some other fellow's lot for five years. He considers it fortunate that the discovery was made before the house was built. Mr. Ringle expects to get into his new home by the holidays.

PETROT IS TRAINMASTER.

L. J. Petrot, late general yardmaster at Air Line Junction, has assumed the duties of trainmaster of the Lansing division of the N. Y. C. with headquarters at Hillsdale. His appointment was mentioned a few days ago. Concerning him and the appointment the Hillsdale Daily News says: "Mr. Petrot, who is now trainmaster under M. L. Reynolds, superintendent of the Lansing division, came to Hillsdale several years ago at the request of Mr. Reynolds. When Mr. Reynolds was trainmaster at Westfield, N. Y., Mr. Petrot was his clerk. Mr. Petrot was in the office here for five years and he went from here to Air Line Junction as clerk in the general yardmaster's office. Later he became general yardmaster. He now gives up that position to come to Hillsdale."

SPECIAL FOR FOOTBALLISTS.

W. H. Sherry, district passenger agent of the Wabash, was at Wabash yesterday completing arrangements for a special train from that city to Fort Wayne Sunday, November 12, to handle the Wabash football team and rosters. There will be a crowd of over 500 on the special train. The excursion is because of the football game between Wabash and the Friars.

FROM GROCERY TO SHOPS.

Robert Fox, who resigned a position in the Pennsylvania machine shop eight years ago to engage in the grocery business at the corner of Calhoun and Butler streets, disposed of the latter interests Saturday and this morning resumed his old job at the shops. He is a good fellow and was warmly welcomed back by the men who were his shopmates before.

WABASH BUYS CARS.

The Wabash Railway company has placed orders with the American Car & Foundry company, of St. Louis, for 100 boxcars and 300 stock cars. The company is asking for bids on all steel postal cars. The proposed order for locomotives is being suspended for the time being, but it is quite likely orders for such equipment will be placed after the first of the year.

NEW WAGE SCALE IN FORCE.

The employees at the Wabash shops this morning began work on the new wage scale mentioned a few days ago, which is two and a half cents per hour above the former scale. The men are feeling pretty jubilant over the improved condition.

FRANK GABLE AT WORK AGAIN.

Frank P. Gable, a machinist, resumed work at the Pennsylvania shops this morning. Three months ago he was taken ill and had been unable to work since until today.

AUXILIARY TO HAVE TEA.

Nickel Plate division, No. 513, Ladies Auxiliary to the B. L. E. will hold a public tea at the home of Mrs. John Hood, 1150 West Main street, Thursday afternoon. Everybody is invited and promised a good time.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Machinist John S. Bryant, of the Pennsylvania shops, is sick and off duty. W. Magnus, of the Pennsylvania erecting shop, is sick and off duty.

H. Crawford and F. M. Belger are new employees at the Pennsylvania store house. They went to work this morning.

O. A. Langston, clerk at the Pennsylvania car machine shop, was off duty today looking after some private business.

W. J. McLaughlin, machinist at the Pennsylvania shops, will spend the week-end with relatives and friends in Lima, Ohio.

Machinist Walter Fox, who had been looking after private business, resumed work at the Pennsylvania shops this morning.

L. Balk resigned as helper at the Pennsylvania erecting shop this morning to take a position on the city car lines as a motorman.

R. Humke, crane director in the Pennsylvania boiler shop, was unable to show up for work this morning on account of sickness.

If Schafer, a tender repairman at the Pennsylvania shops, will be off duty a few days on account of getting some steel scales in his eyes yesterday.

The 41, and 1, pay master will be here Saturday to pay the employees of that line and Monday will return to pay the Pennsylvania shopmen.

J. Leonard, a young farmer who came here recently from Illinois, has taken employment in the punch press department at the General Electric works.

F. M. Koontz, from a farm near Le Grange, Ind., took employment as a tender repairman at the Pennsylvania shops.

Miss Phillips' class in "How to Read a Map" will meet at the Y. W. C. A. this evening at 7 o'clock for registration and organization. Adults from 15 years on, admitted.

All the Girls' laborers at the Pennsylvania shops are off duty today on account of this being a holiday. Their absence temporarily cripples the work in the shop, which was already handicapped by a shortage of laborers.

The new York Central lines handled a special train for the republican demonstration in Fort Wayne last night, Friday evening.

Wilson's Opinion of Labor

New York City, June 16, 1909.

Hon. Woodrow Wilson,
President Princeton University,
Princeton, N. J.

Dear Sir:—

In the New York Times of June 14, which purports to give extracts of your baccalaureate address to the students of Princeton University, you are quoted as follows:—

"You know what the usual standard of the employe is in our day. It is to give as little as he may for his wages. Labor is standardized by the trade unions, and this is the standard to which it is made to conform. No one is suffered to do more than the average workman can do. In some trades and handicrafts no one is suffered to do more than the least skilful of his fellows can do within the hours allotted to a day's labor, and no one may work out of hours at all or volunteer anything beyond the minimum."

Now, your reported remarks strike me as being so extraordinary—so different from what I, as a member of organized labor, have found to be the facts—that I feel impelled to ask you if the foregoing paragraph is a correct report of what you said.

If you are correctly quoted, I should like to have you give me your authority for your statement that in labor unions "no one is suffered to do more than the average workman can do." Also give me the names of a few trades or handicrafts where "no one is suffered to do more than the least skilful of his fellows can do within the hours allotted to a day's labor, and no one may work out of hours at all or volunteer anything beyond the minimum."

As a matter of course, a president of a university of the reputed standing of Princeton would not make statements in his baccalaureate address unless he knows, or at least fully believes, that his statements are true. Therefore it ought not to be a difficult matter for you to oblige me with the names of those labor unions whose laws, or even policies, bring about the results you specify.

Awaiting your reply with lively interest, I am,
Yours very truly,

Care Evening Telegram,
New York City.

Edgar R. Lavery.

PRINCETON, N. J.

June 18th, 1909.

Your letter of June 16th contains a very proper challenge. I quite agree that I ought not to make the statements I did make about the trades unions, unless I were able to cite cases in verification of my statements.

I, of course, had no individual trades unions in mind which I can name by number, but I had in mind several cases of buildings in New York City, for example, the brick layers working on which spent about one third of the working day sitting around, smoking their pipes and chatting, because they had laid the number of bricks to which they were limited for the day by the union to which they belonged.

I had in mind numerous experiences of my own in dealing with working men in Princeton, where I once found it impossible, for example, on a very cold evening to get a broken window pane mended at the house of an invalid friend, because the prescribed labor hours of the day were over and the glazier could not venture, without risking a strike, to do the work himself and could not order any of his workmen to do it. I had in mind scores of instances, in short, lying within my own experience and resting upon the testimony of friends in whose veracity I have every reason to have the greatest confidence.

I of course could not, in the case of more than one or two of these instances, give legal proof of my assertions, but the evidence I have are entirely sufficient to convince me of the general truth of the statement I made.

Very truly yours,

Woodrow Wilson

Mr. Edgar R. Lavery.

Labor's Opinion of Hughes

After He Retired From Politics

"HE WAS A GREAT GOVERNOR"

"Now that Governor Hughes has retired from politics and ascended to a place on the highest judicial tribunal in the world, the fact can be acknowledged without hurting anybody's political corns, that he was the greatest friend of labor laws that ever occupied the governor's chair at Albany. During his two terms he has signed 56 labor laws, including among them the best labor laws ever enacted in this or any other state. He also urged the enactment of labor laws in his messages to the legislature, even going so far as to place the demand for a labor law in one of his messages to an extra session of the legislature.

"Only 162 labor laws have been enacted in this state since its erection in 1777—in 133 years. One-third of these, exceeding in quality all of the others, have been enacted and signed during Governor Hughes' term of three years and nine months.

"With such a record of approval and suggestion of progressive legislation in the interest of humanity to his credit, it is easy to believe that human rights will have a steadfast and sympathetic upholder in the new Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States."

From the October, 1910, Issue of Legislative News, Published by New York State Federation of Labor.

Labor's Opinion of Hughes is Based on WHAT HE HAS DONE

Wainwright Commission of Inquiry.
Automatic mutual agreement compensation law.

Automatic compulsory compensation.
(The first law of this kind enacted in the United States.)

Limiting the hours of labor for street car men.

Limiting the hours of labor for men in train service.

Limiting the hours of labor for signalmen and railroad telegraphers.

Placing young women from 18 to 21 years of age in the protected class.

ELEVEN CHILD LABOR LAWS extending over a period from 1907 to 1910.

(These laws secured the first definite standard for the protection of children in New York.)

Reconstructed the State Department of Labor.

Changed the penalties to make enforcement of labor laws easier.

Requiring semi-monthly payment of wages.

THIRTEEN LAWS relating to welfare, safety and sanitation in workshops.

Indiana and Purdue Bowlers Roll Up Game November 25 Some Good Scores Sailor Outpoints Willie Beecher Next Friar Game Will Be a Thriller

Hundreds from Fort Wayne Will Watch Indiana and Purdue in Battle.

Fort Wayne will send a howling host to Lafayette on November 25, when Indiana and Purdue universities battle in their twenty-first annual football fray.

At least a hundred, former Purdue students, plan to go from Fort Wayne to the game. Seventy-five men of Indiana will attend the struggle.

A special traction car will be chartered. Several plan to make the trip over the Wabash railroad.

Backers of both the state schools are claiming the victory. Interest in the annual contest never ran at such a high pitch. Several former college men will probably be hatless and coatless after the sun goes down on Stuart field. Carriages have been mentioned in several bets.

Former I. U. students will have a "whoop-up" meeting on November 18 to arouse within themselves a firmer belief that the Cream and Crimson warriors can "buck a stone wall."

Purdue men have pulled one rousing stag affair and may bill another. Several Purdue alumni will come to the city from nearby towns to board the special car here. College enthusiasts say that in all Fort Wayne will have 250 men on the side lines when the whistle pipes at the foot of the Purdue bleachers.

Purdue has won the majority of the hard fought contests between the two schools. Several battles were gained by one point. Indiana has been humbled each season for the past five years.

"Tables are to be turned," sing the Indiana backers this season. They talk like they believe it. I. U. men of Fort Wayne say they would not care to make the journey to Lafayette if they were not sure Purdue is to be trampled.

New Fighting Spirit. There is new fighting spirit in the Indiana team this year for a fact. They rally from crushing defeat of the Chicago game is one of the miracles of the year. Their showing against Tufts last Saturday is remarkable. Tufts, the strong eastern school, defeated Harvard and was only beaten by Princeton by a score of 3 to 0. Indiana is the first school to cross their goal line this year. The score of 10 to 12 in the recent contest marks that game as the most brilliant of its trips to Indianapolis. Several Fort Wayne men witnessed the contest and they are the more confident that Purdue must bow her head this year.

Purdue men, however, say "it will be the same old story." The Purdue team always fight hardest against Indiana, they say. The game will also be on Purdue's lot.

Purdue's showing of 7 to 14 against the strong Illinois team is held by the backers of the Boilermakers to be as fine a display of grit and brawn as that put up by Indiana at the capital city.

The issue is yet in doubt. Both teams have a fighting chance despite the fact that P. S. Hake, the brilliant leader and captain of the Purdue team, may be out of the contest. Anyway, Fort Wayne will be represented when first blood is drawn.

SAYLOR TAKES FIGHT TO WILLIE BEECHER

Indianapolis Boy Has Little Trouble in Outfighting New Yorker.

Youngstown, O., Nov. 1.—Milburn Saylor, of Indianapolis, outpointed and out-kicked Willie Beecher, of New York, in a thrilling twelve round bout here Monday night.

Saylor closed Beecher's right eye in the second round, and after that Willie was at a great disadvantage. He displayed the greatest gameness possible, and a less rugged boy would have succumbed long ere the last round arrived. Every round was Saylor's. The fight was the most spectacular ever fought here. Not for a single moment did either boy let up in his willing, toe-to-toe battling from bell to bell.

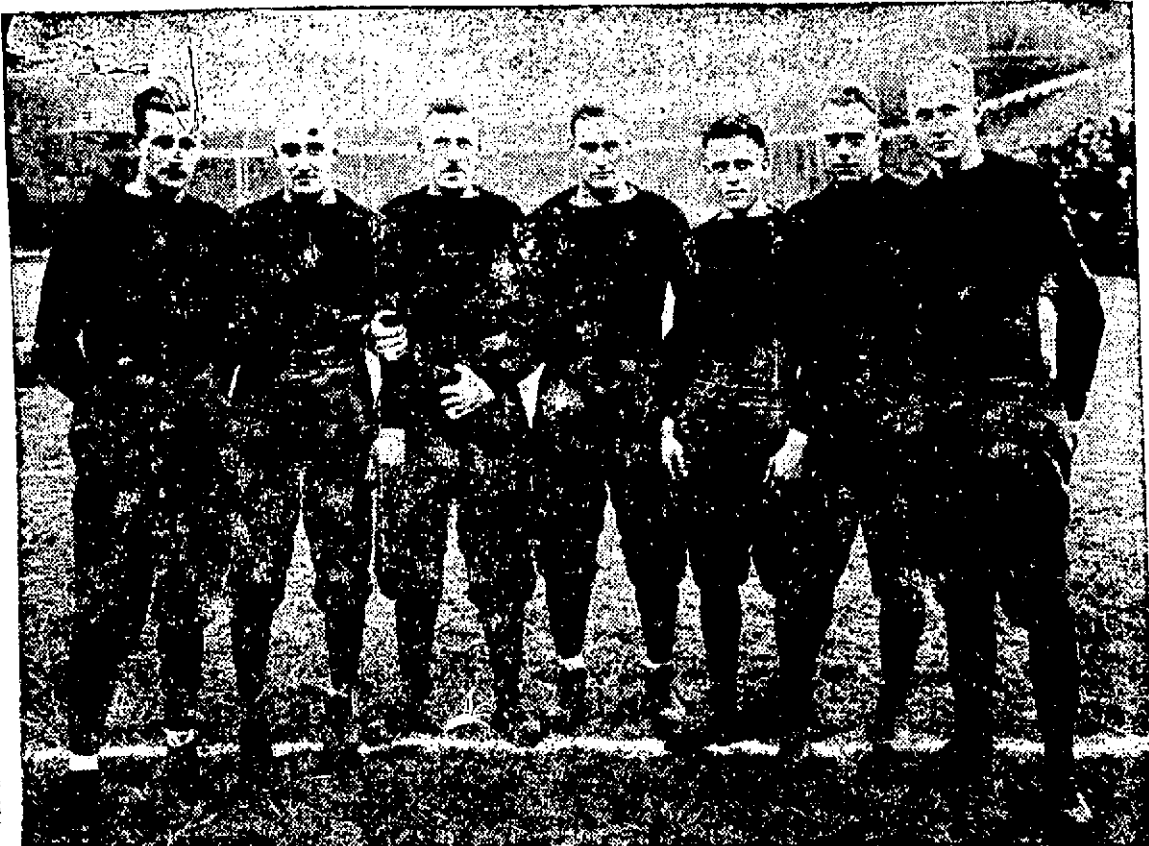

Not one round could be claimed for Beecher, although he displayed great endurance and stamina. His best work was at close range. Saylor was on top of him all the time, lashing out stinging rights and lefts that more than once staggered Beecher, that cut his face and lips and kept the blood flowing. Saylor's aggressiveness was marvellous and at the finish he did not have a mark. Saylor scored a decided hit and the referee saw to him back again with either Johnny Griffiths, Jack Britton or Ted Lewis. Saylor's next fight will be with Jimmy Duffy at Youngstown Thursday night.

The above is a picture of seven of the star players on this season's Friar foot-ball team. They are, reading from left to right: Al Feeney, center and guard; Joe Pliska, right halfback; Deane Jones, left tackle; W. H. Edwards, right tackle; G. E. Dorias, quarterback, All-American, 1911; Helms Berger, left halfback; J. H. O'Donnell, center and guard.

GRIDIRON GOSSIP.

NOTRE DAME.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 1.—Only McInerney of the 'varsity' squad was allowed in the scrimmage today, the rest of the first team going through signal work. The freshmen and the reserves scrimmaged for more than an hour. Grover Malone's injury caused Harper to shift Fitzpatrick to halfback on the second team, with Fritz Slackford at full. Walter Miller, who has been showing good form at half, also was used in the mixup. Meagher and Tom King, reserve ends, starred in the workout.

INDIANA.

Bloomington, Nov. 1.—Indiana loafed on the job and allowed the freshmen to win a thirty minute game, 14 to 0, the youngsters using Northwestern formations. Krehart, Bowser and Halloway, trio of backfield stars, were not in the lineup because of injuries, and their places were taken by A. Hess, Captain McIntosh and Kewer. Coach Stiehman spoke without mincing words to the regulars and informed them that they were back again where they were two weeks ago. He made frequent changes in the line-up and finally thundered that any man caught loafing would be sent to the dressing rooms. The scrimmage tomorrow will be the last for the 'varsity,' as Stiehman will take no chances of injuries before the Purple contest.

MICHIGAN.

Ann Arbor, Nov. 1.—Scrimmage for the Wolverines had to be abandoned finally for lack of regulars. Four of them failed to show up, including Captain Maul-belsch, and since it was to be held for their benefit, Coach Yost decided to put off the drill.

The all-fresh crew probably will clash with the 'varsity' tomorrow. The yearlings are hard at work preparing for Saturday's fray with Evanston academy, and if Coach McGinnis can prevent it, there will be no duplication of the defeat of last Saturday, when the Michigan Aggie yearlings downed them on a fluke. Yost kept his men busy working on the forward pass and drop kicking field goals. Morris Dunne is getting them over the posts consistently from the forty yard line.

PRINCETON.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 1.—With the Harvard and Yale games looming large just over the horizon, Princeton football fans see little hope for Speedy Rush's Tigers. In spite of the fact that the Tigers have won every game this year and have done it without an opposing team scoring a touchdown, it is well recognized in Princeton that the Tigers must see a lot of improvement before they can hope to down their two powerful rivals. Rush is working hard to develop an offensive that will carry a heavy punch, and is busy trying to plug up holes in his line.

ARMY.

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 1.—The Army football eleven was put through some of the hardest drilling of the season this afternoon in preparation for its game Saturday with the powerful Notre Dame eleven. Vidal is still out with a slight injury, but he is expected back for active practice by tomorrow.

WELSH WANTS $25,000.

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 1.—Freddie Welsh, champion lightweight, is willing to fight Willie Ritchie, former title holder, twenty rounds at Tia Juana, Mex., if guaranteed $25,000. Welsh's terms were received in a letter from Harry Pollok, his manager. Pollok wrote a local boxing promoter, who represents the Tia Juana interests willing to furnish financial backing for a championship fight. It is not known whether the terms will be accepted. Ritchie's consent has been obtained.

WARNER DEVELOPS SCORING MACHINE

Although Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt have piled up more points than other colleges so far during the football season, to Pittsburgh undoubtedly belongs the distinction of being the most powerful scoring team in the country. Playing against such strong defensive teams as the Navy, Syracuse and Pennsylvania, Glenn Warner's outfit has succeeded in piling up a total of 123 points. The Georgia and Vanderbilt scores came in games with smaller schools, Georgia having succeeded in running up 222 points in a single game.

OLIPHANT, ARMY TANK. SCORES 45 POINTS

Elmer Oliphant, Uncle Sam's best football bot at the West Point, earned for himself the name of the "army tank" in the game against Villanova Saturday, piling up 45 of his team's 69 points himself. Oliphant contributed touchdowns, field goals and goals from touchdown, establishing a record for points scored by an individual in a single game this year and breaks all records for many past seasons. By his record Saturday Oliphant will move into first place for individual scoring for the season, passing Gerrish of Dartmouth, Maubetsch of Michigan, and McCright of Washington and Jefferson.

ATTACH J. WILLARD'S CARS.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 1.—Jess Willard, heavyweight champion, bumped against the strong arm of the law last night. Two automobiles, which are said to be the property of Willard, are now attached and held by John Wyatt, vice-president of the First National bank, for $1,800 advanced while Jess was training for his Havana fight with Jack Johnson. Jess didn't know that attaching the cars was as far as the law could go with him, so he left the city. The elms people announced Big Jess had a cold.

MANY WILL ATTEND PINE VILLAGE GAME

Bluffton Asks for 100 Seats for State Champ Game.

Great preparations are being made for the meeting between the Friars and Pine Village Sunday. The local warriors will take their first workout for the week Thursday evening. Too many bruises marked the last game and Captain Byrond decided that a rest would be better than practice. Thursday night will see all of the team who can get there lined up under the white lights at the park, and the regular Saturday and Sunday morning workouts will be given.

A great deal of out of town interest is being taken in the game Sunday and large delegations from all nearby cities will view the game. Bluffton has written for a block of one hundred tickets and word has been received from Huntington, Wabash and Decatur stating that many people from those places would be here to see the game.

This game will really decide the state championship, although the Friars haven't met Wabash as yet. It is considered throughout the state in that light and for that reason there will be an added attraction.

Enthusiasm Running High.

Nothing in the past four or five months has caused so much excitement and enthusiasm than the announcement that the Wabash Athletic association and the Friars have come to terms for a series of two games of football, one to be played here and one at Wabash. The dopesters who have followed the playing

TUFTS COACH MAY QUIT NEXT YEAR

Dr. C. E. Whelan, coach of the Tufts football team, the sensation of the east this year, may retire from athletics at the end of the present season.

Whelan has realized his greatest ambition, to turn out a team which should beat Harvard, and win the state college title for Massachusetts.

Last year Whelan declared that when he had accomplished the defeat of Harvard he would retire from the game. He has not yet retracted the statement this year.

of both teams can figure it out no other way than that the Friars will wallop the long-standing rivals in the football world when they make their appearance here.

There is no other football team in the whole country which proves to be such an attraction as the Wabash team when it comes to Fort Wayne. One reason is perhaps because the Wabash team is always made up of good players. Another reason is they always bring at least a thousand rooters with them who make the day still more exciting.

Last year when this team came to Fort Wayne, the largest crowd of the season was present to witness the game. If the dope runs true the League park will not be able to accommodate the crowd this year.

Wabash carries with it a bunch of football players whose skill, speed and knowledge of the game are bound to put all kinds of thrills in the game at all times. Reno, a star end, will again appear in the line-up this year, as will "Red" Miller, the fast little quarter.

Granting all this, Fort Wayne fans are putting all sorts of confidence in the Friar team and there is no way out of it, the Friars will wallop them this year.

ECKERSALL KICKED FIVE GOALS IN ONE GAME

BY PAUL PURMAN.

The greatest drop kicker of all time? Football critics fail to agree. They point to the records of Walter Eckersall, Pat O'Dea, Jim Thorpe and Brickley. They call attention to the long boots of George Capron and John DeWitt.

Then they declare the impossibility of trying to pick one of these men as the greatest.

Strange that not one of these men holds a world's record for goal kicking. Pat O'Dea held one for seventeen years. Then last season Mark Payne, an unknown from Dakota Wesleyan, an almost unknown college, booted a goal from the 63-yard line, beating O'Dea's great kick by a yard.

Payne, however, could not be classed as one of the greatest goal kickers. His form before that record boot had never been exceptional and as it was his last year in college football he never had a chance to try to repeat.

O'Dea's 62-yard kick was made November 25, 1898, against Northwestern and won for Wisconsin. During his entire football career O'Dea reserved himself for kicking, and seldom carried the ball or tackled a runner.

a record that kickers are still shooting at. In a game against Rose Poly he booted seven goals, all, however, from placement.

Charley Brickley's five goals in the Yale game in 1913 and his other exploits in 1912 and 1913 gave him a place high in the goal kickers' hall of fame.

Big John DeWitt, of Princeton; Carl Sprackling, of Brown; Charley Daly, of Army, and Jim Thorpe, of Carlisle, were great kickers.

The credit for the longest kick in football goes to J. T. Haxall, of Princeton, who scored a kick from placement against Yale in 1882. Haxall stood on the Princeton 35-yard line and booted the ball over the goal posts 65 yards away.

HOPPE IS IN THE LEAD.

St. Louis, Nov. 1.—Willie E. Hoppe, world's champion billiard player, Monday won the first block of his special 19-2 match with G. Butler Sutton, of Chicago. Hoppe piled up his 500 score while Sutton was making 125 points. Both players appeared far beneath their regular game. Both claimed they could not get used to the new cushions. Hoppe was going well at the finish, averaging 31.8-10 for his last ten innings.

HOPPE—25 15 15 23 3 0 1 15 2 1 36 1 2 21 19 17 0 72 9 33 32 29 26 25 22 23—500. Average, 19.11-27.

SUTTON—0 49 1 2 0 14 21 1 1 0 2 0 36 0 44 12 0 0 3 18 3 2 0—195. Average, 7.31-26.

Mrs. Gust Wilson was called to Huntington Thursday on account of the serious illness of her mother.

SPORT CHATTER

Looks like Andre Anderson bit off a mouthful a size too large when he tackled Fulton.

The remainder of the Friars' schedule looks rather bright with the Wabash games signed up.

Do spectators take alarm clocks when they go to see a seven-mile walking race? When Freddie Welsh's opponent failed to show up last week, the crowd was disappointed.

According to the dope the Friars should come out of the Pine Village game with a win, unless you take into consideration the fact that the Colts won from the down-staters on a clever trick.

The compositor used keen judgment when he set it "Pennsylvania vs. Pittsburg." Penn was certainly up against it. Out was the name of a horse that started at Windsor. So were the guys that bet on him.

And about now the conversation of local football fans turns to Reno and Red Miller.

HOT WATER THE BEST LIVER AND BOWEL MEDICINE

Says glass of hot water before
breakfast washes poisons
from system.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bottle claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleansing, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink
each morning, before breakfast, a glass
of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless
means of helping to wash from the
stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, the
previous day's indigestible material,
poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse
and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the elimi-
native organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath,
coated tongue, nasty taste or have a
dull, aching head, sallow complexion,
acid stomach; others who are subject
to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone
phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing.
Those who continue it each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.—Advertisement.

(By F. M. Kerby.)

Washington, Nov. 1.—Uncle Sam is going to bring landless man and man-
less land together!

The United States reclamation service
has decided on a policy to reduce the cost of land and water on its irrigation projects.

Heretofore when a prospective settler obtained his unit on a reclamation project, he had to clear and level the land and prepare it for his allotment of water
by his own individual efforts.

It is an engineer's job to level and prepare this land so water distribution
will be just right. And the average settler is not an engineer.

Although the reclamation service has allowed its best to instruct the settler how to clear and level his land, many settlers
have failed. Individual settlers are usually poor men, unable to hire labor or expensive machinery for land clearing.

A year ago F. K. Lane, secretary of the interior, appointed a board to study how cost of irrigation farming
could be reduced.

This board, headed by Elwood Mead,
formerly in charge of irrigation work in

Above, the kind of land Uncle Sam will make ready for the planting of crops; below, a settler leveling a plot, work he will be saved by the new plan.

Australia, has recommended that the government clear and level land and prepare it for irrigation farming, so when the settler goes upon it it shall be ready for him to plant a crop.

Furthermore, the cost of the work is to be prorated among the number of farms on the project and spread over twenty years, as a part of the construction charge of the project. This will relieve the settler of the outlay necessary to prepare his unit for cultivation.

The plan is to be tried on the Truckee-Carson project, in Nevada, which has approximately 1,200 acres of public land to be opened to settlement, at an early date.

The central board, has estimated the government can level and prepare this land at $35 an acre, whereas it would cost the individual settler considerably more, besides not being done so efficiently.

Uncle Sam will give settlers preference in doing all government work on projects. This will help the settler get a start and bring in ready cash to carry him over the period when his first crop is in the ground.

WAR CAUSES A GREAT RELIGIOUS AWAKENING

It Will Arouse Entire World, Says Noted
English Churchman.

(Has the world war started a vast religious revival? At any rate a great Christian awakening is said to be in progress in the heart of the war-torn countries. A famous divine, direct from England, gives the following interview to The Sentinel to prove the revival is an important contemporary fact in the world's history.—EDITOR.)

(By K. W. Payne.)
St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 1.—"We are facing the dawn of a great spiritual awakening stimulated by the war—a deepening and quickening of the religious life of man which, I believe, will be worldwide in its scope. Evidence of this is already notably apparent in England!"

This is the word brought to America from England by the Rt. Rev. Hynsby W. Yeatman-Biggs, bishop of Worcester.

BISHOP YEATMAN-BIGGS

The bishop is a delegate from the Church of England to the Episcopal convention here, and as one of the leading Episcopal clergymen in England is in close touch with religious developments there.

"We see symptoms of the revival on every hand in England," said the bishop.

"For example, enormous numbers of persons have gone into retreat this year."

"Retreats are periods of prayer, meditation and self-examination lasting from three to five days. During this time the persons maintain silence except for participation in religious services."

"Some of these retreats have been held in my own house."

"Here I had proof that this quickening of the religious emotion into an actually religious life exemplified by deeds extends to all classes of men."

"We had men of all ranks. Side by side, were coal miners and wealthy gentry, doctors and trades people!"

"The men in khaki represent the only class that was absent, and this was simply because military duties prevented."

"But do not think this revival has not touched the soldiers, too. They furnish more proof of its swelling strength."

"Never before have so many soldiers offered themselves for confirmation."

"The anxieties of the war and the compulsion which has come to us all there to be up and doing in mutual service have brought us together in a way which seemed hopeless two years ago."

"We have gone through many periods of spiritual revival, but this awakening is, I think, to be far more sweeping and more lasting."

"As preceding experiences have shown, it takes ten years, fifteen years, perhaps, for the new religious currents to swell to their full volume. But while the great movement toward religion developing under our eyes today is perhaps slow, it is none the less unmistakable in trend and vast in its significance."

CURIOSITIES.

Because of a spaghetti strike, Italian bazaar has been able to get only two loads instead of fifteen tons promised.

Now Lookout.

PLAYING BOTH ENDS AGAINST THE MIDDLE

Hughes and Roosevelt Disgressive.

(By H. B. Hunt.)

New York, Nov. 1.—The spectacle of Roosevelt and Hughes "playing both ends against the middle" in an effort to beat President Wilson for re-election
should prove a boomerang that will win
for Wilson the support of all fair-
thinking and progressive voters, declares Gilbert Roe, New York republican and former law partner of Senator La Follette of Wisconsin.

Roe believes a republican victory this year will lose to the country all the gains made in the last few years, and

"Well, well, one learns something new every day. I never knew it was such a luxury to live until a couple of days after I began to eat 'O-Eat-It.'"

"Simply because, like most people,
I had been going on for years in the same old way. Thought I was feeling pretty fair, only constipated and bilious
once in a while, with headaches and nausea in the morning. Kind of expected it now and then. But, after eating that luscious regulating food,
'O-Eat-It,' I feel such a sense of lightness, well-being, energy and clear-head-
edness, it seems a new world."

Why? The brain in the various grains
that grow is known to be the most effective, easiest, most thorough bowel,
body and liver regulator known to man.

Heretofore bran has never been used successfully in food. It was always heavy, tasteless. By a remarkable new process, "O-Eat-It," made up of over one-third of grain-bran—a greater quantity than ever used in food—is made extraordinarily luscious and light as a feather. It is a combination of rich grains—nature's greatest builder of tissue, brawn, blood and brain.

"O-Eat-It" takes the place of the white-flour bread and breakfast foods
that cause so much constipation, clogging of livers and stagnation of vital organs.

"O-Eat-It" comes in crisp, ready-to-eat slices of nut-brown toast, eaten as it is, or served in a variety of delicious
ways.

Stop constipation, biliousness, headache and tiredness. Regulate the liver, feel fine all over all the time. Give it
to the children, too.

Quietness Prevailed in All the Fort Wayne Markets Wednesday.

King wheat and king spuds have exchanged places in the spotlight. The latter has replaced the former in the way of a sensational climb and now has its rival outcome. Spuds are selling near the $2 a bushel mark at the present time. Indications are that it will keep on climbing for some time at least. The stopping point cannot be determined at this time by local dealers.

Quietness prevailed in nearly all the Fort Wayne markets. Buying and selling was done on a minimum scale. Receipts were small and no changes in prices were quoted by dealers. Wheat prices remain at $1.74 and $1.75 a bushel.

New corn is also on ramp and prices were boosted nearly 5 cents on the bushel. Old corn supplies have nearly become exhausted, accounting for the rise in new corn prices. The product brought 73 and 77 cents on the market Wednesday.

King prices are unchanged and local packers state that it is doubtful which way the price will go. However, the markets in large trading centers is strong and it is possible that prices will be boosted.

During the month of October City weighmaster B. W. Skelton weighed a total of 1,657 loads of hay and grain. They are listed as follows: Hay, 471; corn, 150; oats, 111; miscellaneous, 985.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Wheat prices today continued to feel the bearish effect of the serious situation in regard to possible diplomatic difficulties between the United States and Germany. Bullish crop advices from Argentina and from Europe seemed to be lost sight of temporarily. Opening quotations, which ranged from 4c to 1 1/2c lower, with December at $1.87 1/2 to $1.88 and May at $1.84 to $1.85 1/2, were followed by a slight rally, then a more decided fresh downturn.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Nov. 1.—Overnight developments probably accounted for the irregular trend of today's opening. Many active issues recording fractional declines. The movement was soon reversed, however, under lead of Crucible and Republic Steels. Pressed Steel Car, Central Leather, the paper shares and other equipments and specialties in which gains ranged from substantial fractions to over 2 points. The coal shares featured the railway group, Reading and Norfolk and Western stock advancing 2 points. United States Steel shaded slightly with shipping issues at the outset, but later developed marked strength.

Profit-taking and another drive against the motors provoked some reaction in the first hour, but this was more than offset by the strength of shipping paper, leather and metal issues. Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies canal and preferred scored new records at 110 and 123 1/2 respectively, also Central Leather at 95 1/2, American Zinc preferred at 87, American Steel Foundries at 69 1/2 and American Writing Paper preferred at 62 1/2. Sentiment was favorably influenced by the increased dividends on American Smelting and Great Northern Ore—the latter gaining 1 1/2 points. Bonds were firm.

UP TO COMMISSIONERS.

Indianapolis, Nov. 1.—An opinion in the effect that the Indiana state laws do not permit the employment of a superintendent of a poor farm on a salary with an understanding that he is to supply and pay for the help, equipment and stock, has been given by Attorney General Evan B. Stotsenburg. The opinion was asked by the Indiana state board of charities. The attorney general said the Indiana laws provide a superintendent may be employed at a salary by county commissioners, but for the equipment, supplies and assistance at the asylum the commissioners fix the allowances and compensation. Mr. Stotsenburg said that to allow the superintendent to furnish the help, equipment, stock and supplies would bring him under the law which prohibited an officer of the county being interested in public contracts.

EXPECTS SOCIALISTS TO POLL 4,000 VOTES

Four thousand votes will be polled by the socialists in the Twelfth congressional district, according to a prediction made Wednesday by L. Lloyd Armstrong, the socialist candidate for congress. Mr. Armstrong has been in every county in the district and has made a strenuous campaign. He says his meetings have been well attended. The socialists two years ago polled approximately 2,200 votes and Mr. Armstrong confidently expects this number to be almost doubled.

On Friday evening the socialist candidate for congress will speak in the city hall at Garrett and one evening the date to be determined later, he will speak at Monroeville. The speech which must eventually lead to a certain degree of affluence. Baby Bonds come in $10 denominations and are thereby available to many who could not otherwise afford an investment which would include all the good features of this one. They pay 6 per cent interest and are secured by first mortgages on local real estate. There are also a few $50 bonds with the same rate of interest and the same security. Details may be secured from the Wildwood Sales company, Shoaff building. Advertisement.

STRAW VOTE IS TAKEN.

The division stockholders of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh who are holding a meeting in this city took a straw vote Tuesday which resulted as follows: Hughes, 11, and Wilson, 5. Neither Hanly nor Benson received a vote.

For Fort Wayne and vicinity (radius 20 miles): Fair tonight and Thursday.
For Indiana: Fair tonight and Thursday.
For Ohio: Fair tonight and Thursday; not much change in temperature.
For Lower Michigan: Fair tonight and Thursday.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

A depression of slight intensity overlies the region to the northward of the St. Lawrence valley, and during the last 24 hours light precipitation has resulted from this condition in the middle Atlantic states and in the eastern and northern portions of the lake region. The pressure is high over south central sections and the central Rocky mountain region, and in connection with this distribution of pressure clear skies prevail in southern and western districts. Except in the central and southern parts of the Pacific states and in the southern portion of the Rocky mountain region, temperatures are generally above the seasonal average.

IN THE CHURCHES

Rescue Mission Day.

A splendid program has been arranged by J. A. Nipper for the celebration of Rescue Mission day next Sunday. George Trotter will speak in three meetings as follows: In the morning at the Simpson M. E. church, in the afternoon at the First Baptist church, and in the evening at the First Methodist church. Peter Quartel, of Dayton, O., who is one of the great gospel singers of the country, will be at the First Presbyterian church in the morning and in the evening he will have charge of a chorus of thirty-five voices at the First M. E. church. The Bible Training school will supply the chorus.

Sermon by Rev. Finnigan.

Rev. George Finnigan, C. S. C., spoke to a large audience at the Cathedral, Tuesday evening, the second of the evening sermons of the forty hours' devotion. The gifted speaker declared that if the world is brought to the feet of Jesus Christ in the holy eucharist, even as the early Christians went there, every social problem will be solved. "There and there only the whole world may meet on an equal footing," he said. "There and there only, the king and the beggar, the millionaire and the poor man partake of the same food at the same table, there and there only, we come directly in contact with Jesus Christ who gives all that He has and all that He is until all those who partake become united to that holy and life-giving body of Christ, branches of the same tree, all vivified by the same life."

Special Meetings.

A special series of meetings will begin at Lake Chapel M. E. church, about three and one-half miles northwest of Arcola, on Monday night, November 6. Rev. Joseph Grimes, pastor of the church, will be in charge of the meetings.
